Red Demands Snarl Allies' Parley Plans

Tedious 'Feeling Out' Sessions Expected This Week By Dean

PANMUNJOM, Tuesday, Oct. 27 (AP)—Allied hopes for getting a Korean peace conference under way by Nov. 23 bogged down yesterday at preliminary talks over renewed Communist demands that neutral nations take part.

The second preliminary session was scheduled for 11 a.m. today (9 p.m. Monday, EST).

U. S. Ambassador Arthur Dean called the hour and 15 minute opening session "the usual broken record of Communist harangues we are accustomed to listening to for hours on end in the United Nations."

However, Dean who represents the United Nations, was still hopeful that eventually "a political (peace) conference will be held."

The special Allied envoy looked for tedious "feeling out" sessions with the Reds this week.

He proposed a four-point agenda, starting with discussions of the time and place of the peace conference, then procedures and finally "other matters."

Dean urged the Chinese and North Korean delegates to wind up the preliminary talks quickly and suggested Nov. 23 as the date for calling the full peace conference.

"Further delay," he warned, "might well prove costly to our hopes which we trust your side shares, for transferring the Korean question from the battlefield to the conference table."

But the Communist negotiators immediately snarled the discussion by raising a new Red demand that five neutral nations, Russia, India, Burma, Pakistan and Indonesia, be invited. The U. N. in New York already has voted down this Red plan and Dean has no authority to discuss it.

The U. N. has picked the 16 belligerent U. N. countries and South Korea as its representatives. Red China and North Korea may invite Russia if they wish.

Balky POW Explanation Program Near Collapse

PANMUNJOM, Tuesday, Oct. 27 (AP) — Communist insistence that balky prisoners be forced to attend Red explanation sessions brought the whole program to the verge of collapse today.

"The situation now is very serious,' admitted Lt. Gen. K. S. Thimayya of India, chairman of the Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission.

He added that chances for success now in carrying out the "explanations" to 22,400 anti-Communist Chinese and North Korean prisoners are "very small."

From all indications, it appeared that the Communists were trying to wreck the NNRC rather than face the humiliation of being rejected by 97 or 98 per cent of their former "volunteer" soldiers.

A subcommittee starts at 10 a.m. today (a p. m., Monday, EST) to redraft a statement, explaining the deadlock. It was to have been released last Saturday but Commission members could not agree on the wording.

The letter will trace the deadlock between Communist Polish and Czech members of the NNRC, who are demanding that North Korean compounds Monday on what was called a "routine inspection visit."

It appeared Thimayya still was sounding out North Korean prisoners on the chances of getting them to go quietly to listen to Red persuaders. The North Koreans have flatly refused.

"The prospects are as dim as the weather," Thimayya said as he surveyed the rain-soaked fields around Panmunjom at dusk.

An Indian source said the Reds now want the Indians to "break up and punish" what are described as Chiang Kai-shek and Syngman Rhee agents inside the prisoner compounds. The source said the Indian command has rejected this demand as unacceptable.

15 Aboard Bomber Have Narrow Escape

TOPEKA, Kan., Oct. 26 (AP) — The 15-man crew of an Air Force reconnaissance bomber, including the only known survivor from a similar plane shot down in the Sea of Japan last July, escaped serious injury today in a landing crash at nearby Forbes Air Force Base.

Capt. John E. Roche of Washington, D. C., rescued by an American destroyer following the shooting incident last summer, was piloting the plane involved in today's mishap.

Baby Unharmed When Sitter Vanished

College Students Hunt For Missing Girl Baby-Sitter

LA CROSSE, Wis., Oct. 26 (AP)—Grim searchers probed every bridge and culvert, river and slough today for trace of missing 15-year-old Evelyn Hartley, fearful they would only prove the words of her sobbing mother:

"We know she isn't alive."

Evelyn, a pretty high school honor student, vanished Saturday night from the home of Viggo Rasmusen, where she was baby sitting. Bloodstains were spattered around an open basement window, on the lawn and on a basement window well of a neighbor's home 200 yards away in the sparsely settled new section of town.

Police followed every trail because no single one stood out.

About 1,000 police officers, Boy Scouts, National Guardsmen and other citizens scoured the countryside yesterday with no success. Today 150 students and faculty members from La Crosse State College, where Evelyn's father is a biology professor, probed every bridge and culvert within a 50-mile radius of this Mississippi River town of 43,000 residents. Sheriff's deputies trekked along rivers and sloughs.

Failed To Phone Father

Evelyn's father went to the Rasmusen home Saturday night after his daughter failed to telephone home as she usually did when out baby sitting, and his calls to the Rasmusen home were not answered. Peering through a front window of the house, he saw a shoe and his daughter's glasses on the living room floor.

The doors were locked but a basement window screen had been removed and the window, with bloodstains and footprints around it, was open. Hartley entered through the window and found his daughter's other shoe in the basement. The Rasmusen's 20-month-old daughter, whom Evelyn was tending, was sleeping unharmed in her crib.

Oil Field Strike Settled

LONDON, Oct. 26 (AP)—Settlement of the strike of native workers at the Arabian American Oil Co.'s Dharan oil field was announced tonight by the Saudi Arabian embassy.

Changes Mind

Cop Will Testify At Kidnap Probe

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 26 (AP) — The policeman who broke the Greenlease kidnaping case and then resigned under inquiry fire, changed his mind tonight and said he would testify before a federal grand jury inquiring into the case.

The policeman, Lt. Louis Shoulders, and his landlady have been subpoenaed to appear at Kansas City, Wednesday, before the grand jury, expected to seek new leads to the missing $300,000 of the $600,000 ransom.

Earlier today Shoulders told newsmen he would refuse to testify before the grand jury, stating he would stand on his constitutional rights.

Tonight, however, the 55-year-old veteran police officer modified his statement. He told newsmen he and his landlady, Miss June Marie George, would testify, but he hadn't decided whether to give the jury names of other informants he said tipped him to the whereabouts of the kidnap-slayer.

"Always Kept Confidence"

Shoulders, who only last Saturday quit the force after 27 years, said he was not afraid he would incriminate himself "but I refuse to divulge the names of my informants who helped me catch the kidnapers."

He said earlier "I've always kept confidence and I don't intend to change now."

Shoulders angrily claimed his reputation as an officer had been destroyed by a top-level police inquiry into his handling of the case.

The police inquiry here followed reports the FBI had found discrepancies in police accounts of the arrest of the kidnap-killers of 6-year-old Bobby Greenlease of Kansas City.

Ransom Hunt Bogs Down

The FBI indicated today the hunt for the missing $300,000 ransom money had bogged down. Serial numbers of the missing 10 and 20 dollar bills were distributed throughout the nation to banks, other financial institutions, law enforcement agencies and business concerns.

Shoulders, whose resignation still is to be accepted by the police board, has insisted he had other informants besides cab driver John Hager, whose tip resulted in the arrest of Carl Austin Hall, confessed kidnap-killer of little Bobby.

Hall's accomplice, Mrs. Bonnie Brown Heady, was arrested the same night, Oct. 6, when Hall led policemen to her apartment.

Dean Cheered By New Yorkers

NEW YORK, Oct. 26 — (AP) The city today showered its ticker tape and cheers upon returned prisoner of war Maj. Gen. William F. Dean.

The general, smiling and fit as he drove in the traditional welcome parade from the Battery to City Hall, returned the compliment with this remark:

"Would that my hosts for three years could see your city."

As he spoke to thousands at City Hall, after an estimated half-million people had watched, cheered and saluted along the parade route, Dean said he had not been able to take his eyes off the skyscrapers of Lower Manhattan.

Saying his Communist captors in Korea had called him a Wall Street slave, the general added:

"Today I saw Wall Street. I wanted to see what my masters looked like.

"Would that those people who really feel sorry for us could see what we have in America, what liberty and freedom means."

U. S. Engineer Group Detained By Reds

PANMUNJOM, Oct. 26 (AP)—An engineer group, lead by Maj. Robert H. Gunther of Chicago, was held for three hours last night by armed Communist troops who insisted the Americans' metal identification badges were insufficient.

The Americans were freed after Lt. Sidney Abernathy of Columbia Tenn., broke away from the Reds in a jeep and raced back to U.N. territory with another soldier.

"I thought one of the chinks was going to stab him—he was waving a bayonet," said Sgt. 1.C. Dorwin Decker of Quincy, Ill.

La Rosa Reports He Hopes To Marry Dorothy McGuire

NEW YORK, Oct. 26 (AP) — Julius La Rosa reported today he hopes to marry attractive Dorothy McGuire but said there were religious and legal problems to be worked out.

La Rosa, fired from the Arthur Godfrey radio-television shows a week ago today, is a Roman Catholic. Miss McGuire, 22, is not a Catholic and still is married to a serviceman, Sgt. John Brown, from whom she has been living apart. Her mother, Mrs. Asa McGuire of Miamisburg, Ohio, is a minister.

The 23-year-old singer, hired by Godfrey two years ago upon his discharge from the Navy, said he had been conferring with a priest on his problem. He declined to say whether he would wed without approval of his church.

Showing signs of extreme nervousness as he sat in the apartment of Ed Sullivan, on whose Toast of the Town he made his first post-Godfrey TV appearance last night, La Rosa said Miss McGuire was the only girl he had ever wanted to marry.

He disclosed, during an interview, that he had seen her this morning. Later he went to another room to answer a telephone call from her. Miss McGuire is one of the three McGuire sisters on the Godfrey programs.

La Rosa said he was deeply concerned over "hurting other people."

"If it means hurting other people I'm going to quit this business—I mean it," he said, as associates sought to calm him.

He expressed fears that involvement of his romance with Miss McGuire in the furor over his firing from the Godfrey show had meant embarrassment to her parents and his.

Russia Blasts Greek Bases Deal With U. S.

Sharp Note Charges Agreement Is Aimed At War Preparations

MOSCOW, Oct. 26 (AP)—Russia tonight delivered a sharp note to Greece protesting the granting of military bases to American armed forces. The note accused Greece of loaning territory "for preparations for a new war."

The note was handed to the Greek charge d'affaires, Thomas Ypsilanti, by the Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko.

War Preparations Charged

The Russians alleged that the signing of the agreement means the Greek government has begun to carry out measures which are directly aimed at preparing a new war.

"The Greek territory is thus turned into a foreign military base which is counter to the interest of maintaining peace and international security," the note said.

Russia warned that Greece must bear the responsibility for the consequences of "worsening the international situation."

Greece in an agreement signed at Athens Oct. 12 gave the United States permission to use an undisclosed number of Greek air and naval bases to bolster North Atlantic Pact defenses. Under the agreement the United States also was given the right to station armed personnel in Greece.

State Dept. Declines Comment

The State Department declined to comment immediately today on Russia's note to the Greek government.

Moscow's blast was viewed by these authorities as merely another Soviet effort to intimidate neighboring countries into neutrality in the East-West conflict. These officials recalled Russia has sent similar notes in the past to Turkey, Norway, and Denmark.

Sen. Symington Lashes Benson

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Oct. 26 (AP)—Sen. Symington (D-Mo) charged tonight Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson "wants to circumvent the will of Congress by cutting to pieces the prices on cattle through the withholding of feed."

"But he has no right to blame the terrible results of his decision on the Democratic party," Symington said in a speech prepared for a Jefferson-Jackson Day Dinner here.

Symington said the Department of Agriculture has approved policies giving outright to Bolivia, Pakistan and other countries millions of dollars of feed the government has in storage.

"But in this period of critical drought," he said, "the American cattleman and dairyman is not being given anything—and he is not asking to be given anything.

"Our farmers are asking to buy feed at prices which make it possible for them to hold their cattle through the winter."

The Missouri senator said the drought-stricken farmers cannot get the feed they need, despite surpluses held in storage, because the "rules for sale" laid down by the Department of Agriculture are so complicated.

Britain And Iran Open Secret Negotiations

LONDON, Oct. 26 (AP) — Britain and Iran have opened secret negotiations aimed at the speedy restoration of diplomatic ties between the two countries, official sources said today.

Iranian Foreign Minister Abdullah Entezam reportedly has shown interest in Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden's proposal for patching up diplomatic relations as a first step toward getting oil flowing again. Deposed Iranian Premier Mohammed Mossadegh broke off relations a year ago.

Eden told the House of Commons today he had information indicating "the Persian government and people understood the sincerity of the desire to see friendly relations restored between the two countries."

Treasury Will Offer 2 Billion Bond Issue

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26 (AP)—The Treasury announced today it will offer a two billion dollar bond issue this week paying 2¾ per cent interest. The bonds will mature in seven years and 10 months.

It will be the second big cash loan offering since the Eisenhower administration took office.

Last April, it issued one billion dollars of 30-year bonds paying 3¼ percent.

A treasury spokesman said it was expected that the new issue, to be marketed Wednesday, Oct. 28, will be bought mainly by banks.

Tax Trial Nears Jury

BALTIMORE, Oct. 26 (AP)—The income tax evasion trial of R. Thornton Strange, former treasurer and business manager of St. John's College, will go to the jury tomorrow in Federal Court here.

Both the government and defense attorneys completed their arguments today.

Benson Rejects Cattlemen's Plea

High Commission, in making the terse announcement in Frankfurt, said he was being held for investigation of espionage. (AP Wirephoto via radio from Frankfurt).

Opposes Direct Federal Supports

WASHINGTON, Otc. 26 (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Benson today at least temporarily rejected a plea by hard-hit cattle growers for immediate and direct government supports for the livestock industry.

Benson, under fire from several directions over his farm policies, told the disappointed cattlemen he has an "open mind" toward any feasible program to ease their distress.

But he strongly indicated that he is inclined to favor some other method than direct supports.

Obviously nettled by Benson's remarks, a leader of the visiting delegation told him that if he had no concrete aid proposals, then "God help the livestock industry."

Vote To Press For Supports

After hearing Benson, the delegation of 350 cattle growers from 30 states promptly held a mass meeting and voted unanimously to press for federal price supports for cattle at a minimum of 90 per cent of parity.

Parity is a formula, defined by law, designed to give farmers a fair price for their products in relation to the prices ot things they buy. It now applies to such basic crops as wheat, corn, cotton, tobacco, rice and peanuts—but not cattle.

The cattlemen also called for a sweeping investigation of the spread between the price they get for their livestock and the price the consumer pays at the meat market.

Virginia State Sen. Harry C. Stuart of Elk Garden, Va., told the delegations:

"We are all fundamentally against controls, but we in the cattle business can't stand unassisted when the rest of the economy is hopped up, propped up and subsidized."

Caught In Squeeze

The cattlemen's chief complaint was that they are caught in a cost-price squeeze—with the government supporting the price of feed they need to fatten their cattle for market and the price of livestock falling from its Korean war boom level.

At a 90-minute session, the delegates instructed a 12-member committee to draw up a program, to be presented to Benson tomorrow, calling for:

1. Removal of the present $10,000 limit on disaster loans.
2. Special government loans to livestock growers even if they have some remaining assets.
3. Designation of all areas of the country stricken by drought or flood as disaster areas—and thus eligible for special aid.

Another British Atomic Blast Set Off In Australia

LONDON, Oct. 26 (AP)—Britain successfully carried out another atomic explosion in Australia today, it was officially announced.

Supply Minister Duncan Sandys made the announcement here after receiving word from Sir William Penney, who is in charge of Britain's atomic research.

The announcement did not elaborate other than to say that a "second major explosion was successfully made at the atomic test site in Australia at 9:30 p.m. Greenwich Mean Time (4:30 p.m. EST).

This was the third major atomic test carried out by Britain. The first was at the Monte Bello Islands off Australia on Oct. 3, 1952.

The second was at the Woomera range in Australia on Oct. 14 this year.

Sandys said today's explosion "completes the program of experiments as planned and brings the present series of tests to an end."

Ike News Conference TV Plans Abandoned

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26 (AP) — White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said today there is "a good chance" that some form of presidential news conference will go on television before the end of the year.

Hagerty said the White House has abandoned plans to televise a full-fledged news conference for a number of reasons, but "we are trying to work out a substitute."

Just what the format will be, Hagerty said, has not yet been decided, but it probably will encompass a smaller group than the 200 or so newsmen who regularly attend White House news conferences.

Men Repudiate Germ Warfare "Confessions"

U. N. Told Americans Reduced To Lower Level Than Animals

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Oct. 26 (AP) — The United States declared today that Russians directed a Communist torture center where false confessions of germ warfare were wrung from U. S. fliers in Korea—even after the armistice. The Russians entered a denial.

Dr. Charles W. Mayo, U. S. delegate, presented the charge before the U. N. Political Committee. Dr. Mayo said an interrogation center known as "Pak's Palace" near Pyongyang, North Korea, was staffed by Chinese and North Koreans but directed by Soviet personnel.

"Many of our fliers were interrogated there by Soviet personnel," the Minnesota surgeon said. He told of a Kansas flier who refused to write a confession despite 1,800 hours of questioning directed by Russians.

Many Fliers Held Out

Dr. Mayo said U. S. fliers were reduced to a level lower than that of animals, and that the tortures were designed to be more terrible than medieval methods;

"They are calculated to disintegrate the mind of an intelligent victim," he asserted, in order to make him destroy his own integrity and produce an elaborate fiction.

"If anything is surprising to me," he observed, "it is that so many of our soldiers—both those who confessed and those who did not, although for months they were treated like animals or worse — somehow continued to act throughout like men."

Dr. Mayo said the Communists accused 107 captured fliers of enraging in bacteriological warfare. Of these, 17 are listed as missing and 14 are known dead. He did not say how they died. He said 40 refused to sign anything, but 36 signed under duress.

Malik Shouts "Lie"

Jacob A. Malik, Soviet delegate sitting in place of Chief Delegate Andrei Y. Vishinsky, responded that the United States had forced airmen who confessed to germ warfare to repudiate their confessions under threat of prosecution.

He called Dr. Mayo's statement "a lie and a slander which we repudiate."

He tossed in a resolution by which the Assembly would call on all countries which have not done so to ratify the 1925 Geneva Convention against chemical and germ warfare. The United States has refused to ratify it, demanding more than paper promises to stop such practices.

Mayo declared the tortures and attempts to make Americans confess went on even after the Korean armistice was signed last July 27.

He said the Communists circulated texts of alleged confessions to the U. N. but that a number of soldiers refused to sign any document and held to their decision despite tortures worse than those ever inflicted on animals.

Mayo circulated texts of sworn statements of United States military personnel repudiating the so-called confessions of bacteriological warfare.

Farmer-Hunter Finds Bang-Up Mixture For Pipe

MAYSVILLE, Ky., Oct. 26 (AP)—Farmer Charles Cracraft found a bang-up mixture for his pipe, but he wants no more of it.

Cracraft, 40, was sitting on his front porch in the rural Tuckahoe community, waiting to pick off a squirrel with his rifle.

He dug in a pocket for tobacco, filled and lit his pipe, and sat back to relax when—bang!

The fire in the pipe had exploded a bullet mixed with Cracraft's tobacco. The slug buried itself in the ceiling of the porch. Cracraft's nerves were shattered temporarily, but he was unhurt otherwise. His pipe was wrecked.

Insect Expert Pooh-Poohs Black Widow Spider Peril

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26 (AP) — Black widow spiders have jumped back into the news again.

Long Island housewives have complained the poisonous little creatures are creeping everywhere and should be destroyed.

Christian T. Williamson, superintendent of mosquito control up that way, agreed to spray. But he pooh-poohed their alarm. He said the ladies were city folk who weren't used to the joys of living among ants and spiders.

Why, Williamson said, when he was a kid he used to roll in black widows and never once was bitten.

It was this revelation of Williamson's boyhood sport—rolling in black widows—that brought a call to Dr. Edward A. Chapin, curator of insects at the Smithsonian Institution.

Could a person really roll in black widows and not get hurt?

"I don't see why not," Chapin said. "It's very difficult to get a black widow to bite you. They're not at all aggressive, you know.

"But I presume if you pinched a spider, and she happened to bite you on a delicate part of your skin, in a place where the poison could take effect, and she hadn't eaten for four days—well, you might have a pretty sore spot."

But if she had dined recently, you're pretty safe. That's because she has used up her poison to kill her mealtime victims.

This reluctance of black widows to munch on human beings is a good thing, too. The spider, looking like a shiny black shoebutton with a red hour glass marking on her underside, is found in every state. Yet in all our medical history, only around 50 deaths have been reported.

End To British Gas Strike Voted

LONDON, Oct. 26 (AP)— Striking gasoline workers voted tonight to end a week-old wildcat walkout at a tumultuous meeting which nearly broke up in a fist fight.

Only the manning of oil depots and trucks by 6,000 British troops had prevented a disastrous tie-up of transport and food deliveries in the London area.

A union spokesman said the employers had agreed to negotiate on the strike demands, including a wage increase. The men planned to work tomorrow.

As 1,200 strikers gathered in an angry uproar, the troops who had been ordered out by the government Saturday had restored vital supplies of gasoline to nearly normal.

Sir Walter Monckton, Labor Minister in the Churchill cabinet, charged last Friday in the House of Commons that the strike was Communist-supported. The government took emergency measures, rationing gasoline and oil to doctors, undertakers and to vital public service workers.

The general, smiling and fit as he drove in the traditional welcome parade from the Battery to City Hall, returned the compliment with this remark:

"Would that my hosts for three years could see your city."

As he spoke to thousands at City Hall, after an estimated half-million people had watched, cheered and saluted along the parade route, Dean said he had not been able to take his eyes off the skyscrapers of Lower Manhattan.

Saying his Communist captors in Korea had called him a Wall Street slave, the general added:

"Today I saw Wall Street. I wanted to see what my masters looked like.

"Would that those people who really feel sorry for us could see what we have in America, what liberty and freedom means."

U. S. Engineer Group Detained By Reds

PANMUNJOM, Oct. 26 (AP)—An engineer group, lead by Maj. Robert H. Gunther of Chicago, was held for three hours last night by armed Communist troops who insisted the Americans' metal identification badges were insufficient.

The Americans were freed after Lt. Sidney Abernathy of Columbia Tenn., broke away from the Reds in a jeep and raced back to U.N. territory with another soldier.

"I thought one of the chinks was going to stab him—he was waving a bayonet," said Sgt. 1.C. Dorwin Decker of Quincy, Ill.

La Rosa Reports He Hopes To Marry Dorothy McGuire

NEW YORK, Oct. 26 (AP) — Julius La Rosa reported today he hopes to marry attractive Dorothy McGuire but said there were religious and legal problems to be worked out.

La Rosa, fired from the Arthur Godfrey radio-television shows a week ago today, is a Roman Catholic. Miss McGuire, 22, is not a Catholic and still is married to a serviceman, Sgt. John Brown, from whom she has been living apart. Her mother, Mrs. Asa McGuire of Miamisburg, Ohio, is a minister.

The 23-year-old singer, hired by Godfrey two years ago upon his discharge from the Navy, said he had been conferring with a priest on his problem. He declined to say whether he would wed without approval of his church.

Showing signs of extreme nervousness as he sat in the apartment of Ed Sullivan, on whose Toast of the Town he made his first post-Godfrey TV appearance last night, La Rosa said Miss McGuire was the only girl he had ever wanted to marry.

He disclosed, during an interview, that he had seen her this morning. Later he went to another room to answer a telephone call from her. Miss McGuire is one of the three McGuire sisters on the Godfrey programs.

La Rosa said he was deeply concerned over "hurting other people."

"If it means hurting other people I'm going to quit this business —I mean it," he said, as associates sought to calm him.

He expressed fears that involvement of his romance with Miss McGuire in the furor over his firing from the Godfrey show had meant embarrassment to her parents and his.

Russia Blasts Greek Bases Deal With U. S.

Sharp Note Charges Agreement Is Aimed At War Preparations

MOSCOW, Oct. 26 (AP)—Russia tonight delivered a sharp note to Greece protesting the granting of military bases to American armed forces. The note accused Greece of loaning territory "for preparations for a new war."

The note was handed to the Greek charge d'affaires, Thomas Ypsilanti, by the Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko.

War Preparations Charged

The Russians alleged that the signing of the agreement means the Greek government has begun to carry out measures which are directly aimed at preparing a new war.

"The Greek territory is thus turned into a foreign military base which is counter to the interest of maintaining peace and international security," the note said.

Russia warned that Greece must bear the responsibility for the consequences of "worsening the international situation."

Greece in an agreement signed at Athens Oct. 12 gave the United States permission to use an undisclosed number of Greek air and naval bases to bolster North Atlantic Pact defenses. Under the agreement the United States also was given the right to station armed personnel in Greece.

State Dept. Declines Comment

The State Department declined to comment immediately today on Russia's note to the Greek government.

Moscow's blast was viewed by these authorities as merely another Soviet effort to intimidate neighboring countries into neutrality in the East-West conflict. These officials recalled Russia has sent similar notes in the past to Turkey, Norway, and Denmark.

Sen. Symington Lashes Benson

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Oct. 26 (AP)—Sen. Symington (D - Mo) charged tonight Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson "wants to circumvent the will of Congress by cutting to pieces the prices on cattle through the withholding of feed."

"But he has no right to blame the terrible results of his decision on the Democratic party," Symington said in a speech prepared for a Jefferson-Jackson Day Dinner here.

Symington said the Department of Agriculture has approved policies giving outright to Bolivia, Pakistan and other countries millions of dollars of feed the government has in storage.

"But in this period of critical drought," he said, "the American cattleman and dairyman is not being given anything—and he is not asking to be given anything.

"Our farmers are asking to buy feed at prices which make it possible for them to hold their cattle through the winter."

The Missouri senator said the drought-stricken farmers cannot get the feed they need, despite surpluses held in storage, because the "rules for sale" laid down by the Department of Agriculture are so complicated.

Britain And Iran Open Secret Negotiations

LONDON, Oct. 26 (AP) — Britain and Iran have opened secret negotiations aimed at the speedy restoration of diplomatic ties between the two countries, official sources said today.

Iranian Foreign Minister Abdullah Entezam reportedly has shown interest in Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden's proposal for patching up diplomatic relations as a first step toward getting oil flowing again. Deposed Iranian Premier Mohammed Mossadegh broke off relations a year ago.

Eden told the House of Commons today he had information indicating "the Persian government and people understood the sincerity of the desire to see friendly relations restored between the two countries."

Benson Rejects Cattlemen's Plea

HELD — Georgii Vladimirovich Khorumzhii (above, Soviet spy suspect, is being held in "special security custody" somewhere in West Germany. The U. S. High Commission, in making the terse announcement in Frankfurt, said he was being held for investigation of espionage. (AP Wirephoto via radio from Frankfurt).

Opposes Direct Federal Supports

WASHINGTON, Otc. 26 (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Benson today at least temporarily rejected a plea by hard-hit cattle growers for immediate and direct government supports for the livestock industry.

Benson, under fire from several directions over his farm policies, told the disappointed cattlemen he has an "open mind" toward any feasible program to ease their distress.

But he strongly indicated that he is inclined to favor some other method than direct supports.

Obviously nettled by Benson's remarks, a leader of the visiting delegation told him that if he had no concrete aid proposals, then "God help the livestock industry."

Vote To Press For Supports

After hearing Benson, the delegation of 350 cattle growers from 30 states promptly held a mass meeting and voted unanimously to press for federal price supports for cattle at a minimum of 90 per cent of parity.

Parity is a formula, defined by law, designed to give farmers a fair price for their products in relation to the prices ot things they buy. It now applies to such basic crops as wheat, corn, cotton, tobacco, rice and peanuts—but not cattle.

The cattlemen also called for a sweeping investigation of the spread between the price they get for their livestock and the price the consumer pays at the meat market.

Virginia State Sen. Harry C. Stuart of Elk Garden, Va., told the delegations:

"We are all fundamentally against controls, but we in the cattle business can't stand unassisted when the rest of the economy is hopped up, propped up and subsidized."

Caught In Squeeze

The cattlemen's chief complaint was that they are caught in a cost-price squeeze—with the government supporting the price of feed they need to fatten their cattle for market and the price of livestock falling from its Korean war boom level.

At a 90-minute session, the delegates instructed a 12-member committee to draw up a program, to be presented to Benson tomorrow, calling for:

1. Removal of the present $10,000 limit on disaster loans.
2. Special government loans to livestock growers even if they have some remaining assets.
3. Designation of all areas of the country stricken by drought or flood as disaster areas—and thus eligible for special aid.

Another British Atomic Blast Set Off In Australia

LONDON, Oct. 26 (AP)—Britain successfully carried out another atomic explosion in Australia today, it was officially announced.

Supply Minister Duncan Sandys made the announcement here after receiving word from Sir William Penney, who is in charge of Britain's atomic research.

The announcement did not elaborate other than to say that a "second major explosion was successfully made at the atomic test site in Australia at 9:30 p.m. Greenwich Mean Time (4:30 p.m. EST).

This was the third major atomic test carried out by Britain. The first was at the Monte Bello Islands off Australia on Oct. 3, 1952.

The second was at the Woomera range in Australia on Oct. 14 this year.

Sandys said today's explosion "completes the program of experiments as planned and brings the present series of tests to an end."

Ike News Conference TV Plans Abandoned

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26 (AP) — White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said today there is "a good chance" that some form of presidential news conference will go on television before the end of the year.

Hagerty said the White House has abandoned plans to televise a full-fledged news conference for a number of reasons, but "we are trying to work out a substitute."

Just what the format will be, Hagerty said, has not yet been decided, but it probably will encompass a smaller group than the 200 or so newsmen who regularly attend White House news conferences.

Nixon Hears Good News

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaya, Oct. 26 (AP) — The British told U. S. Vice President Richard Nixon today that Malaya's Communist guerrillas have been driven deep into the jungles and are receiving "only a trickle of supplies" from the outside, including Red China.

Treasury Will Offer 2 Billion Bond Issue

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26 (AP)—The Treasury announced today it will offer a two billion dollar bond issue this week paying 2¾ per cent interest. The bonds will mature in seven years and 10 months.

It will be the second big cash loan offering since the Eisenhower administration took office.

Last April, it issued one billion dollars of 30-year bonds paying 3¼ percent.

A treasury spokesman said it was expected that the new issue, to be marketed Wednesday, Oct. 28, will be bought mainly by banks.

Tax Trial Nears Jury

BALTIMORE, Oct. 26 (AP)—The income tax evasion trial of R. Thornton Strange, former treasurer and business manager of St. John's College, will go to the jury tomorrow in Federal Court here.

Both the government and defense attorneys completed their arguments today.

Men Repudiate Germ Warfare "Confessions"

U. N. Told Americans Reduced To Lower Level Than Animals

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Oct. 26 (AP) — The United States declared today that Russians directed a Communist torture center where false confessions of germ warfare were wrung from U. S. fliers in Korea—even after the armistice. The Russians entered a denial.

Dr. Charles W. Mayo, U. S. delegate, presented the charge before the U. N. Political Committee. Dr. Mayo said an interrogation center known as "Pak's Palace" near Pyongyang, North Korea, was staffed by Chinese and North Koreans but directed by Soviet personnel.

"Many of our fliers were interrogated there by Soviet personnel," the Minnesota surgeon said. He told of a Kansas flier who refused to write a confession despite 1,800 hours of questioning directed by Russians.

Many Fliers Held Out

Dr. Mayo said U. S. fliers were reduced to a level lower than that of animals, and that the tortures were designed to be more terrible than medieval methods;

"They are calculated to disintegrate the mind of an intelligent victim," he asserted, in order to make him destroy his own integrity and produce an elaborate fiction.

"If anything is surprising to me," he observed, "it is that so many of our soldiers—both those who confessed and those who did not, although for months they were treated like animals or worse — somehow continued to act throughout like men."

Dr. Mayo said the Communists accused 107 captured fliers of enraging in bacteriological warfare. Of these, 17 are listed as missing and 14 are known dead. He did not say how they died. He said 40 refused to sign anything, but 36 signed under duress.

Malik Shouts "Lie"

Jacob A. Malik, Soviet delegate sitting in place of Chief Delegate Andrei Y. Vishinsky, responded that the United States had forced airmen who confessed to germ warfare to repudiate their confessions under threat of prosecution.

He called Dr. Mayo's statement "a lie and a slander which we repudiate."

He tossed in a resolution by which the Assembly would call on all countries which have not done so to ratify the 1925 Geneva Convention against chemical and germ warfare. The United States has refused to ratify it, demanding more than paper promises to stop such practices.

Mayo declared the tortures and attempts to make Americans confess went on even after the Korean armistice was signed last July 27.

He said the Communists circulated texts of alleged confessions to the U. N. but that a number of soldiers refused to sign any document and held to their decision despite tortures worse than those ever inflicted on animals.

Mayo circulated texts of sworn statements of United States military personnel repudiating the so-called confessions of bacteriological warfare.

Farmer-Hunter Finds Bang-Up Mixture For Pipe

MAYSVILLE, Ky., Oct. 26 (AP)—Farmer Charles Cracraft found a bang-up mixture for his pipe, but he wants no more of it.

Cracraft, 40, was sitting on his front porch in the rural Tuckahoe community, waiting to pick off a squirrel with his rifle.

He dug in a pocket for tobacco, filled and lit his pipe, and sat back to relax when—bang!

The fire in the pipe had exploded a bullet mixed with Cracraft's tobacco. The slug buried itself in the ceiling of the porch. Cracraft's nerves were shattered temporarily, but he was unhurt otherwise. His pipe was wrecked.

Insect Expert Pooh-Poohs Black Widow Spider Peril

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26 (AP) — Black widow spiders have jumped back into the news again.

Long Island housewives have complained the poisonous little creatures are creeping everywhere and should be destroyed.

Christian T. Williamson, superintendent of mosquito control up that way, agreed to spray. But he pooh-poohed their alarm. He said the ladies were city folk who weren't used to the joys of living among ants and spiders.

Why, Williamson said, when he was a kid he used to roll in black widows and never once was bitten.

It was this revelation of Williamson's boyhood sport—rolling in black widows—that brought a call to Dr. Edward A. Chapin, curator of insects at the Smithsonian Institution.

Could a person really roll in black widows and not get hurt?

"I don't see why not," Chapin said. "It's very difficult to get a black widow to bite you. They're not at all aggressive, you know.

"But I presume if you pinched a spider, and she happened to bite you on a delicate part of your skin, in a place where the poison could take effect, and she hadn't eaten for four days—well, you might have a pretty sore spot."

But if she had dined recently, you're pretty safe. That's because she has used up her poison to kill her mealtime victims.

This reluctance of black widows to munch on human beings is a good thing, too. The spider, looking like a shiny black shoebutton with a red hour glass marking on her underside, is found in every state. Yet in all our medical history, only around 50 deaths have been reported.

End To British Gas Strike Voted

LONDON, Oct. 26 (AP)— Striking gasoline workers voted tonight to end a week-old wildcat walkout at a tumultuous meeting which nearly broke up in a fist fight.

Only the manning of oil depots and trucks by 6,000 British troops had prevented a disastrous tie-up of transport and food deliveries in the London area.

A union spokesman said the employers had agreed to negotiate on the strike demands, including a wage increase. The men planned to work tomorrow.

As 1,200 strikers gathered in an angry uproar, the troops who had been ordered out by the government Saturday had restored vital supplies of gasoline to nearly normal.

Sir Walter Monckton, Labor Minister in the Churchill cabinet, charged last Friday in the House of Commons that the strike was Communist-supported. The government took emergency measures, rationing gasoline and oil to doctors, undertakers and to vital public service workers.

W. German Impatience Over EDC May Force U.S. To Recast Policy

BONN, Germany, Oct. 26 (AP) — West Germany's mounting impatience with the long delay in creating the European Defense Community (EDC) and restoring German independence could force the United States to recast its long-term European policy next year.

This is the opinion of responsible Allied officials who said here today that German public opinion is becoming increasingly restless over the failure to settle the nation's political and military role in the free world.

Unless definite action is taken soon by other Western European countries to ratify the twin treaties designed to organize the EDC and end the long Allied occupation of Germany, these Allied officials fear Chancellor Konrad Adenauer may be forced to seek an alternative way to win sovereignty and rearm West Germany.

The EDC treaty and the Allied-West German peace contract signed in May, 1952, would give West Germany her freedom and create a powerful six-nation European army to include 500,000 German troops.

The twin treaties are cornerstones of an American program to make Western Europe into a single defense and political community capable of defending and supporting itself.

If these treaties are junked, the main burden of trying to find a substitute for EDC and a new formula for giving West Germany her freedom inside the Western community will fall on the United States, in the opinion of the officials here.

Many officials fear the failure of EDC would wreck the North Atlantic alliance, with France refusing to permit direct German membership in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) and the United States insisting on the rearmament of West Germany, possibly through a direct military alliance with the Bonn government.

Jewish Leaders Urge Restoration Of Aid To Israel

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26 (AP)—Sen. Ives (R-NY), Rep. Javits (R, Lib-NY) and a delegation of seven American Jewish leaders today urged Secretary of State Dulles to restore U. S. economic aid to Israel.

The nine-man group called on Dulles at the State Department after these earlier developments:

1. A New York Republican leader quoted Dulles as saying aid to Israel will be resumed after its quarrel with Syria has been settled.

2. An Arab leader said after a call on President Eisenhower that the United States was justified in cutting off aid to Israel.

The Ives-Javits group conferred with Dulles for 90 minutes and issued a statement declaring they had told Dulles that continued American aid is "required as a basis for the operation and development of Israel's economy."

"Impeding or delaying the development of Israel of its own resources will not advance the policy of peace and development in the Near East but will retard it by encouraging aggressor Arab elements to intensify their hostility against Israel and to help keep the Near East in turmoil."

Javits, as spokesman for the group, said the delegation will try to arrange an appointment with Eisenhower "if the situation appears to warrant it."

Supreme Court To Rule On N. Y. Film Censor Law

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26 (AP)—The Supreme Court, which two weeks ago agreed to rule on Ohio's right to censor movies, today said it also will hear arguments on the constitutionality of New York's film censorship.

The New York case involves a state ban on the French-produced motion picture "La Ronde" on grounds that the film is immoral.

The New York Court of Appeals, upholding the order of the State Education Department, said "La Ronde" depicted promiscuity as a natural and normal relation between sexes.

Commercial Pictures Corp., distributor of the film, said in its appeal that sections of the state law under which the ban was applied violate the constitutional guarantees of free speech and press.

The same constitutional question was raised in the Ohio appeal. Superior Films Inc. asked the high court to knock down a state censor's order prohibiting the showing of a movie called "M."

The censor described "M" as a picture "filled with brutal crime," including two cold-blooded murders.

"A schizophrenic killer is treated with sympathy and an underworld boss is depicted as vastly more efficient than the police," the censor said. "Twice, the methods of abducting children on the streets are elaborated."

Last year, the Supreme Court overruled a New York ban on a movie entitled "The Miracle." In this case, the court said its decision was based on indefiniteness in the statute insofar as it prohibits the showing of sacrilegious films.

Vishinsky To Lunch With Newsmen Today

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Oct. 26 (AP)—Chief Soviet Delegate Andrei Y. Vishinsky has accepted an invitation to lunch with newsmen tomorrow.

This marks the first time the Russian diplomat here has ever lunched with the press. During the seven years he has attended U.N. sessions, Vishinsky has only held two news conferences.

He sent word to the U.N. Correspondent's Assn. today he considers the affair just a "social occasion" and will make no speech nor answer questions for publication.

Convicted Former Tax Official Kills Himself

WALDEN, N. Y., Oct. 26 (AP) — Maurice F. O'Brien, former head of the Troy, N. Y., internal revenue office who was convicted last week in a tax-fix extortion ring, shot himself to death today, police said.

O'Brien turned a new rifle on himself as he sat in a car in front of his sister-in-law's home. His wife happened to look out the window and saw it occur, officer George Krum said.

O'Brien and three of his former assistants were convicted after a trial in federal court, New York, of conspiracy to shake down taxpayers in settlement of income tax cases. A fifth defendant was acquitted.

Virginia-West Virginia Gas Pipeline Is Urged

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26 (AP)—An investment banker said today a proposed natural gas pipeline to Winchester, Va., and Martinsburg, W. Va., could be financed without difficulty.

Edwin B. Horner, president of Scott, Horner & Mason Investments, Lynchburg, Va., testified at a Power Commission hearing as a witness for Shenandoah Gas Co. of Lynchburg.

Rotating Brush Developed To Detect Stomach Cancer

ATLANTA, Oct. 26 (AP)—Development of the first "simple" method for detecting stomach cancer—involving use of a "rotating brush" inserted down through the mouth to collect tissue cells from the stomach wall—was reported today.

Dr. J. Ernest Ayre of Miami, Fla. said the method was the first, other than X-ray, which could be done by any general practitioner—and he added that X-ray sometimes can not distinguish between ulcer and cancer in the stomach.

He told the Southern Medical Assn. at its 47th annual meeting that the collection of cells requires only five minutes, yet appears to compare favorably in accuracy with previous stomach cell-collecting techniques which he described as more difficult and time-consuming. One of them—involving use of an inflatable balloon to collect cells through abrasive action on the stomach wall—requires up to two hours, Dr. Ayre asserted. He reported jointly with Dr. B. G. Oren, also of Miami.

Dr. Ayre told a reporter that while final appraisal of the value of the technique will require studies of "thousands" of cases, trials so far "indicate definite promise and the possibility that the accuracy may eventually prove greater than previous techniques of this type."

The instrument has been made available to all physicians.

The objective of all types of cell-collecting tests, he said, is to detect stomach cancer at a stage early enough so that it can be cured by surgery.

Juke Box Royalty Boost Denounced

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26 (AP)—Two Congress members led a parade of witnesses who denounced at a Senate subcommittee hearing today a proposed boost in royalty payments for use of records played in juke boxes.

Rep. George P. Miller (D-Calif) assailed as "unequitable and unnecessary" the proposed bill by Sen. McCarran (D-Nev) which would increase payments to owners of copyrights.

He told the Senate Judiciary subcommittee conducting the public hearing he always had believed that "people with music in their souls got it out without the dollar and cents aspect" interfering. The industry now buys 50 million records a year, he said, and composers and song writers "are well repaid."

Rep. William E. Miller (R-NY) said the copyright owners owe "an obligation of gratitude" to juke box operators. He argued that the jukes create a public demand for records.

Concordat Approved

MADRID, Oct. 26 (AP) — The Cortes, Spain's parliament, today unanimously approved a concordat between Spain and the Vatican which Generalissimo Francisco Franco said establishes Roman Catholicism as the state religion.

Progress In Trieste Negotiations Hinted

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, Oct. 26 (AP)—Yugoslav Deputy Foreign Minister Ales Bebler said tonight "we have reason to believe" there can be an international conference on the future of the British-American occupation zone of Trieste to help find a solution of this country's feud with Italy.

His statement, made in an interview with the official government news agency, Tanjug, came as the first hint of possible progress in diplomatic negotiations over the issue in Rome, London and Washington.

Dog At Audience By Pope

CASTEL GANDOLFO, Italy, 26 (AP)—A dog was permitted today to be present at an audience by the Pope.

The dog is the "seeing-eye" German Shepherd, Trudy, belonging to Miss Eiken Noon from Philadelphia, who is blind.

Something really Special -in power, room, ride, price

We picture here a car that keeps our order book pages turning quicker than quick.

It is the 1953 Buick SPECIAL 4-Door Sedan—the bargain value that doesn't stay long on our showroom floor.

For this is the best-selling Buick in the land—snapped up by eager buyers who know something really special when they see it.

For your information, we present some SPECIAL facts.

It has a Fireball 8 Engine with the highest power and compression ratio ever placed in a Buick SPECIAL—plus, if you wish, the instant getaway response and utter smoothness of Twin-Turbine Dynaflow.*

It has easy-sitting-room for six adults—as much room as you'll find in cars costing hundreds of dollars more.

It has a ride unique among automobiles. The Buick Million Dollar Ride. The soft and steady and ever-level ride that comes of coil springs on all four wheels—a full-length torque-tube drive—a massive X-braced frame—a solid and substantial roadweight poised with meticulous balance on broadly spaced wheels.

But what makes the Buick SPECIAL so extra special is the low delivered price it carries.

It is a price just an easy step above the so-called "low-price three"—and a price that gives you more room and power and ride-comfort for your money than you get in any other car, except another Buick.

Wouldn't you like to see, sit in and drive one of these great-powered Buicks — look into its beauty, its luxury, its handling ease—and judge for yourself how small a price tag it wears?

W. German Impatience Over EDC May Force U.S. To Recast Policy

BONN, Germany, Oct. 26 (AP) — West Germany's mounting impatience with the long delay in creating the European Defense Community (EDC) and restoring German independence could force the United States to recast its long-term European policy next year.

The twin treaties are cornerstones of an American program to make Western Europe into a single defense and political community capable of defending and supporting itself.

If these treaties are junked, the main burden of trying to find a substitute for EDC and a new formula for giving West Germany her freedom inside the Western community will fall on the United States, in the opinion of the officials here.

Many officials fear the failure of EDC would wreck the North Atlantic alliance, with France refusing to permit direct German membership in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) and the United States insisting on the rearmament of West Germany, possibly through a direct military alliance with the Bonn government.

Jewish Leaders Urge Restoration Of Aid To Israel

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26 (AP)—Sen. Ives (R-NY), Rep. Javits (R, Lib-NY) and a delegation of seven American Jewish leaders today urged Secretary of State Dulles to restore U. S. economic aid to Israel.

The nine-man group called on Dulles at the State Department after these earlier developments:

1. A New York Republican leader quoted Dulles as saying aid to Israel will be resumed after its quarrel with Syria has been settled.

2. An Arab leader said after a call on President Eisenhower that the United States was justified in cutting off aid to Israel.

The Ives-Javits group conferred with Dulles for 90 minutes and issued a statement declaring they had told Dulles that continued American aid is "required as a basis for the operation and development of Israel's economy."

"Impeding or delaying the development of Israel of its own resources will not advance the policy of peace and development in the Near East but will retard it by encouraging aggressor Arab elements to intensify their hostility against Israel and to help keep the Near East in turmoil."

Javits, as spokesman for the group, said the delegation will try to arrange an appointment with Eisenhower "if the situation appears to warrant it."

Supreme Court To Rule On N. Y. Film Censor Law

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26 (AP)—The Supreme Court, which two weeks ago agreed to rule on Ohio's right to censor movies, today said it also will hear arguments on the constitutionality of New York's film censorship.

The New York case involves a state ban on the French-produced motion picture "La Ronde" on grounds that the film is immoral.

The New York Court of Appeals, upholding the order of the State Education Department, said "La Ronde" depicted promiscuity as a natural and normal relation between sexes.

Commercial Pictures Corp., distributor of the film, said in its appeal that sections of the state law under which the ban was applied violate the constitutional guarantees of free speech and press.

The same constitutional question was raised in the Ohio appeal. Superior Films Inc. asked the high court to knock down a state censor's order prohibiting the showing of a movie called "M."

The censor described "M" as a picture "filled with brutal crime," including two cold-blooded murders.

"A schizophrenic killer is treated with sympathy and an underworld boss is depicted as vastly more efficient than the police," the censor said. "Twice, the methods of abducting children on the streets are elaborated."

Last year, the Supreme Court overruled a New York ban on a movie entitled "The Miracle." In this case, the court said its decision was based on indefiniteness in the statute insofar as it prohibits the showing of sacrilegious films.

Vishinsky To Lunch With Newsmen Today

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Oct. 26 (AP)—Chief Soviet Delegate Andrei Y. Vishinsky has accepted an invitation to lunch with newsmen tomorrow.

This marks the first time the Russian diplomat here has ever lunched with the press. During the seven years he has attended U.N. sessions, Vishinsky has only held two news conferences.

He sent word to the U.N. Correspondent's Assn. today he considers the affair just a "social occasion" and will make no speech nor answer questions for publication.

Convicted Former Tax Official Kills Himself

WALDEN, N. Y., Oct. 26 (AP) — Maurice F. O'Brien, former head of the Troy, N. Y., internal revenue office who was convicted last week in a tax-fix extortion ring, shot himself to death today, police said.

O'Brien turned a new rifle on himself as he sat in a car in front of his sister-in-law's home. His wife happened to look out the window and saw it occur, officer George Krum said.

O'Brien and three of his former assistants were convicted after a trial in federal court, New York, of conspiracy to shake down taxpayers in settlement of income tax cases. A fifth defendant was acquitted.

Virginia-West Virginia Gas Pipeline Is Urged

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26 (AP)—An investment banker said today a proposed natural gas pipeline to Winchester, Va., and Martinsburg, W. Va., could be financed without difficulty.

Edwin B. Horner, president of Scott, Horner & Mason Investments, Lynchburg, Va., testified at a Power Commission hearing as a witness for Shenandoah Gas Co. of Lynchburg.

Rotating Brush Developed To Detect Stomach Cancer

ATLANTA, Oct. 26 (AP)—Development of the first "simple" method for detecting stomach cancer—involving use of a "rotating brush" inserted down through the mouth to collect tissue cells from the stomach wall—was reported today.

Dr. J. Ernest Ayre of Miami, Fla. said the method was the first, other than X-ray, which could be done by any general practitioner—and he added that X-ray sometimes can not distinguish between ulcer and cancer in the stomach.

He told the Southern Medical Assn. at its 47th annual meeting that the collection of cells requires only five minutes, yet appears to compare favorably in accuracy with previous stomach cell-collecting techniques which he described as more difficult and time-consuming. One of them—involving use of an inflatable balloon to collect cells through abrasive action on the stomach wall—requires up to two hours, Dr. Ayre asserted. He reported jointly with Dr. B. G. Oren, also of Miami.

Dr. Ayre told a reporter that while final appraisal of the value of the technique will require studies of "thousands" of cases, trials so far "indicate definite promise and the possibility that the accuracy may eventually prove greater than previous techniques of this type."

The instrument has been made available to all physicians.

The objective of all types of cell-collecting tests, he said, is to detect stomach cancer at a stage early enough so that it can be cured by surgery.

Juke Box Royalty Boost Denounced

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26 (AP)—Two Congress members led a parade of witnesses who denounced at a Senate subcommittee hearing today a proposed boost in royalty payments for use of records played in juke boxes.

Rep. George P. Miller (D-Calif) assailed as "unequitable and unnecessary" the proposed bill by Sen. McCarran (D-Nev) which would increase payments to owners of copyrights.

He told the Senate Judiciary subcommittee conducting the public hearing he always had believed that "people with music in their souls got it out without the dollar and cents aspect" interfering. The industry now buys 50 million records a year, he said, and composers and song writers "are well repaid."

Rep. William E. Miller (R-NY) said the copyright owners owe "an obligation of gratitude" to juke box operators. He argued that the jukes create a public demand for records.

Concordat Approved

MADRID, Oct. 26 (AP) — The Cortes, Spain's parliament, today unanimously approved a concordat between Spain and the Vatican which Generalissimo Francisco Franco said establishes Roman Catholicism as the state religion.

Progress In Trieste Negotiations Hinted

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, Oct. 26 (AP)—Yugoslav Deputy Foreign Minister Ales Bebler said tonight "we have reason to believe" there can be an international conference on the future of the British-American occupation zone of Trieste to help find a solution of this country's feud with Italy.

His statement, made in an interview with the official government news agency, Tanjug, came as the first hint of possible progress in diplomatic negotiations over the issue in Rome, London and Washington.

Dog At Audience By Pope

CASTEL GANDOLFO, Italy, 26 (AP)—A dog was permitted today to be present at an audience by the Pope.

The dog is the "seeing-eye" German Shepherd, Trudy, belonging to Miss Eiken Noon from Philadelphia, who is blind.

Something really Special -in power, room, ride, price

WE picture here a car that keeps our order book pages turning quicker than quick.

It is the 1953 Buick SPECIAL 4-Door Sedan—the bargain value that doesn't stay long on our showroom floor.

For this is the best-selling Buick in the land—snapped up by eager buyers who know something really special when they see it.

For your information, we present some SPECIAL facts.

It has a Fireball 8 Engine with the highest power and compression ratio ever placed in a Buick SPECIAL—plus, if you wish, the instant getaway response and utter smoothness of Twin-Turbine Dynaflow.*

It has easy-sitting-room for six adults—as much room as you'll find in cars costing hundreds of dollars more.

It has a ride unique among automobiles. The Buick Million Dollar Ride. The soft and steady and ever-level ride that comes of coil springs on all four wheels—a full-length torque-tube drive—a massive X-braced frame—a solid and substantial roadweight poised with meticulous balance on broadly spaced wheels.

But what makes the Buick SPECIAL so extra special is the low delivered price it carries.

It is a price just an easy step above the so-called "low-price three"—and a price that gives you more room and power and ride-comfort for your money than you get in any other car, except another Buick.

Wouldn't you like to see, sit in and drive one of these great-powered Buicks — look into its beauty, its luxury, its handling ease—and judge for yourself how small a price tag it wears?

Phone us this week, or drop in. We'll be happy to arrange a demonstration.

Three Persons Are Injured In Area Accidents

A young Frostburg woman suffered head and facial injuries early Sunday when the car in which she was riding careened from Midlothian Road near the Brady farm.

State Police listed the victim as Miss Janet Harris, 19, of Bowery Street, and said she was riding with Morgan Broadbeck, 26, of Welsh Hill, Frostburg, who escaped unhurt.

Trooper Joseph Stakem said the auto was demolished after it left the road on a curve and crashed through a fence about 3:30 a. m. The couple was headed toward Midlothian.

Frostburg and Cumberland hospitals said they had no record of Miss Harris receiving treatment. No charges were filed against Broadbeck.

Less than a month ago, Wayne Deffenbaugh, 23, of Zihlman, was killed on the same curve where Sunday's mishap occurred, authorities pointed out. Other accidents have happened at the same spot.

Two other persons were slightly hurt in traffic accidents in neighboring Mineral county over the weekend.

Henry Dennis, 19, McCoole, sustained lacerations of the head, eye and nose when he was thrown through the roof of a convertible Sunday on West Virginia Route 46. Dennis was a passenger in a car operated by Robert Lee Paugh, 19, Piedmont, which collided with another car driven by Daniel L. Bever, Bloomington.

Paugh was arrested by West Virginia State Police on a reckless driving charge. Officers said his car struck the Bever vehicle when he lost control of his automobile while trying to pass another machine.

Mrs. Thelma Weaver, 56, wife of George E. Weaver, 1300 Kentucky Avenue, suffered a laceration of the lip and a sprained right shoulder Saturday afternoon when her husband's car was struck head-on by another auto operated by Ross Amtower, 70, of Elk Garden, on Route 50.

Amtower was arrested on a reckless driving count. Police said he lost control of his vehicle, ran off the highway and then swerved into the path of the Weaver car. Both Mrs. Weaver and Dennis were treated at Potomac Valley Hospital, Keyser.

Dennis was a passenger in a car operated by Robert Lee Paugh, 19, Piedmont, which collided with another car driven by Daniel L. Bever, Bloomington.

Paugh was arrested by West Virginia State Police on a reckless driving charge. Officers said his car struck the Bever vehicle when he lost control of his automobile while trying to pass another machine.

Mrs. Thelma Weaver, 56, wife of George E. Weaver, 1300 Kentucky Avenue, suffered a laceration of the lip and a sprained right shoulder Saturday afternoon when her husband's car was struck head-on by another auto operated by Ross Amtower, 70, of Elk Garden, on Route 50.

Amtower was arrested on a reckless driving count. Police said he lost control of his vehicle, ran off the highway and then swerved into the path of the Weaver car. Both Mrs. Weaver and Dennis were treated at Potomac Valley Hospital, Keyser.

Freezing Old Age Security

Congress will have to face early in its next session the issue of holding the rate of the old age security tax at one and a half per cent for employer and employe alike. Action to that effect would have to be retroactive: the law now calls for a two per cent rate as of January 1, 1954.

Representative Simpson (R., Pa.), a member of the House Ways and Means Committee and chairman of the House Republican Campaign Committee, said on October 21: "I do not believe that a Republican administration would wish to provide the reduction of taxes (income) for the higher and middle-income groups (also scheduled for January 1) while at the same time increasing taxes (social security) on the lower income groups."

President Eisenhower's tax program of last May called for postponement for one year of the social security tax raise scheduled for January. "It can and should be postponed," said the President, "for the old age and survivors trust fund has now reached $18 billion and receipts at present tax rates are in excess of current expenditures."

The original Social Security Act of 1935 provided a gradual step-up in old-age security rates to a maximum of three per cent each for employer and employe in 1949. However, Congress in 1940 postponed the scheduled rise to one and a half per cent each (from one per cent). In 1942 and each year thereafter until 1950 the rate was "frozen" at the level of one per cent each. A new schedule adopted in 1947 called for a rise of one-half per cent each in 1950, and this rise was allowed to go into effect. In 1950 the maximum of wages taxable for old age and survivors benefits was raised from $3,000 to $3,600.

Under the present legislation for stepping up contributions, the rate after reaching two per cent each in January, is to go to two and a half per cent in 1960, three per cent in 1965, three and a quarter per cent in 1970 and thereafter.

The scheduled rise of one half per cent each in January 1954 strikes much harder at the low income groups than at the middle or high income groups, for unlike the income tax, the social security tax rate is not graduated.

The rise would be $18 a year to anyone earning $5,600 or over. Its cost to a worker earning $2,500 a year would be $12.50. Representative Simpson makes the point that the latter, if he is married and has two children, now pays no income tax, and hence would not benefit by reduction of the income tax rate in January. And for many of those who do pay income tax in the lower brackets the result of income tax reduction and social security tax increase would be a net loss.

Freezing the social security tax rate would result in an estimated loss to the government's "cash" budget in fiscal 1954 of $250 million, and another $250 million in the first six months of fiscal 1955, but no loss at all to the government's "administrative" budget. In the "administrative" budget the income of the government's trust accounts, such as the old-age and survivors insurance fund, is segregated from other Treasury revenues.

Meantime, President Eisenhower has proposed extension of social security coverage to 10½ million additional workers. And at the same time, in his tax message, the President advocated financing of social security "more nearly on a pay-as-you-go basis."

The "Great American Game"?

With the 1953 football season now well under way, voices can be heard here and there suggesting that football, rather than baseball, be considered the national sport of these United States. After all, baseball has wide appeal also in other lands — such as Mexico, Cuba, Japan. But no other country plays football as this country knows it.

Also, baseball developed from the old English game of rounders and still bears some resemblance to it. But although U. S. football may have had its origins in soccer, in which the ball is only kicked, and then in rugby, in which the ball is carried, you'd need a high-powered microscope to detect much resemblance in our modern game of football to either soccer or rugby.

Something like soccer seems to have been played in early America. Records have been preserved of an intercollegiate game between Princeton and Rutgers in 1869. Each side had 25 players, and the winner was the first team to make six goals. There were 50 spectators.

In 1874 at Cambridge, Mass., Harvard played McGill University of Canada twice under McGill rules —that is, at rugby, and two years later four big Eastern colleges adopted rules for rugby. The field was reduced in length from 140 to 110 yards (to 100 in 1912) and was made narrower; each team was to consist of 11 instead of 15 players; modern scrimmage replaced the rugby scrimmage; and when the Intercollegiate Football Association was created in 1880, other changes made the game football.

The scoring was changed constantly (in 1883 a touchdown counted two points, goal after touchdown four, a field goal five). For a long time all that was needed for a first down was five yards' gain in three tries. Among those who called for "opening up" the game was President Theodore Roosevelt, and the forward pass was legalized in 1906, with many more restrictions than now.

Benson Reorganizes

Secretary of Agriculture Benson has moved to reorganize the department from top to bottom. The whole story is not yet told, but what he has announced so far sounds sensible. He made clear that the new scheme of things is not so rigid as not to give a little here and there if experience seems to warrant changes.

In general, the planning is toward a new simplicity —a regrouping of numerous activities under marketing, stabilization, credit and federal-state relations.

Marketing seems scheduled to be raised to higher importance because of a new hope. This hope is to hold down subsidies by increasing sales at home and abroad. More domestic consumption of farm products is to be the object of continued research for new uses for old crops. With the modern history of the soybean in mind, it seems obvious that one answer to the problem of surpluses is this technique of steering part of a crop into channels of commerce it never entered before.

How To Keep Well

By Dr. T. R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Bottle Versus Breast

The battle between breast and artificial feeding continues and the longer the fight goes on the more obvious it becomes that the two plans must be evenly matched. The main advantage to breast feeding is psychological in that nursing satisfies a basic emotional need that cannot be achieved with the artificial method. The mother derives happiness from the sense of accomplishment which follows. Meanwhile the baby acquires a feeling of being loved, wanted, and protected.

Breast milk is said to contain more protective antibodies against disease. This has been demonstrated on many occasions, including a study on twin lambs; one suckled and the other brought up on a cow's milk formula. Tests showed a considerably higher number of antibodies in the suckling lamb than in the one fed artificially. This investigation confirms previous statistics showing that the breast-fed have fewer infections than do babies on a formula.

Meanwhile the proponents of bottle feeding have stressed the fact that a formula can be prepared which not only mimics but makes up for some of the defects in mother's milk. They point to statistics showing that artificially fed children gain more weight. Statistics often are misleading, however, because there is more to weight gain and to acquiring infections than what the child is eating.

When figures are obtained from foundling homes the results are hardly comparable with those that occur in your home and mine. The mother who takes the time to breast feed her infant also may be more careful in the attention given her child so that infections are kept to a minimum. Furthermore, when there are several brothers and sisters in the family, the opportunities for bring home a cold are greater. Even the psychological advantages of nursing may be nullified by a mother who is uncooperative, in a hurry, or negligent about fondling the child.

One interesting study along this line was reported recently by a Swedish pediatrician who obtained his results from a foundling home where many of the mothers remained to nurse their children. The bottle-fed infants were cared for by nurses and other personnel well trained in nursing care. Here was an condition because all the babies lived under the same roof and were subjected to the same external environment. The final outcome showed no difference in the number of infections between the artificially and breast-fed children.

Youngsters who were born between May 1 and July 31, however, had fewer respiratory disorders because they were well along before fall and winter set in with the usual seasonal rise in colds and flu, which had nothing to do with the type of feeding. Furthermore, the findings of the Swedish pediatrician paralleled those of other authorities who demonstrated that the incidence of respiratory infections is higher and the disease lasts longer as the children lose their natural immunity after the age of 6 months. This, too, has nothing to do with feeding.

On the other hand, breast-fed boys and girls outstripped the artificially fed in weight. Because both groups were being fed under ideal conditions the only conclusion reached is that breast feeding still is superior. After all, these artificially fed youngsters obtained their formulas from a specially trained staff who not only knew how to feed but how to prepare adequate and hygienic formulas.

VALVE SPASM

P. D. writes: What is meant by a spasm of the stomach?

REPLY

This type of spasm usually involves the musclar valve of the inlet (cardiac) or the outlet (pyloric) of the stomach. The most common causes are dietary indiscretions and nervousness.

IMPAIRED VISION

Mrs. Y. writes: Is retrolental fibroplasia permanent or is it possible for eyesight to improve later?

REPLY

HEREDITY AND ANEMIA

W. C. writes: Is anemia inherited?

REPLY

The most common type, resulting from lack of iron or hemorrhage is not. But pernicious anemia has a tendency to "run in families." Cooley's, or Mediterranean anemia, is the best known familial type. At one time it was thought to exist only in the region of the Mediterranean sea, but after these people emigrated to various parts of the world, the disorder became widespread. This demonstrated that heredity, rather than geography, was the important factor.

"How'll We Handle This One?"

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

"Winnie" Waxes Eloquent Over Mission To Moscow; Protocol Stumps Harry Truman; Tax Problems Continue To Worry Experts

WASHINGTON — John Foster Dulles, who has worked hard and bounced around the world more than any other secretary of State in pursuit of a more stable peace, came back from London none too happy. He did not succeed in his mission of dissuading Sir Winston Churchill from going to Moscow, but he did come back with renewed admiration for the grand old man of England.

Churchill convinced "Foster," as Ike calls him in cabinet meetings, that his trip to Moscow was not all personal vanity but rather to probe and exhaust every last possibility of understanding with the Soviet before throwing up our hands and admitting it's no go.

Unless the mission to Moscow is undertaken, Churchill told Foster, unless the French are convinced we have taken every possible step toward a Soviet agreement, the French will not ratify the United European Army Pact and the rest of Europe will not re-arm.

Churchill argued so eloquently that Dulles was almost convinced he was right. As a compromise, however, Dulles finally persuaded Churchill to put off the meeting for three months. He still thinks a meeting with Malenkov is kowtowing appeasement to the Russians, will only give Moscow a propaganda megaphone to shout insincere mouthings about peace.

NOTE — Meanwhile, the biggest debate going on inside the Pentagon is whether big land armies are hopeless for defending Europe, whether we should pull out our troops, depend on atomic defense and save money.

Harry's Humor

Leonard Lyons, the Broadway columnist, got a letter from Harry Truman the other day which recalled Truman's last dinner in the White House. His only guests were Leonard and Sylvia Lyons and old family friend Mrs. Florence Mahoney.

At the dinner Truman jokingly appointed Lyons as a judge and Mrs. Lyons as ambassador to Mexico — his last official acts.

Writing to his new appointees the other day, Truman began: "Dear Judge Leonard and Ambassador Sylvia Lyons:

"This salutation offends me because it violates protocol. An ambassador comes before a judge." In reply, Lyons wrote:

"Thanks for the belated confirmation of our appointments. Regarding the matter of protocol, you are referring to the old days in Washington. Today many things are backward, including protocol. Nowadays an ambassador comes after a judge and the President and secretary of State come after a senator from Wisconsin."

Tax Front

Taxes are still worrying the Ike administration. The tax experts don't quite know where to turn — for three good reasons:

1. The Treasury doesn't yet know how much it will have to raise for defense spending.

2. There's tremendous opposition to a sales tax — either in the form of a manufacturer's tax or in any other form.

3. There's evidence the economy is taking a deflationary turn.

Dr. Arthur Burns, head of Ike's Council of Economic Advisers, has warned that a slight business slump can be expected in the next three months. He doesn't think it will be dangerous, but he's put up a precautionary red flag.

As a result, the Treasury has abandoned the hard-money policy almost in toto. It almost broke sincere Secretary George Humphrey's heart to do it, but for the time being he's won over.

Meanwhile Humphrey's experts are toying with the idea of going to Congress with a staggered tax program. Instead of a lot of tax changes to become effective at one time, the changes would be strung out over a period of three years. This has the advantage of fighting one tax battle with Congress at one time, instead of every year, with taxes taking effect in different years.

Political Front

Republican leaders know in advance that Ike was planning his press conference bombshell taking himself out of local elections. They did their best to change his mind but failed.

Following the local Democratic victories in Connecticut and the congressional victory in Wisconsin, GOP leaders were especially eloquent in telling the White House that the Grand Old Party was in trouble. Not many of them, it's true, got in to see the President himself. Most saw Sherman Adams, or even lesser lights. They made little impression.

After the Wisconsin upset, White House aides calmly reminded the politicos that the Gallup Poll showed Ike more popular than ever. Sourly remarked one Republican leader, after talking to White House aide Homer Gruenther:

"It looks as if the White House wants a Democratic Congress."

It's true Ike has been getting better cooperation from Democrats on major issues than from the Republicans, but what GOP leaders are worried about is the organization of Congress and possible loss of committee chairmanships.

NOTE — Final straw clinching Ike's determination to keep out of local politics, was the Paul Troast letter asking for the release of labor racketeer Joey Fay from Sing Sing. Ike, who had been toying with the idea of campaigning in New Jersey, realized he might have been there when the Troast-Fay parole letter broke.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Understanding The Task

The existence of the Monmouth Spy Ring, despite all the congressional investigations and the trials in courts, establishes beyond doubt the superiority of the Russians in the fields of espionage and infiltration. They know how to do it. They keep at it. When one group has become expendable, they have ready another group to take its place.

American counter-espionage has not been effective. With few exceptions, it is hampered by ignorance. By that I mean that few Americans, either in government, in our universities or the press, have taken the trouble to study the theory, strategy and tactics of the world-wide Communist conspiracy. There is plenty of shouting and defaming but little real knowledge.

The Russians understand the American characteristic of easily becoming bored with the boresome. They therefore establish an apparatus which is like one of those toys they like so much in their country. Outside is a large box; you take one off and there is another box; you go on and on taking off boxes, until you have a tiny one. That is the hard core. That is what counts.

In the United States, for instance, the Communist party never reached much over 100,000 members; but a single front organization had a membership of 4,000,000. That front organization was the cover and beneath it were many other front organizations. To get at the hard core is difficult, but it is the hard core alone that counts. The task, in all studies, is to separate all the innocents, the opportunists, the fellow-travelers, the careerists from the study, so that the hard core may be uncovered.

This task is so difficult that although some very able work has been done in this technique, the data concerning the hard core is spotty, incomplete and inconclusive. If anyone knows a more effective way of doing it than by separating the sheep and goats from the foxes, he has not yet come up with a workable suggestion.

Many anti-Communists are so emotionally vindictive that they often, with the best of intentions, upset important developments by attacking the wrong people. For instance, in the studies of Hollywood apparatus, which was designed to give the Communists a treasury, some 300 persons, many of considerable prominence, were involved, most of whom were dupes and suckers being used as a protective cover for the effective hard core. Until a mechanism was devised to separate this intricate design, it as impossible to discover who were the manipulators and who were being manipulated.

Some anti-Communists take the totally unchristian attitude that errors once made may never be forgiven. They follow the strictly Stalinist technique that confession of error must always be public and even untruthful to satisfy those who are to do the forgiving, which they never do. Some factors come from experience:

Many persons who were once associated with Communist causes and espionage groups actually did not understand what they were doing because they did not understand the nature and strategy of this conspiracy, just as their critics do not. However, a prolonged discussion with them of their experiences provides invaluable leads to the hard core. This is slow and patient work and can only be done by trained technicians who have the time to give to it and the capacity for sympathetic understanding.

The violently vindictive approach drives such a person to cover. He clams up and his valuable information may be lost forever. It must always be borne in mind in such conversations that the individual, no matter how helpful he may want to be, does not really understand the nature of his experience.

How complex this problem is was evidenced by the effort of a most distinguished law firm in New York to have Robert Morris disqualified as a candidate for judicial office because of his exemplary work in uncovering the conspiracy within the Institute of Pacific Relations. There are great lawyers, generally so regarded, but they are babes in arms in their understanding of how they and others like them are used as covers in this vast conspiracy. They seek evidence where it cannot be because it has been removed as a crook wipes fingerprints away. And not having their kind of evidence, they cannot believe even the obvious. Earl Jowett wrote a book on Alger Hiss which proves how dumb a great lawyer can be in this field.

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—The drop of 10 points in President Eisenhower's popularity—from 75 per cent in mid-September to 65 per cent today, as reported in the latest Gallup Poll—will start considerable discussion of the probable causes.

As Dr. Gallup points out, it is not unusual for wide fluctuations in a President's popularity to be recorded during his administration. Thus Mr. Truman started out with an all-time high of 87 per cent in 1945 when he took office, and went down to 43 per cent at the end of the year, and actually hit a low of 32 per cent within 15 months before starting upward again, yet it will be recalled that he won his election in 1948.

While the Gallup survey shows defections in all groups and sections, it is interesting to note that those who disapproved of the Eisenhower record to date gave as their reasons: failure to fulfill promises, failure to cut taxes, lack of leadership, lack of accomplishment, no improvement in economic conditions, caused unemployment, favors big business and doesn't help the worker, hasn't helped the farmer, golfs too much and takes too many vacations.

Bad Public Relations

Analyzing these reasons, they can be attributed in large part to the bad public relations at the White House. This doesn't mean that they haven't very good press-relations officers there, because they really have. But public relations isn't a mere matter of mechanics in the giving out of information. It's a matter of planning, and not by subordinates but by the President himself. It's something that cannot be delegated to a staff meeting. The man who heads a company or a government agency has to do most of this type of thinking and policy-making himself. The press-relations officer can then articulate it effectively.

Anyone with the most meager knowledge of public relations might have told the President—if he cared to give time to such things—that everything a President does from the time he gets up in the morning till late at night is news. Hence if the only news that comes out—and too much of what the President has really done on public questions and problems has been suppressed—is about golf and vacations, then that's the impression the public will get of what he does with his time.

More than this, somebody has sold the President a gold brick on how he must conduct himself as a "leader." The "left wingers" have been needling him to have a series of rows with members of his own party, thus adding to the confusion they would like to see provoked. Persons of the opposite ideology have been needling him to take an ultra-conservative stand and let the chips fall where they may. The consequence has been that Mr. Eisenhower has become super-cautious, and has adopted a course in the middle of the road where he gets rocks from both sides.

Mr. Eisenhower instinctively dislikes political partisanship, but he hasn't shown the kind of indignation that should be manifested against the corruption, intrigue and treason that existed in the past administration. He is a sort of let-bygones-be-bygones person who, because of his excessive consideration for his predecessors, has not yet told the American people in what a mess he found the national government when he took office. Maybe if he had told—or still will tell—the American people the facts about the way he fouund things, they will not expect miracles overnight, and will be patient as he tries to clean up "the Washington mess." For it would seem incredible that the American electorate would be permitted to forget the disservice done the country by the corruption and traiterous conduct revealed to have occurred in the last administration.

Public Was Fed Up

The American people didn't vote Mr. Eisenhower into office just because he was popular or because the Republican party was popular, but because they were fed up with the Democratic administration. It was a negative verdict—not unlike that of 1932—and the consequence then was that the negative tide against the party which had been ousted continued to rise in 1934 and 1936. It could bring a higher Republican vote in 1954, but not if the Republican administration continues to hide its light under a bushel and ignores the political meaning of controversial problems. Nor can the President continue to think politics is just a minor matter in modern government from which he can remain aloof while a group of amateurs among his subordinates wrestle with "public relations" and he fails to come to grips with sundry questions himself.

Mr. Eisenhower is perhaps the most likable man who has been in the White House since Theodore Roosevelt captivated the affections of the American people. "Ike" wants to be fair, judicial, nonpartisan and modest, as he seeks conscientiously to make a good record which he hopes some day the people will know about. But he's been losing valuable time as against the groups that have been sniping at him. Their attacks should never have been ignored. For the best strategy in politics, as in the military game, is to go from a defensive to a counteroffensive at the earliest practicable moment. The Eisenhower administration is on the defensive today.

Matter Of Fact

Non-Transferrable Asset?

WASHINGTON

The authority which President Eisenhower must have, if he is to be the real leader of the Republican party, may be at stake in the forthcoming elections in New Jersey and California. For already Republicans in Congress are beginning to tell each other sadly (or jubilantly, in the case of the anti-Eisenhower Republican underground) that "Ike's popularity is a non-transferrable asset."

If this notion becomes fixed dogma, a great deal of trouble is certainly in store for the Republican administration from the already restive Republican party in Congress. If the congressional Republicans conclude that it does them no good to be for Eisenhower they are also likely to conclude it does them no harm to be against Eisenhower. And as has been clear even while Eisenhower's prestige has been unchallengeable, being against a President — any President — is a deeply ingrained Republican habit.

The idea that Eisenhower's popularity is "non-transferrable" was born, of course, in Wisconsin, where the defeated Republican candidate ran on a "support Eisenhower" platform. With the Connecticut municipal elections, the idea has taken somewhat deeper root. The Republican slogan in Connecticut was "support Eisenhower and Lodge" — and in many towns the Republicans took a bad shellacking. West Haven, for example, went Democratic for the first time since 1933.

A Democratic victory in New Jersey or California or both, therefore, could send the Republicans into a panicky tailspin, and deeply undermine the President's authority. There are, moreover, remarkable similarities between the special election in Wisconsin and the forthcoming New Jersey election to fill the vacated seat of Rep. Clifford Case.

Trouble-Shooter On Scene

Like the late Mervyn Hull in Wisconsin, Case is an extremely popular Republican with an unorthodox, liberal voting record. Like Hull, he was opposed by the regular organization — Case resigned when the organization blocked his bid for the gubernatorial nomination.

As in Wisconsin, the Democratic candidate is eagerly embracing the departed Republican. Democrat Harrison A. Williams is telling all and sundry that he is "running on Cliff Case's record," while the organization Republican candidate, George Hatfield, is telling the voters to "support Eisenhower."

Finally, as in Wisconsin, the Democrats have a ready-made issue. In Wisconsin, this is the unpopular farm policy of Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Benson. In New Jersey, it is the relationship between the Republican gubernatorial nominee, Paul Troast, and the convicted labor racketeer, Joseph Fay.

Here, to be sure, the similarity ends. The Wisconsin district has a long Progressive tradition, and has often gone Democratic in presidential elections. The New Jersey district has been solidly Republican, with only one slip, since the memory of man. In 1952 for example, the district went Republican by a lopsided vote of almost two to one.

Publicly, therefore, the Democrats are heavily discounting their chances. They are preparing to claim a psychological victory if the race is close. But privately, they think Williams has an outside chance. Apparently the Republicans think so too. A Citizens for Eisenhower committee is being revived locally to help Hetfield, and a Republican National Committee trouble-shooter, Bernard Lamb, has arrived on the scene for the same purpose.

Democrats Hopeful

The Democrats are also moderately hopeful about the California election, where they expect to profit by a split Republican vote. All in all, indeed, the Democrats are in a remarkably hopeful mood these days. The Democratic Congressional Committee has polled state leaders on the question: Do you know of a district where Democratic strength is below 1952? The committee claims that all answers, without exception, have been in the negative.

There is conversely, a noticeable atmosphere of suppressed gloom among the Republicans. Both gloom and hopefulness are certainly premature. But an upset in New Jersey or California, following on the heels of Wisconsin, could transform Republican gloom into desperation.

"Our people might get so panicky," one Republican has observed, "that they could end up with a give-away program which would make the Democrats look like pikers." But the greatest danger of a strong, visible trend to the Democrats is that the President's authority as party and national leader may be undermined.

Freezing Old Age Security

Congress will have to face early in its next session the issue of holding the rate of the old age security tax at one and a half per cent for employer and employe alike. Action to that effect would have to be retroactive: the law now calls for a two per cent rate as of January 1, 1954.

Representative Simpson (R., Pa.), a member of the House Ways and Means Committee and chairman of the House Republican Campaign Committee, said on October 21: "I do not believe that a Republican administration would wish to provide the reduction of taxes (income) for the higher and middle-income groups (also scheduled for January 1) while at the same time increasing taxes (social security) on the lower income groups."

President Eisenhower's tax program of last May called for postponement for one year of the social security tax raise scheduled for January. "It can and should be postponed," said the President, "for the old age and survivors trust fund has now reached $18 billion and receipts at present tax rates are in excess of current expenditures."

The original Social Security Act of 1935 provided a gradual step-up in old-age security rates to a maximum of three per cent each for employer and employe in 1949. However, Congress in 1940 postponed the scheduled rise to one and a half per cent each (from one per cent). In 1942 and each year thereafter until 1950 the rate was "frozen" at the level of one per cent each. A new schedule adopted in 1947 called for a rise of one-half per cent each in 1950, and this rise was allowed to go into effect. In 1950 the maximum of wages taxable for old age and survivors benefits was raised from $3,000 to $3,600.

Under the present legislation for stepping up contributions, the rate after reaching two per cent each in January, is to go to two and a half per cent in 1960, three per cent in 1965, three and a quarter per cent in 1970 and thereafter.

The scheduled rise of one half per cent each in January 1954 strikes much harder at the low income groups than at the middle or high income groups, for unlike the income tax, the social security tax rate is not graduated.

The rise would be $18 a year to anyone earning $5,600 or over. Its cost to a worker earning $2,500 a year would be $12.50. Representative Simpson makes the point that the latter, if he is married and has two children, now pays no income tax, and hence would not benefit by reduction of the income tax rate in January. And for many of those who do pay income tax in the lower brackets the result of income tax reduction and social security tax increase would be a net loss.

Freezing the social security tax rate would result in an estimated loss to the government's "cash" budget in fiscal 1954 of $250 million, and another $250 million in the first six months of fiscal 1955, but no loss at all to the government's "administrative" budget. In the "administrative" budget the income of the government's trust accounts, such as the old-age and survivors insurance fund, is segregated from other Treasury revenues.

Meantime, President Eisenhower has proposed extension of social security coverage to 10½ million additional workers. And at the same time, in his tax message, the President advocated financing of social security "more nearly on a pay-as-you-go basis."

The "Great American Game"?

With the 1953 football season now well under way, voices can be heard here and there suggesting that football, rather than baseball, be considered the national sport of these United States. After all, baseball has wide appeal also in other lands — such as Mexico, Cuba, Japan. But no other country plays football as this country knows it.

Also, baseball developed from the old English game of rounders and still bears some resemblance to it. But although U. S. football may have had its origins in soccer, in which the ball is only kicked, and then in rugby, in which the ball is carried, you'd need a high-powered microscope to detect much resemblance in our modern game of football to either soccer or rugby.

Something like soccer seems to have been played in early America. Records have been preserved of an intercollegiate game between Princeton and Rutgers in 1869. Each side had 25 players, and the winner was the first team to make six goals. There were 50 spectators.

In 1874 at Cambridge, Mass., Harvard played McGill University of Canada twice under McGill rules —that is, at rugby, and two years later four big Eastern colleges adopted rules for rugby. The field was reduced in length from 140 to 110 yards (to 100 in 1912) and was made narrower; each team was to consist of 11 instead of 15 players; modern scrimmage replaced the rugby scrimmage; and when the Intercollegiate Football Association was created in 1880, other changes made the game football.

The scoring was changed constantly (in 1883 a touchdown counted two points, goal after touchdown four, a field goal five). For a long time all that was needed for a first down was five yards' gain in three tries. Among those who called for "opening up" the game was President Theodore Roosevelt, and the forward pass was legalized in 1906, with many more restrictions than now.

Benson Reorganizes

Secretary of Agriculture Benson has moved to reorganize the department from top to bottom. The whole story is not yet told, but what he has announced so far sounds sensible. He made clear that the new scheme of things is not so rigid as not to give a little here and there if experience seems to warrant changes.

In general, the planning is toward a new simplicity —a regrouping of numerous activities under marketing, stabilization, credit and federal-state relations.

Marketing seems scheduled to be raised to higher importance because of a new hope. This hope is to hold down subsidies by increasing sales at home and abroad. More domestic consumption of farm products is to be the object of continued research for new uses for old crops. With the modern history of the soybean in mind, it seems obvious that one answer to the problem of surpluses is this technique of steering part of a crop into channels of commerce it never entered before.

How To Keep Well

Bottle Versus Breast

The battle between breast and artificial feeding continues and the longer the fight goes on the more obvious it becomes that the two plans must be evenly matched. The main advantage to breast feeding is psychological in that nursing satisfies a basic emotional need that cannot be achieved with the artificial method. The mother derives happiness from the sense of accomplishment which follows. Meanwhile the baby acquires a feeling of being loved, wanted, and protected.

Breast milk is said to contain more protective antibodies against disease. This has been demonstrated on many occasions, including a study on twin lambs; one suckled and the other brought up on a cow's milk formula. Tests showed a considerably higher number of antibodies in the suckling lamb than in the one fed artificially. This investigation confirms previous statistics showing that the breast-fed have fewer infections than do babies on a formula.

Meanwhile the proponents of bottle feeding have stressed the fact that a formula can be prepared which not only mimics but makes up for some of the defects in mother's milk. They point to statistics showing that artificially fed children gain more weight. Statistics often are misleading, however, because there is more to weight gain and to acquiring infections than what the child is eating.

When figures are obtained from foundling homes the results are hardly comparable with those that occur in your home and mine. The mother who takes the time to breast feed her infant also may be more careful in the attention given her child so that infections are kept to a minimum. Furthermore, when there are several brothers and sisters in the family, the opportunities for bring home a cold are greater. Even the psychological advantages of nursing may be nullified by a mother who is uncooperative, in a hurry, or negligent about fondling the child.

One interesting study along this line was reported recently by a Swedish pediatrician who obtained his results from a foundling home where many of the mothers remained to nurse their children. The bottle-fed infants were cared for by nurses and other personnel well trained in nursing care. Here was an condition because all the babies lived under the same roof and were subjected to the same external environment. The final outcome showed no difference in the number of infections between the artificially and breast-fed children.

Youngsters who were born between May 1 and July 31, however, had fewer respiratory disorders because they were well along before fall and winter set in with the usual seasonal rise in colds and flu, which had nothing to do with the type of feeding. Furthermore, the findings of the Swedish pediatrician paralleled those of other authorities who demonstrated that the incidence of respiratory infections is higher and the disease lasts longer as the children lose their natural immunity after the age of 6 months. This, too, has nothing to do with feeding.

On the other hand, breast-fed boys and girls outstripped the artificially fed in weight. Because both groups were being fed under ideal conditions the only conclusion reached is that breast feeding still is superior. After all, these artificially fed youngsters obtained their formulas from a specially trained staff who not only knew how to feed but how to prepare adequate and hygienic formulas.

VALVE SPASM

P. D. writes: What is meant by a spasm of the stomach?

REPLY

This type of spasm usually involves the muscular valve of the inlet (cardiac) or the outlet (pyloric) of the stomach. The most common causes are dietary indiscretions and nervousness.

IMPAIRED VISION

Mrs. Y. writes: Is retrolental fibroplasia permanent or is it possible for eyesight to improve later?

REPLY

Treatment is not successful after the condition appears because the basic fault is a developmental defect.

HEREDITY AND ANEMIA

W. C. writes: Is anemia inherited?

REPLY

The most common type, resulting from lack of iron or hemorrhage is not. But pernicious anemia has a tendency to "run in families." Cooley's, or Mediterranean anemia, is the best known familial type. At one time it was thought to exist only in the region of the Mediterranean sea, but after these people emigrated to various parts of the world, the disorder became widespread. This demonstrated that heredity, rather than geography, was the important factor.

"Winnie" Waxes Eloquent Over Mission To Moscow; Protocol Stumps Harry Truman; Tax Problems Continue To Worry Experts

WASHINGTON — John Foster Dulles, who has worked hard and bounced around the world more than any other secretary of State in pursuit of a more stable peace, came back from London none too happy. He did not succeed in his mission of dissuading Sir Winston Churchill from going to Moscow, but he did come back with renewed admiration for the grand old man of England.

Churchill convinced "Foster," as Ike calls him in cabinet meetings, that his trip to Moscow was not all personal vanity but rather to probe and exhaust every last possibility of understanding with the Soviet before throwing up our hands and admitting it's no go.

Unless the mission to Moscow is undertaken, Churchill told Foster, unless the French are convinced we have taken every possible step toward a Soviet agreement, the French will not ratify the United European Army Pact and the rest of Europe will not re-arm.

Churchill argued so eloquently that Dulles was almost convinced he was right. As a compromise, however, Dulles finally persuaded Churchill to put off the meeting for three months. He still thinks a meeting with Malenkov is kowtowing appeasement to the Russians, will only give Moscow a propaganda megaphone to shout insincere mouthings about peace.

NOTE — Meanwhile, the biggest debate going on inside the Pentagon is whether big land armies are hopeless for defending Europe, whether we should pull out our troops, depend on atomic defense and save money.

Harry's Humor

Leonard Lyons, the Broadway columnist, got a letter from Harry Truman the other day which recalled Truman's last dinner in the White House. His only guests were Leonard and Sylvia Lyons and old family friend Mrs. Florence Mahoney.

At the dinner Truman jokingly appointed Lyons as a judge and Mrs. Lyons as ambassador to Mexico — his last official acts.

Writing to his new appointees the other day, Truman began: "Dear Judge Leonard and Ambassador Sylvia Lyons:

"This salutation offends me because it violates protocol. An ambassador comes before a judge." In reply, Lyons wrote:

"Thanks for the belated confirmation of our appointments. Regarding the matter of protocol, you are referring to the old days in Washington. Today many things are backward, including protocol. Nowadays an ambassador comes after a judge and the President and secretary of State come after a senator from Wisconsin."

Tax Front

Taxes are still worrying the Ike administration. The tax experts don't quite know where to turn — for three good reasons:

1. The Treasury doesn't yet know how much it will have to raise for defense spending.

2. There's tremendous opposition to a sales tax — either in the form of a manufacturer's tax or in any other form.

3. There's evidence the economy is taking a deflationary turn.

Dr. Arthur Burns, head of Ike's Council of Economic Advisers, has warned that a slight business slump can be expected in the next three months. He doesn't think it will be dangerous, but he's put up a precautionary red flag.

As a result, the Treasury has abandoned the hard-money policy almost in toto. It almost broke sincere Secretary George Humphrey's heart to do it, but for the time being he's won over.

Meanwhile Humphrey's experts are toying with the idea of going to Congress with a staggered tax program. Instead of a lot of tax changes to become effective at one time, the changes would be strung out over a period of three years. This has the advantage of fighting one tax battle with Congress at one time, instead of every year, with taxes taking effect in different years.

Political Front

Republican leaders know in advance that Ike was planning his press conference bombshell taking himself out of local elections. They did their best to change his mind but failed.

Following the local Democratic victories in Connecticut and the congressional victory in Wisconsin, GOP leaders were especially eloquent in telling the White House that the Grand Old Party was in trouble. Not many of them, it's true, got in to see the President himself. Most saw Sherman Adams, or even lesser lights. They made little impression.

After the Wisconsin upset, White House aides calmly reminded the politicos that the Gallup Poll showed Ike more popular than ever. Sourly remarked one Republican leader, after talking to White House aide Homer Gruenther:

"It looks as if the White House wants a Democratic Congress."

It's true Ike has been getting better cooperation from Democrats on major issues than from the Republicans, but what GOP leaders are worried about is the organization of Congress and possible loss of committee chairmanships.

NOTE — Final straw clinching Ike's determination to keep out of local politics, was the Paul Troast letter asking for the release of labor racketeer Joey Fay from Sing Sing. Ike, who had been toying with the idea of campaigning in New Jersey, realized he might have been there when the Troast-Fay parole letter broke.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Understanding The Task

The existence of the Monmouth Spy Ring, despite all the congressional investigations and the trials in courts, establishes beyond doubt the superiority of the Russians in the fields of espionage and infiltration. They know how to do it. They keep at it. When one group has become expendable, they have ready another group to take its place.

American counter-espionage has not been effective. With few exceptions, it is hampered by ignorance. By that I mean that few Americans, either in government, in our universities or the press, have taken the trouble to study the theory, strategy and tactics of the world-wide Communist conspiracy. There is plenty of shouting and defaming but little real knowledge.

The Russians understand the American characteristic of easily becoming bored with the boresome. They therefore establish an apparatus which is like one of those toys they like so much in their country. Outside is a large box; you take one off and there is another box; you go on and on taking off boxes, until you have a tiny one. That is the hard core. That is what counts.

In the United States, for instance, the Communist party never reached much over 100,000 members; but a single front organization had a membership of 4,000,000. That front organization was the cover and beneath it were many other front organizations. To get at the hard core is difficult, but it is the hard core alone that counts. The task, in all studies, is to separate all the innocents, the opportunists, the fellow-travelers, the careerists from the study, so that the hard core may be uncovered.

This task is so difficult that although some very able work has been done in this technique, the data concerning the hard core is spotty, incomplete and inconclusive. If anyone knows a more effective way of doing it than by separating the sheep and goats from the foxes, he has not yet come up with a workable suggestion.

Many anti-Communists are so emotionally vindictive that they often, with the best of intentions, upset important developments by attacking the wrong people. For instance, in the studies of Hollywood apparatus, which was designed to give the Communists a treasury, some 300 persons, many of considerable prominence, were involved, most of whom were dupes and suckers being used as a protective cover for the effective hard core. Until a mechanism was devised to separate this intricate design, it as impossible to discover who were the manipulators and who were being manipulated.

Some anti-Communists take the totally unchristian attitude that errors once made may never be forgiven. They follow the strictly Stalinist technique that confession of error must always be public and even untruthful to satisfy those who are to do the forgiving, which they never do. Some factors come from experience:

Many persons who were once associated with Communist causes and espionage groups actually did not understand what they were doing because they did not understand the nature and strategy of this conspiracy, just as their critics do not. However, a prolonged discussion with them of their experiences provides invaluable leads to the hard core. This is slow and patient work and can only be done by trained technicians who have the time to give to it and the capacity for sympathetic understanding.

The violently vindictive approach drives such a person to cover. He clams up and his valuable information may be lost forever. It must always be borne in mind in such conversations that the individual, no matter how helpful he may want to be, does not really understand the nature of his experience.

How complex this problem is was evidenced by the effort of a most distinguished law firm in New York to have Robert Morris disqualified as a candidate for judicial office because of his exemplary work in uncovering the conspiracy within the Institute of Pacific Relations. There are great lawyers, generally so regarded, but they are babes in arms in their understanding of how they and others like them are used as covers in this vast conspiracy. They seek evidence where it cannot be because it has been removed as a crook wipes fingerprints away. And not having their kind of evidence, they cannot believe even the obvious. Earl Jowett wrote a book on Alger Hiss which proves how dumb a great lawyer can be in this field.

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—The drop of 10 points in President Eisenhower's popularity—from 75 per cent in mid-September to 65 per cent today, as reported in the latest Gallup Poll—will start considerable discussion of the probable causes.

As Dr. Gallup points out, it is not unusual for wide fluctuations in a President's popularity to be recorded during his administration. Thus Mr. Truman started out with an all-time high of 87 per cent in 1945 when he took office, and went down to 43 per cent at the end of the year, and actually hit a low of 32 per cent within 15 months before starting upward again, yet it will be recalled that he won his election in 1948.

Analyzing these reasons, they can be attributed in large part to the bad public relations at the White House. This doesn't mean that they haven't very good press-relations officers there, because they really have. But public relations isn't a mere matter of mechanics in the giving out of information. It was a negative verdict—not unlike that of 1932—and the consequence then was that the negative tide against the party which had been ousted continued to rise in 1934 and 1936. It could bring a higher Republican vote in 1954, but not if the Republican administration continues to hide its light under a bushel and ignores the political meaning of controversial problems. Nor can the President continue to think politics is just a minor matter in modern government from which he can remain aloof while a group of amateurs among his subordinates wrestle with "public relations" and he fails to come to grips with sundry questions himself.

Mr. Eisenhower is perhaps the most likable man who has been in the White House since Theodore Roosevelt captivated the affections of the American people. "Ike" wants to be fair, judicial, nonpartisan and modest, as he seeks conscientiously to make a good record which he hopes some day the people will know about. But he's been losing valuable time as against the groups that have been sniping at him. Their attacks should never have been ignored. For the best strategy in politics, as in the military game, is to go from a defensive to a counteroffensive at the earliest practicable moment. The Eisenhower administration is on the defensive today.

Matter Of Fact

Non-Transferrable Asset?

WASHINGTON

The authority which President Eisenhower must have, if he is to be the real leader of the Republican party, may be at stake in the forthcoming elections in New Jersey and California. For already Republicans in Congress are beginning to tell each other sadly (or jubilantly, in the case of the anti-Eisenhower Republican underground) that "Ike's popularity is a non-transferrable asset."

If this notion becomes fixed dogma, a great deal of trouble is certainly in store for the Republican administration from the already restive Republican party in Congress. If the congressional Republicans conclude that it does them no good to be for Eisenhower they are also likely to conclude it does them no harm to be against Eisenhower. And as has been clear even while Eisenhower's prestige has been unchallengeable, being against a President — any President — is a deeply ingrained Republican habit.

The idea that Eisenhower's popularity is "non-transferrable" was born, of course, in Wisconsin, where the defeated Republican candidate ran on a "support Eisenhower" platform. With the Connecticut municipal elections, the idea has taken somewhat deeper root. The Republican slogan in Connecticut was "support Eisenhower and Lodge" — and in many towns the Republicans took a bad shellacking. West Haven, for example, went Democratic for the first time since 1933.

A Democratic victory in New Jersey or California or both, therefore, could send the Republicans into a panicky tailspin, and deeply undermine the President's authority. There are, moreover, remarkable similarities between the special election in Wisconsin and the forthcoming New Jersey election to fill the vacated seat of Rep. Clifford Case.

Trouble-Shooter On Scene

Like the late Mervyn Hull in Wisconsin, Case is an extremely popular Republican with an unorthodox, liberal voting record. Like Hull, he was opposed by the regular organization — Case resigned when the organization blocked his bid for the gubernatorial nomination.

As in Wisconsin, the Democratic candidate is eagerly embracing the departed Republican. Democrat Harrison A. Williams is telling all and sundry that he is "running on Cliff Case's record," while the organization Republican candidate, George Hatfield, is telling the voters to "support Eisenhower."

Finally, as in Wisconsin, the Democrats have a ready-made issue. In Wisconsin, this is the unpopular farm policy of Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Benson. In New Jersey, it is the relationship between the Republican gubernatorial nominee, Paul Troast, and the convicted labor racketeer, Joseph Fay.

Here, to be sure, the similarity ends. The Wisconsin district has a long Progressive tradition, and has often gone Democratic in presidential elections. The New Jersey district has been solidly Republican, with only one slip, since the memory of man. In 1952 for example, the district went Republican by a lopsided vote of almost two to one.

Publicly, therefore, the Democrats are heavily discounting their chances. They are preparing to claim a psychological victory if the race is close. But privately, they think Williams has an outside chance. Apparently the Republicans think so too. A Citizens for Eisenhower committee is being revived locally to help Hetfield, and a Republican National Committee trouble-shooter, Bernard Lamb, has arrived on the scene for the same purpose.

Democrats Hopeful

The Democrats are also moderately hopeful about the California election, where they expect to profit by a split Republican vote. All in all, indeed, the Democrats are in a remarkably hopeful mood these days. The Democratic Congressional Committee has polled state leaders on the question: Do you know of a district where Democratic strength is below 1952? The committee claims that all answers, without exception, have been in the negative.

There is conversely, a noticeable atmosphere of suppressed gloom among the Republicans. Both gloom and hopefulness are certainly premature. But an upset in New Jersey or California, following on the heels of Wisconsin, could transform Republican gloom into desperation.

"Our people might get so panicky," one Republican has observed, "that they could end up with a give-away program which would make the Democrats look like pikers." But the greatest danger of a strong, visible trend to the Democrats is that the President's authority as party and national leader may be undermined.

Municipal Employes Union Asks Ousted Worker Be Reinstated

Local 812, Municipal Employes Union, asked the Mayor and Council Monday to re-instate with pay an employe at Constitution Park who had been furloughed September 11 despite seniority over other employes.

The letter to the council, signed by C. W. Shipes, president, identified the employe as James H. Thompson and added he had had five years' steady employment.

The letter said if reinstatement of Thompson made a reduction in force necessary that the newest man be furloughed.

The letter was referred to Commissioner Lucile W. Roeder after a brief discussion.

City Attorney Thomas B. Finan asked City Clerk Wallace G. Ullery, also secretary of the Civil Service Commission, if the case had been taken up before. Ullery said Thompson is classed as a permanent employe, but that the present case had not been presented.

Finan said it had been ruled some time ago that Thompson is a permanent employe, and he believed this to be the crux of the matter.

Reports read and filed included:

City Auditor Arthur B. Gibson in his report of receipts and disbursements for the quarter ending September 30, said receipts were $560,535.40 and the cash balance $342,725.97. Disbursements amounted to $492,414.20.

Meter Inspector Harry Whisner said collections increased $49.85 for the week October 11-18.

Water consumption for the week ending Sunday was 104,200,000 gallons compared to 89,050,000 the same period a year ago. The water level at Lake Gordon is one foot four inches below the crest of the spillway and at Lake Koon 20 feet below .

Checks were authorized for payment to James Rowan, 326 Emily Street, $28.56, for overpayment of taxes; and to the Church of God, $12, as a refund for an unused building permit.

Mrs. Roeder was authorized to advertise for bids on 2,950 feet of eight-inch terra cotta pipe and including 40 tees.

NAMED MANAGER — J. V. Matt, formerly of Cumberland, has been named manager of the Chestertown area for the C. and P. Telephone Company. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. P. F. Matt, 2 Broadway Circle.

SRC Lets Contract For Route 40 Work

The State Roads Commission has awarded a contract for another stretch of dual highway on Route 40 between Ridgeville and Frederick. Work is expected to commence soon.

Low bidder on the contract was F. P. Asher, Jr. & Sons, Inc. of Annapolis. His bid was $664,148.

This project includes grading, drainage and surfacing of a section of dual highway along the Baltimore-National Pike, a relocation of U. S. Route 40, beginning approximately 0.4 mile east of Ijamsville Road and extending westerly to the Monocacy River, for a distance of 2.35 miles.

The Houses of Parliament in London contain 266 clocks, all synchronized with Big Ben. An official checks the clocks daily.

Bedford Street Sewer Statute Delayed

A notice of an ordinance for sewering went only to its first reading today because a full membership of the Mayor and Council was not present.

The ordinance notice, which provides for sewering and otherwise improving Bedford Street from Miller Avenue to Bedford's intersection at the city limits, came before council yesterday.

Council had hoped to pass the notice but City Attorney Thomas B. Finan pointed out a unanimous vote is necessary. The final vote was delayed until next week when Commissioner Lucile Roeder, absent because of a death in the family, will return.

Finan said this action will also require an amendment changing the hearing date from November 9 to November 16.

Local 212, International Association of Machinists, wrote council commending it for its action in opposing wanton destruction of houses and property during flood control work. The Association said it recognized the benefits to be derived from the project but thought property destruction unnecessary.

The law firm of Piper and Marbury wrote the city requesting an agreement with Standard Oil Company on the use of a large triangular piece of property in the Narrows. Finan explained the property lies on the west (right) side of Route 40 just north of the bridge in the Narrows. The city has an easement and had planned to beautify the section in connection with flood work being done there. The government is taking care of that phase and it had been suggested picnic tables be installed. Finan said Standard Oil is interested in making certain its service station is not obstructed from view of motorists.

Mayor Roy W. Eves was authorized to sign the agreement.

Spotlight Hunters Are Fined $100

They were Eugene Smith and Russell Croscoe, Kingwood, W. Va., and James Riggleman, of Kitzmiller.

Regional Game Warden Joseph A. Minke said that since the hunting season has opened a total of five deer have been found dead in the woods from gunshot wounds.

Police Coat Bids Received

The Mayor and Council received bids on 50 reefers (coats) for the Police Department and a leaf mulcher for Constitution Park yesterday.

Two firms entered bids on the Police Department apparel. Metro Clothes bid $52.75 each and Schwarzenbach's $54.25 each. Samples of cloth were enclosed with bids which were referred to Police and Fire Commissioner John J. Long. Long said cloth will be tested.

Referred to Commissioner Lucile W. Roeder was the $580 bid of Cosgrove Cycle Company for the leaf mulcher.

Council also accepted the bid of Donald M. McGill to repair the Canada Hose House for $2,151.90.

Smoker Planned Today

A smoker will be held today at 9 p. m. in the home of Cumberland Council 586, Knights of Columbus, for members and friends. J. Paul Nose, chairman, said two films including the highlights of the Pittsburgh Steelers Football games of 1952 will be shown.

AFL Meeting Set

The Allegany Trades Council will meet today at 7:30 p. m. in Trades Council Hall, Frederick Street.

Gephart School PTA Committees Named

Committee chairmen for the Gephart School Parent-Teacher Association were announced by President W. Earle Lawyer at the initial meeting of the organization for the school year last week.

The chairmen are: Program, Max Heming; membership, Mrs. Clifton Van Roby and Mrs. R. A. Stine; hospitality, Mrs. Albert Windish and Cedric Miller; publicity, Mrs. Benjamin Lewis.

Health, Mrs. Richard Williams; music, Mrs. Jack Siehler and Mrs. Dorothy Palmer; refreshments, Mrs. Cedric Miller and Mrs. Gladys Sills; adult study group, Mrs. Lester Hendricks and Mrs. Elmer Diggs.

Recreation, Mrs. Blanche Ridgway; spiritual life, Carl Johnson and Kenneth Beck; finance, Kenneth Shafer and Mrs. Byron Kight; PTA Newsletter, Mrs. Dorothy Batdorf; ventilation, George Ward.

Legislative, Harry Cornelius and Miss Marian Bevans; safety, Elmer Diggs; budget, Miss Elizabeth Flake; magazine, Mrs. Edward Kirk and typists, Mrs. R. E. Shelton and Harry Jackle.

Plans were made for the year's projects which include the purchase of a new motion picture projector; new drapes for the auditorium and a portable typewriter for the use of the school.

Byron Kight, vice president, announced the PTA would sponsor a "Fun for Family" night November 13 in the auditorium. Included will be a stage show and refreshment booths.

Mrs. Byron Kight announced that a rummage sale is being arranged for a future date.

Mrs. Elmer Diggs spoke in behalf of the Adult Study Club and issued an invitation to all interested parents to meet in the school cafeteria Wednesday, October 28, at 2 p .m.

The need of a Brownie Troop was outlined by Mrs. Monroe Sharer. She appealed for volunteer leaders.

A report on the state PTA conference at College Park this past summer by Mrs. Earle Lawyer highlighted the necessity of making the child feel secure at home.

Music and songs were presented by Mrs. Jack Siehler and Mrs. Dorothy Palmer. Max Heming, program chairman, conducted a safety program. The duties and responsibilities of the school safety patrol were outlined by Donna Stine, captain of the patrol; and Alan Kirk, lieutenant. Kenneth Mingle, school bus driver, spoke of his role in the safety of children.

Club Group Is Holding Masquerade

The Cumberland Country Club Playground Association is holding a masquerade dance Saturday evening at the club.

A grand march will be a feature of the evening and judges will select the costume winners and award prizes.

Dancing will be to music by Marty Flynn and his orchestra, beginning at 9:30 o'clock. The Halloween decorations are being carried out with jack-o-lanterns, corn stalks and goblins.

Mrs. Paul Castelle is chairman of arrangements.

Young Business Women To Have Halloween Party

An initiation ceremony and Halloween party will be held by the Young Business Women's Club tomorrow evening. It will be at Central YMCA.

Mrs. Barbara Merritt, chairman, Miss Joan Nichols and Miss Ellen Newnam are the committee in charge of arrangements.

Attend State Meeting

Two local women attended the luncheon meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary of the Maryland Chiropractic Association, held at Carvel Hall, Annapolis. They are Mrs. G. Frank Malin, city; and Mrs. Adam Baer, Frostburg.

The guest speaker was Mrs. E. A. Thompson, Catonsville, who told of her recent trip to Europe.

Legislative Platform To Be Presented

Miss Olive Simpson, chairman of legislation, will present the proposed legislative program of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women at the regular dinner meeting of the Cumberland BP Women Club tonight. The meeting is being held at 5:30 o'clock in Central YMCA. Miss Gerardine Pritchard will preside.

On the legislative platform are the Equal Rights Amendment, jury service for women, equal pay for comparable work and removal of and prevention of discriminations on the basis of age, sex or marital status.

The speaker is to point out that the federation supports legislation within the framework of the United States Constitution to implement a foreign policy which promotes peace and national security, opposes compulsory government controlled health insurance and medical care, and approves civil service appointment based on competitive examinations, except for the five and ten preference points allowed veterans and retention and promotion of employes based on efficiency and the length of service.

Balloting in the program primary will also be held to determine the 1954 program suggestions. "Buzz" sessions will be conducted to facilitate discussion prior to the voting.

Other members of the Legislation committee are Mrs. Emma Everstine, co-chairman, Miss Margaret Walsh, Miss Marion Dennison and Miss Myra Nefflen.

Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Zembower and their daughter, motored their daughter-in-law back to Salisbury, where their son is manager of a theater.

Society Plans Yule Projects

The WSCS of Flintstone Church formulated plans for the Zone 2 meeting. It will be held November 3 at the Flintstone Church from 10 until 3 o'clock. Mrs. H. V. Bender presided and the group accepted the invitation of the Pleasant Grove society to attend its Halloween masquerade party. Plans also were made to attend the district meeting in Charles Town, W. Va.

As its Christmas project, the society will pack a box of children's clothing for the child care center at Mt. Vernon Place Church, Baltimore. It also contributed $5 toward supply work in Africa. November 1 was set for the Week of Prayer program.

The theme for the devotional was "Faith of Our Fathers," it was conducted by Mrs. Laurence F. Kyle. The rural mission of the church in Mexico was discussed by Mrs. Lawrence Smith; in India, by Mrs. Mabel Bible and in South America by Mrs. Kyle. Mrs. Ruland Gilson and Mrs. Bible were hostesses for the social hour.

Central To Mark "Quiet Day"

The annual "Week of Prayer and Self Denial" will be observed in the form of a "Quiet Day," by Central WSCS today, beginning at 10:30. Mrs. Frank Perdew is in charge of the service.

Proceeds from the offerings are to be used for projects which will be discussed at a service at 7:30 tomorrow evening, with Mrs. Vernon Northcraft in charge.

Case Of Paralytic Granted Driver's License Probed

BALTIMORE, Oct. 26 (AP)—The State Department of Motor Vehicles acknowledged today it was investigating the circumstances under which a man obtained a driver's license although a "spastic paralytic."

Two months later he was involved in an accident in which two women were killed.

Records showed Daniel Walderman, 32, of Baltimore wrote "spastic paralytic — no loss of coordination" on his application for a driver's license last June 29.

His application was approved July 10 after he failed one examination but passed another five days later.

On Oct. 11 Walderman was driving on U. S. 140 near Pikesville when his car suddenly veered to the right, struck a post, and shot back across the four-lane highway into a head-on collision with another car.

Miss Barbara Zeller, 21, and Mrs. Bessie M. Taborsky, 64, passengers in the other car, were killed. Two others were injured, one of them an elderly woman who still is in serious condition in a hospital.

Walderman only slightly hurt, was charged with manslaughter and failure to keep to the right of the center line. Prosecution of the charges has been held in abeyance.

The Motor Vehicles Department acknowledged it had several protests about Walderman being granted a license.

Records there show that he was not required to appear before the department's medical advisory board after he noted his condition on his application.

Dr. Eldridge H. Wolff of Cambridge, chairman of the advisory board, said he felt it would be reasonable to assume that any spastic paralytic should be referred to his group before being granted a license.

The illness, Dr. Wolff said, has many degrees and only an examination could determine whether a victim still was qualified to drive.

Teller Will Go On Trial Today

BALTIMORE, Oct. 26 (AP)—Victor H. McSherry Jr., charged with embezzling $28,000 from the Nicodemus National Bank at Hagerstown while working there as a teller, is scheduled to go on trial in Federal court here tomorrow.

The FBI announced when it arrested McSherry last Jan. 10 that he had admitted taking the money. He pleaded innocent when he was arraigned, however.

The trial will be before Judge W. Calvin Chesnut. Irving M. Einbinder of Hagerstown is defense attorney.

McSherry is 26 and the father of three children. He once served as a finance officer in the Air Force. He worked for the bank about 15 months.

S. Scott Alden, special agent in charge of the FBI office here, announced at the time of the arrest McSherry had taken the money between April and December of 1952 by altering deposit tickets and cashing false checks drawn on a Hagerstown business firm.

McSherry has been free on $3,000 bond since his arraignment, working as a filling station attendant and stock room clerk.

Jurors Consider Baltimore Probe

BALTIMORE, Oct. 26 (AP)—The grand jury today studied proposals that it investigate the city administration of Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro.

No conclusion was announced immediately.

Virtually the same question was under study by the Commission on Governmental Efficiencey and Economy, a private organization financed by business leaders, which has operated on the Baltimore scene for more than 30 years.

The idea of a grand jury probe was initiated by Hyman Pressman, Baltimore attorney whose inquiring resulted in grand jury bribery and fraud presentments last week against ten men involved in the city's off-street parking program.

The idea that the investigating should be done by the private commission was advanced by Mayor D'Alesandro himself. He promised the commission his fullest cooperation and the necessary funds.

Pressman sent the grand jury a telegram today saying the mayor's suggestion did not affect his request for permission to appear before it and state his reasons why it should undertake an investigation.

A short time later, the jurors called in State's Attorney Anselm Sodaro for an unusual 30-minute conference.

Sodaro said afterwards the grand jury had taken up specifically Pressman's request.

Pressman had earlier described D'Alesandro request for the Efficiency and Economy inquiry as "an act of desperation" to head off a grand jury probe.

Arthur Price, City Council president and a constant D'Aleasndro critic, called it "a quick maneuver" to avert a grand jury inquiry.

The mayor said both Pressman and Price were motivated by selfish political considerations.

Fire Patrolman Charged With Setting Blazes, Theft

BALTIMORE, Oct. 26 (AP)— You can imagine how frustrated Alton E. Fuhrer felt about his job.

Here he was a special policeman and professional fire guard, hired by downtown business firms to watch their places at night. How could he impress his clients that he was doing a good job?

About 11:30 on the night of Oct. 8, Fuhrer came dashing out of a garden shop he was hired to watch, ducked into the St. James hotel next door, and turned in a fire alarm.

He raced through the hotel waking guests and shooing them out to the street while firemen battled the $13,000 blaze. The 38-year-old special policeman was quite a hero.

Another place Fuhrer watched was a beauty parlor not far away. Andre Scheneebeli, proprietor of the place, was plagued by petty thefts. He marked three bills and left them lying around the shop last Saturday.

The bills disappeared over the week-end.

Police Lt. Thomas Mooney testified in police court today he found the bills—on Fuhrer.

And, Mooney reported, talk of thefts turned to talk of fires. The policeman said Fuhrer admitted setting fires to impress his clients with his alertness.

Fuhrer was arraigned on charges of setting the blaze at the garden shop and another which burned out a downtown store on Oct. 15, 1950.

"Not intentionally," he pleaded when one charge was read out against him before the magistrate.

"Not guilty intentionally," he said to the other.

"I'm sorry I did it."

Cursing Magistrate Costs Negro $25

HAGERSTOWN, Md., Oct. 26 (AP) — Robert Kines, 33-year-old Negro, today was fined $25 and costs for cursing a magistrate and using obscene language in a courtroom.

The penalty was imposed by Magistrate Paul Ottinger, who was the object of the Kines wrath last Saturday.

Kines was a spectator at the hearing of an assault case involving one of his friends. After it was over, in a hallway outside the courtroom, he was heard to threaten a witness who had appeared in the case.

Brought immediately into court on a charge of threatening a witness, Kines was sentenced to 90 days in jail.

That was when he upbraided the judge, threatening to hit him. Magistrate Ottinger stepped down from the bench, took off his glasses and waited. Nothing happened. He charged Kines with the two offenses on which he was tried today.

Naval Academy Plebe Missing Since Oct. 20

ANNAPOLIS, Oct. 26 (AP)—A Midshipman who entered the Naval Academy only this fall disappeared from the hospital here Oct. 20 and has not been heard from since, Academy officials said today.

He was identified as William Norman Dietch, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Phillip W. Dietch of 154 Pomona Ave.) Fairlawn, N. J., who was due to be discharged from the hospital the day he disappeared.

He was admitted for a bronchitis condition Sept. 26. His disappearance was set at sometime during the early morning hours.

Dietch began classes with the new plebes (freshmen) only Sept. 8.

Lookout notices have been out since the disappearance, but officials said "there has been no word from him since." His parents visited the Academy last week.

Harrington To Seek Attorney Generalship

BALTIMORE, Oct. 25 (AP) — A former speaker of the Maryland House of Delegates is the first to announce for Democratic nomination as state attorney general.

T. Barton Harrington, 56-year-old Baltimore attorney, said Saturday he had mailed the necessary papers and fee for the candidacy to the secretary of state.

The first paint color actually to be compounded from inorganic substances was the so-called "Egyptian blue" which was sold as early as 3000 B.C.

Engraver, Wife Die In Car Crash

FREDERICK, Oct. 26 (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. John Louis Glatzel of Baltimore were killed today when their car went out of control on U. S. 40 east of here near Poplar Springs.

Glatzel, 62, was an engraver for the Baltimore News-Post and Sunday American.

Both he and his wife were pronounced dead on arrival at Frederick Memorial Hospital.

State Trooper Frank Badger reported the car apparently went out of control on the dual highway and turned over five or six times.

No other car was involved in the accident and the Glatzel car apparently did not hit anything.

The smashup was about 12:30 p. m. not far from the end of the stretch of dual highway which runs west from Baltimore toward Frederick. It was near the intersection of the Poplar Springs road in Howard county.

Servicemen Return

Two area servicemen will arrive at Seattle, Wash., today aboard the transport Marine Serpent, arriving with 2,600 others from the Far East. They are Cpl. Troy Campbell, Route 1, Cumberland; and Major Harry W. Baker, East Main Street, Frostburg.

September Payroll Increase Is Noted

The payroll figure for September in Cumberland's 17 industries showed an increase over August although the number of persons employed shows a decrease over the same periods.

In a monthly report of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce, the September payroll this year was $3,441,236 in comparison to an August figure of $3,426,748. A decrease of 506 persons on the payrolls of the industries was noted in the report. During September 11,291 persons were employed while 11,797 were employed in August. In September of 1952, 11,832 persons were employed and the payroll for that month was $3,543,386.

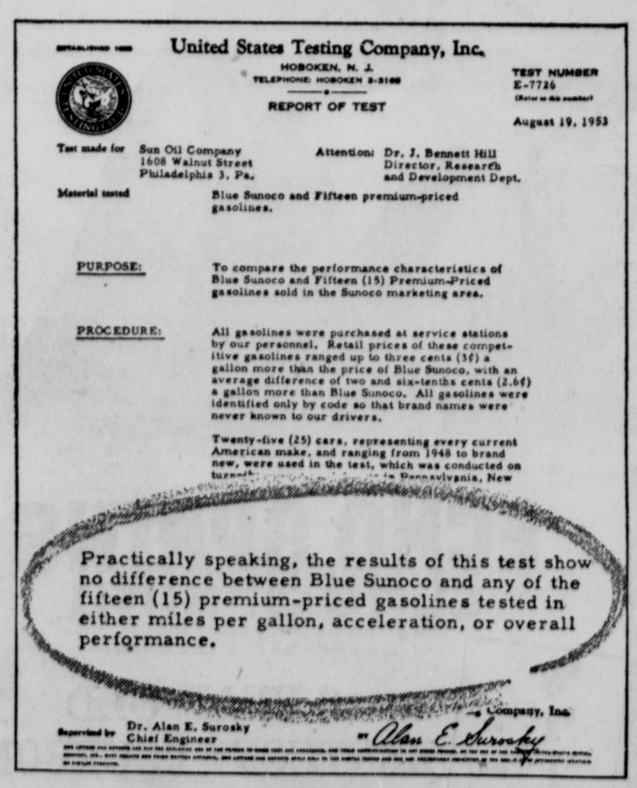
ROAD TESTED AGAINST 15 PREMIUM-PRICED GASOLINES

Blue Sunoco Delivers up to 12.4% More Miles Per Dollar



United States Testing Company, Inc.
HOBOKEN, N. J.
TELEPHONE: HOBOKEN 3-5100
TEST NUMBER E-7726
REPORT OF TEST
August 19, 1953

Test made for: Sun Oil Company, 1608 Walnut Street, Philadelphia 3, Pa. Attention: Dr. J. Bennett Hill, Director, Research and Development Dept.

Material tested: Blue Sunoco and Fifteen premium-priced gasolines.

PURPOSE: To compare the performance characteristics of Blue Sunoco and Fifteen (15) Premium-Priced gasolines sold in the Sunoco marketing area.

PROCEDURE: All gasolines were purchased at service stations by our personnel. Retail prices of these competitive gasolines ranged up to three cents (3¢) a gallon more than the price of Blue Sunoco, with an average difference of two and six-tenths cents (2.6¢) a gallon more than Blue Sunoco. All gasolines were identified only by code so that brand names were never known to our drivers.

Twenty-five (25) cars, representing every current American make, and ranging from 1948 to brand new, were used in the test, which was conducted on turnpike in Pennsylvania, New Practically speaking, the results of this test show no difference between Blue Sunoco and any of the fifteen (15) premium-priced gasolines tested in either miles per gallon, acceleration, or overall performance.

Supervised by Dr. Alan E. Surosky, Chief Engineer — Company, Inc. Alan E. Surosky

5-state road tests conducted by U. S. Testing Co. reveal Blue Sunoco gives more miles per dollar, matches acceleration and performance of 15 brands costing up to 3¢ more per gallon

With Sunoco dealers reporting a steady increase in their gasoline sales, it's evident that U. S. motorists are impressed by these road test results: Of the 16 gasolines tested by U. S. Testing Co., High-Test Blue Sunoco, the only regular-priced brand, gave up to 12.4% more miles per dollar, matched them all for acceleration and performance.

For over 25 years, Sun Oil Company has produced one—and only one—highest quality gasoline. This policy results in a superior, premium-performing product at regular gas price.

Make the 10 gallon test

But the proof of any gasoline is how it performs in your car. Try 10 gallons of Blue Sunoco and see for yourself the difference it makes in miles per dollar. Drive in today at the Sunoco sign!

Art Ehlers Named General Manager Of Baltimore Orioles

Signs 3-Year Contract With New A. L. Club

Transfers From A's; DeWitt Will Direct Oriole Farm Teams

By GEORGE BOWEN

BALTIMORE, Oct. 26 (AP) — Art Ehlers, who was a 6-year-old kid playing in Baltimore streets when major league baseball left here, was hired today to be general manager of the Orioles' return to the American League next season.

Ehlers brings to the new organization which succeeds the St. Louis Browns a background of 16 years as a baseball official, the last two as general manager of the Philadelphia Athletics.

Gets Three-Year Pact

His contract with the Athletics had expired and he agreed to a three-year pact with the Orioles.

"The extent of his compensation will depend largely upon the success of the club in Baltimore," said Clarence W. Miles, a whirlwind of a lawyer who masterminded purchase and transfer of the Browns on Sept. 29.

Miles explained that the 56-year-old Ehlers will be paid a flat salary, undisclosed, plus a bonus depending on attendance.

"Ehlers will have complete authority to run the ball club," Miles continued. "I would assume he would tie in with us as far as financial matters are concerned, but just as long as he doesn't mortgage the ball club he will have free rein."

Miles is to head a group of financiers putting up $2,475,000 to buy controlling interest of the Browns. It also has promised to put up more money "for additional player material," saying "The old St. Louis policy of selling players to get cash to operate on is a thing of the past."

Ehlers became general manager of the Athletics in 1950 when Connie Mack quit. He had been directing the farm system of the Athletics since 1947.

DeWitt To Run Farms

Bill DeWitt, a vice president and former owner of the Browns, will have that job for the Orioles, Miles said. A contract which DeWitt had with the Browns, still has three years to run.

The next major Orioles appointment is that of field manager. Marty Marion still has a year to go on his St. Louis contract.

Ehlers, who will make the decision, and Miles both said no discussion has been held yet about whether Marion will be retained.

"You've got to say that he is the manager at the moment," Ehlers said. He added he expects to talk to Marion in a week or 10 days.

Ehlers revealed it had long been his ambition to return to his home city with a major league baseball connection. He had intended to buy a house here this year even though he remained with the Athletics, he said.

He was born here Jan. 22, 1897. The Baltimore Orioles lost their American League franchise to the New York Yankees in 1903.

Owned Pocomoke Club

Ehlers played sandlot baseball before the first World War. He became an official in 1937 by owning Pocomoke, Md., in the Class D. Eastern Shore League. Two years later, he was joint owner of Reading, Pa., in the Interstate League. He sold out in 1940 and for the next five years was president of the league.

Leahy Hospitalized, McArdle In Charge

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Oct. 26 (AP)—Joe McArdle and other assistant coaches were in charge of Notre Dame football practices today as Head Coach Frank Leahy remained hospitalized.

Leahy, who collapsed from a muscular spasm during halftime of the Georgia Tech game Saturday, was reported resting comfortable. Further diagnostic tests were to be made as a precautionary measure. Hospital attendants said he probably would be released in a few days.

As usual, Notre Dame regulars were given Monday off while reserves engaged in scrimmage. Much time was spent on pass defense as preparations started for Saturday's game with Navy.

Luke's Boys Injured In Touch Grid Game

Eddie Baldwin and Bill Whetzel will be lost to Luke's Boys touch football team for the remainder of the season as the result of injuries suffered in Sunday's game with the Blue Devils.

Baldwin suffered a twisted knee and Whetzel has a broken ankle.

Grid Social Set

Hubert J. Feeney, secretary of the Potomac Valley Football Officials Association, announces there will be a social session for coaches, officials, press and radio in the Recreation room of the Cumberland Brewing Company Wednesday at 8 p. m.

Officials Named For 25th Allegany-LaSalle Contest

Shelton, Gaffney, Blough, Feeney To Work Friday Game

HEADS ORIOLES — Art Ehlers, Baltimore native and general manager of the Philadelphia Athletics, was named general manager of the new Baltimore Orioles of the American League yesterday. Ehlers' appointment with a three-year contract was announced by C. V. Miles, president of the syndicate which bought the St. Louis Browns and moved them to Baltimore. Terms were not announced.

Officials for the second intra-city football game of the season, that between LaSalle and Allegany Friday night at the stadium, were announced last night by Hubert J. Feeney, secretary of the Potomac Valley Football Officials' Association.

The arbiters requested for this game are John Shelton, Jim Gaffney, John Blough and Feeney.

Both LaSalle and Allegany will put five-game winning streaks on the line when they tangle on the gridiron for the 25th time.

LaSalle lost its opener to Fort Hill, 7-0, while Allegany dropped its initial game to Patterson Park High of Baltimore, 12-6.

The loss to Fort Hill was LaSalle's 20th in 21 starts. In fact, the Explorers have never beaten Fort Hill. The 1938 game was a 0-0 deadlock. From 1932 through 1935, LaSalle's record against Penn Avenue was 2-1-1.

Last year LaSalle's 19-7 win over the Campers was the first in 10 outings. Their 1947 contest ended 12-12.

In 24 meetings the Campers hold a 16-6 lead over the Explorers in games won. Two contests ended in tie scores.

The LaSalle-AHS series was launched in 1928 when Arthur Slocum and Walter L. Bowers were the coaches.

Broke Off Relations

These schools inaugurated the Thanksgiving Day games but they broke off grid relations in 1934 following a dispute over player eligibility rules. Penn Avenue took LaSalle's place in the Turkey Day tilt that year and lost 14-6 but won the 1935 contest 20-6. Fort Hill and AHS have been meeting in the holiday contest since 1936. The split between LaSalle and Allegany lasted three years before relations were resumed in 1937.

LaSalle's record against Allegany in six Thanksgiving Day games was 3-2-1.

Here are the scores of the 24-game series:

1928—Allegany	59-0	1943—LaSalle	9- 0
1929—Allegany	7-0	1944—Allegany	39-12
1930—LaSalle	6-0	1944—Allegany	27- 0
1931—LaSalle	13-7	1945—Allegany	38- 6
1932—LaSalle	7-6	1945—Allegany	32-13
1933—0-0	Tie	1946—Allegany	25-12
1937—Allegany	14-0	1947—12-12	Tie
1938—Allegany	52-6	1948—Allegany	36- 6
1939—Allegany	30-0	1949—Allegany	32-13
1940—LaSalle	6-3	1950—Allegany	13- 0
1941—Allegany	28-6	1951—Allegany	32- 2
1942—Allegany	35-12	1952—LaSalle	19- 7

As You Were

(This is the 167th in a series of sketches with pictures of well known sport personalities of the past from the album of the Cumberland News Sports Editor. See if you can identify them by their photo.)

This series would not be complete without something about this former baseball player who will mark his fifty-ninth birthday tomorrow.

He's a native of Cumberland and when a youngster he owned quite a collection of marbles because he was the local marbles champion. As a teenager he was a tight wire walker, performed in shows at the old Cumberland Academy of Music and once appeared in a special act in one of the famed Charles K. Chapman's stage productions.

This picture was taken about 1916 before he enlisted in the Navy for the First World War. At that time he was manager and left fielder of the Cumberland Collegians. Before that he played for a local team known as the Chestnut Burrs.

Other members of the Collegians were George "Brindle" Long, Joe Becker, Dale Kirby, Leo Zitzman, Jesse "Lefty" Bell, Lawrence Volk, Heinie Hoffman, Curt Beckwith, Ralph Clark and Raymond Kean.

He sported a nifty moustache (not the handlebar type) for many years.

This fellow has been connected with sports in Baltimore and Cumberland as a player, manager, official, coach and instructor.

Does he look familiar? Well, what's his name?

He's Raymond "Ike" Law, one of the original members of the "Gas House Gang." He was born on North Mechanic street back in the days when the gas house was located there. Law's last baseball managerial job was with the Colts in 1919. He also managed the famed Cumberland Bulldogs, pro football team; coached Lasalle's only W.M.I. Basketball League championship team in 1927, promoted college cage contests here, officiated basketball games, excelled as a bowler, taught many persons how to swim and came near swimming under the ice in the Potomac River but the gendarmes restrained him from doing so. "Ike" now serves as a one-man committee, visiting the sick at homes and hospitals and he's doing a swell job.

Giardello Wins

BROOKLYN, Oct. 26 (AP) — Joey Giardello, high-ranking Philadelphia middleweight contender, finished strong tonight to punch out an unanimous decision over Walter Cartier of New York in a telecast 10-rounder at Eastern Parkway Arena. Giardello, a 9-5 favorite, weighed 158½ to Cartier's 160.

This was a bruising battle all the way and just about even through the first six rounds. Then Giardello's combination punches proved too much for the left-hooking Cartier.

New Defensive Alignment Pays Off For Irish

Results Tremendous From Defensive "I"

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN

CHICAGO, Oct. 26 (AP)—Notre Dame is getting tremendous results from a new, mobile defensive alignment that was developed two weeks ago by accident.

Technically, it is so simple that less time is required teaching defensive formations during practices. The time saved can be put to use elsewhere on team preparations.

It is proving a boon to the coaching staff in drilling players for double - duty performance under the new one - platoon system.

It could be called the "defensive I." Three players are the key.

Guard Menil Mavraides is in the line. Immediately behind him, like offense, is center Jim Schrader. Hinged onto Schrader from behind is guard Ray Lemek, Notre Dame's only sophomore regular.

It looks similar to the "I" offense Notre Dame employed occasionally in the past, with two or more backs lined up directly behind center.

When the opposing center snaps the ball, this Notre Dame defensive pattern explodes. Schrader may go one way into the line and Lemek another. Or they may both hit the same side. Or they may go wide.

"They just roam and run," explained Line Coach Joe McArdle. "Their objective is to get to the ball. It is up to them to judge entirely for themselves what to do. This eliminates teaching them set defensive moves. They are out here on their own and so far have done a fine job."

Always alert to complement the maneuver stemming out of the "I" are the defensive halfbacks and other linebackers who are lined up in orthodox fashion in the secondary.

Maryland Eyes 7th Straight

Gamecocks Meet Terps Saturday

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Oct. 26 (AP) — Maryland's undefeated football team, ranked second in the nation, eyed victory No. 7 today as it prepped for Saturday's homecoming game against South Carolina.

South Carolina has been undefeated since losing its opener to Duke.

Coach Jim Tatum pronounced "everyone in good shape" as he put the various teams through an intensive 1 hour 45 minute scrimmage, the last 10 minutes under the lights.

Each string put in an hour's scrimmage, half on offense, half on defense, with the remainder of the time given to dummy drill, passing and reaction drills.

The regular Monday night session included movies of last Friday night's 30-0 win over Miami and scouting reports on South Carolina.

Little Canadians Edge Rolling Mill By Score Of 19-18

The Little Canadians nosed out the Rolling Mill, 19-18, Carver topped the Little Campers, 12-6, and Penn Avenue walloped the Little Sentinels, 36-12, in games played yesterday in the Junior High Division of the City Touch Football League.

After battling to an 18-18 tie in regulation time, the Little Canadians scored the extra point by gaining the most yardage in four downs. It was the fifth victory for the unbeaten league leaders.

Rankin accounted for four of Penn Avenue's six touchdowns.

The results:

At Stitcher Field:

Scoring touchdowns in the first, third and fourth periods, Coach Joe Pellerzi's unbeaten Fort Hill High School junior varsity gridders added Keyser High's Jayvees to their growing list of victims by trimming the Mineral Countians to the tune of 18-7 yesterday at Fort Hill.

The triumph was the fifth of the season for the Little Sentinels and extended their two-year winning streak to eleven games.

Johnny Kessler, left halfback, gave Fort Hill a 6-0 lead in the opening period when he broke away and scored on a 50-yard run.

Keyser, however, forged to the front at 7-6 early in the third period when "Butch" Zacot intercepted a pass and covered 43 yards for a touchdown. Taylor kicked the extra point.

Donnie Hammersmith plunged over from the one later in the period to decide the issue. Donnie also ran up the middle for 10 yards to account for the Little Sentinels' final six-pointer in the last quarter.

Hammersmith was Fort Hill's backfield standout while Ronnie Shaffer excelled at a wing position.

Comets Top Terps In Overtime Battle, Win 5th Straight

The Comets eked out a 13-12 decision over the Terps in an overtime battle Sunday at Penn Avenue Field to keep their record unblemished in the Men's Division of the City Recreation Touch Football League.

Gaining more yardage than the opposition in four downs enabled the Comets to bag their fifth straight decision after the regulation game ended 12-all.

The Clowns defeated the Red Raiders, 48-12, and the Blue Devils split in a pair of games, beating Luke's Boys, 24-6 and losing to the B. & O. Bulldogs, 18-12.

The results:

West Virginia Moves To Fifth Place In AP Weekly Grid Poll

Notre Dame Retains Lead; Maryland 2nd, Followed By Baylor

By WILL GRIMSLEY

NEW YORK, Oct. 26 (AP)—Notre Dame's victory over Georgia Tech brought a new wave of popularity today for the Fighting Irish, who tightened their grip on the No. 1 spot in the Associated Press' weekly football poll.

Georgia Tech, its unbeaten string snapped at 31 games, and Michigan State, upset by Purdue after a winning string of 28, managed to hold positions in the top ten but had to be content with lower rungs. State fell from second to sixth and Tech from fourth to eighth.

Maryland's high - riding Terrapins, meanwhile, moved into second place on an imposing record of six straight victories while undefeated Baylor and once-tied Illinois followed in that order.

Spartans, Navy Tumble

Two victims of last week's uprising of the underdogs, Michigan and Navy, tumbled clear out of the select bracket, their vacancies taken over by a couple of Pacific Coast powerhouses—Southern California and UCLA.

Michigan, swamped by Minnesota 22-0 in the Little Brown Jug game, fell from fifth to 16th, a drop of 11 notches, while Navy, downed by Pennsylvania 9-6 on a last minute field goal, dropped from tenth to 20th.

Southern Cal took over seventh place on the strength of its 32-20 thumping of California. UCLA moved into tenth after humbling Washington State, 44-7.

Mountaineers Are Fifth

Unconquered West Virginia made one of the week's better gains, moving up from eighth to fifth after thumping VMI, 52-20. Besides Notre Dame, only Oklahoma stayed still. The Sooners, recovering from an early season loss and tie, kept a firm hold on ninth place.

The Irish received 82 of the 120 first place votes cast by sports writers and broadcasters, and nobody else was close. Maryland was considered the nation's best team by 18 of the voters and West Virginia given the nod by 15. No other team had more than two.

The Fighting Irish haven't been out of first place since the writers and broadcasters picked them as the most likely national champion in the pre-season poll.

The Top Ten Teams

	Points
1. Notre Dame (82) (4-0)	1122
2. Maryland (18) (6-0)	1016
3. Baylor (2) (5-0)	748
4. Illinois (4-0-1)	691
5. West Virginia (15) (5-0)	452
6. Michigan State (4-1)	451
7. zsouthern Cal. (5-0-1)	½?⅝
8. George Tech (4-1-1)	376
9. Oklahoma (1) (3-1-1)	354
10. UCLA (1) (5-1)	235

The second ten: 11. Southern Methodist 119; 12. Rice 98; 13. Duke 88; 14. Minnesota 58; 15. Army 57; 16. Michigan (1) 50; 17. Stanford 44; 18. Mississippi 43; 19. Kentucky 42; 20. Navy 41.

Others receiving more than ten votes were: Kansas State 28, Louisiana State 23, Utah 22, Mississippi Southern 15, Ohio State 14.

PVC Grid Officials Chosen For Friday

Petersburg at Romney—John Shelton, Hubert Feeney and Larry Geiger.

Valley High Boosters Face Bruce Today

Valley	4	1	0	15	6
Bruce	2	2	0	10	11
Mt. Savage	1	4	0	6	17
Beall	1	4	0	4	11

Valley High School of Lonaconing tests the Bruce High Bulldogs at Westernport and Beall does battle with Mt. Savage at the latter place in W.M.I. Soccer League games scheduled today.

Coach Meyers' Black Knights, now tied with Flintstone High for the lead, can take over possession of first place temporarily by winning today's game but Bruce can be expected to make a great fight of it.

Both teams have won their last two games and Bruce can't afford to lose any more contests if it expects to remain in the running for the title it won last year.

Valley won the opener of the series by the score of 2-0.

Eddie Shuck will officiate.

Beall and Mt. Savage are now tied for the anchor position in the league and both teams will be battling to pull out of the cellar. The Frostburg team's only win in five starts was at the expense of Mt. Savage. The score was 2-0.

Henry Stafford will handle this contest.

Randall Brown is now leading the scoring race with eight points to his credit. The Valley High center forward is trailed by Thornton Robinette, of Flintstone, with six points while Jim Fletcher, Flintstone, occupies third place with five tallies.

The leading scorers:

Player	FG	PG	Total
Brown, Valley	5	3	8
Robinette, Flintstone	2	4	6
Fletcher, Flintstone	5	0	5

Art Ehlers Named General Manager Of Baltimore Orioles

Signs 3-Year Contract With New A. L. Club

Transfers From A's; DeWitt Will Direct Oriole Farm Teams

By GEORGE BOWEN

BALTIMORE, Oct. 26 (AP) — Art Ehlers, who was a 6-year-old kid playing in Baltimore streets when major league baseball left here, was hired today to be general manager of the Orioles' return to the American League next season.

Ehlers brings to the new organization which succeeds the St. Louis Browns a background of 16 years as a baseball official, the last two as general manager of the Philadelphia Athletics.

Gets Three-Year Pact

His contract with the Athletics had expired and he agreed to a three-year pact with the Orioles.

"The extent of his compensation will depend largely upon the success of the club in Baltimore," said Clarence W. Miles, a whirlwind of a lawyer who masterminded purchase and transfer of the Browns on Sept. 29.

Miles explained that the 56-year-old Ehlers will be paid a flat salary, undisclosed, plus a bonus depending on attendance.

"Ehlers will have complete authority to run the ball club," Miles continued. "I would assume he would tie in with us as far as financial matters are concerned, but just as long as he doesn't mortgage the ball club he will have free rein."

Miles is to head a group of financiers putting up $2,475,000 to buy controlling interest of the Browns. It also has promised to put up more money "for additional player material," saying "The old St. Louis policy of selling players to get cash to operate on is a thing of the past."

Ehlers became general manager of the Athletics in 1950 when Connie Mack quit. He had been directing the farm system of the Athletics since 1947.

DeWitt To Run Farms

Bill DeWitt, a vice president and former owner of the Browns, will have that job for the Orioles, Miles said. A contract which DeWitt had with the Browns, still has three years to run.

The next major Orioles appointment is that of field manager. Marty Marion still has a year to go on his St. Louis contract.

Ehlers, who will make the decision, and Miles both said no discussion has been held yet about whether Marion will be retained.

"You've got to say that he is the manager at the moment," Ehlers said. He added he expects to talk to Marion in a week or 10 days.

Ehlers revealed it had long been his ambition to return to his home city with a major league baseball connection. He had intended to buy a house here this year even though he remained with the Athletics, he said.

He was born here Jan. 22, 1897. The Baltimore Orioles lost their American League franchise to the New York Yankees in 1903.

Owned Pocomoke Club

Ehlers played sandlot baseball before the first World War. He became an official in 1937 by owning Pocomoke, Md., in the Class D. Eastern Shore League. Two years later, he was joint owner of Reading, Pa., in the Interstate League. He sold out in 1940 and for the next five years was president of the league.

Leahy Hospitalized, McArdle In Charge

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Oct. 26 (AP)—Joe McArdle and other assistant coaches were in charge of Notre Dame football practices today as Head Coach Frank Leahy remained hospitalized.

Leahy, who collapsed from a muscular spasm during halftime of the Georgia Tech game Saturday, was reported resting comfortable. Further diagnostic tests were to be made as a precautionary measure. Hospital attendants said he probably would be released in a few days.

As usual, Notre Dame regulars were given Monday off while reserves engaged in scrimmage. Much time was spent on pass defense as preparations started for Saturday's game with Navy.

Luke's Boys Injured In Touch Grid Game

Eddie Baldwin and Bill Whetzel will be lost to Luke's Boys touch football team for the remainder of the season as the result of injuries suffered in Sunday's game with the Blue Devils.

Baldwin suffered a twisted knee and Whetzel has a broken ankle.

Grid Social Set

Hubert J. Feeney, secretary of the Potomac Valley Football Officials Association, announces there will be a social session for coaches, officials, press and radio in the Recreation room of the Cumberland Brewing Company Wednesday at 8 p. m.

Officials Named For 25th Allegany-LaSalle Contest

Shelton, Gaffney, Blough, Feeney To Work Friday Game

HEADS ORIOLES — Art Ehlers, Baltimore native and general manager of the Philadelphia Athletics, was named general manager of the new Baltimore Orioles of the American League yesterday. Ehlers' appointment with a three-year contract was announced by C. V. Miles, president of the syndicate which bought the St. Louis Browns and moved them to Baltimore. Terms were not announced.

Officials for the second intra-city football game of the season, that between LaSalle and Allegany Friday night at the stadium, were announced last night by Hubert J. Feeney, secretary of the Potomac Valley Football Officials' Association.

The arbiters requested for this game are John Shelton, Jim Gaffney, John Blough and Feeney.

Both LaSalle and Allegany will put five-game winning streaks on the line when they tangle on the gridiron for the 25th time.

LaSalle lost its opener to Fort Hill, 7-0, while Allegany dropped its initial game to Patterson Park High of Baltimore, 12-6.

The loss to Fort Hill was LaSalle's 20th in 21 starts. In fact, the Explorers have never beaten Fort Hill. The 1938 game was a 0-0 deadlock. From 1932 through 1935, LaSalle's record against Penn Avenue was 2-1-1.

Last year LaSalle's 19-7 win over the Campers was the first in 10 outings. Their 1947 contest ended 12-12.

In 24 meetings the Campers hold a 16-6 lead over the Explorers in games won. Two contests ended in tie scores.

The LaSalle-AHS series was launched in 1928 when Arthur Slocum and Walter L. Bowers were the coaches.

Broke Off Relations

These schools inaugurated the Thanksgiving Day games but they broke off grid relations in 1934 following a dispute over player eligibility rules. Penn Avenue took LaSalle's place in the Turkey Day tilt that year and lost 14-6 but won the 1935 contest 20-6. Fort Hill and AHS have been meeting in the holiday contest since 1936. The split between LaSalle and Allegany lasted three years before relations were resumed in 1937.

LaSalle's record against Allegany in six Thanksgiving Day games was 3-2-1.

Here are the scores of the 24-game series:

1928—Allegany	59-0	1943—LaSalle	9- 0
1929—Allegany	7-0	1944—Allegany	39-12
1930—LaSalle	6-0	1944—Allegany	27- 0
1931—LaSalle	13-7	1945—Allegany	38- 6
1932—LaSalle	7-6	1945—Allegany	32-13
1933—0-0	Tie	1946—Allegany	25-12
1937—Allegany	14-0	1947—12-12	Tie
1938—Allegany	52-6	1948—Allegany	36- 6
1939—Allegany	30-0	1949—Allegany	32-13
1940—LaSalle	6-3	1950—Allegany	13- 0
1941—Allegany	28-6	1951—Allegany	32- 2
1942—Allegany	35-12	1952—LaSalle	19- 7

As You Were

(This is the 167th in a series of sketches with pictures of well known sport personalities of the past from the album of the Cumberland News Sports Editor. See if you can identify them by their photo.)

This series would not be complete without something about this former baseball player who will mark his fifty-ninth birthday tomorrow.

He's a native of Cumberland and when a youngster he owned quite a collection of marbles because he was the local marbles champion. As a teenager he was a tight wire walker, performed in shows at the old Cumberland Academy of Music and once appeared in a special act in one of the famed Charles K. Chapman's stage productions.

This picture was taken about 1916 before he enlisted in the Navy for the First World War. At that time he was manager and left fielder of the Cumberland Collegians. Before that he played for a local team known as the Chestnut Burrs.

Other members of the Collegians were George "Brindle" Long, Joe Becker, Dale Kirby, Leo Zitzman, Jesse "Lefty" Bell, Lawrence Volk, Heinie Hoffman, Curt Beckwith, Ralph Clark and Raymond Kean.

He sported a nifty moustache (not the handlebar type) for many years.

This fellow has been connected with sports in Baltimore and Cumberland as a player, manager, official, coach and instructor.

Does he look familiar? Well, what's his name?

He's Raymond "Ike" Law, one of the original members of the "Gas House Gang." He was born on North Mechanic street back in the days when the gas house was located there. Law's last baseball managerial job was with the Colts in 1919. He also managed the famed Cumberland Bulldgs, pro football team; coached LaSalle's only W.M.I. Basketball League championship team in 1927, promoted college cage contests here, officiated basketball games, excelled as a bowler, taught many persons how to swim and came near swimming under the ice in the Potomac River but the gendarmes restrained him from doing so. "Ike" now serves as a one-man committee, visiting the sick at homes and hospitals and he's doing a swell job.

Giardello Wins

BROOKLYN, Oct. 26 (AP) — Joey Giardello, high-ranking Philadelphia middleweight contender, finished strong tonight to punch out an unanimous decision over Walter Cartier of New York in a telecast 10-rounder at Eastern Parkway Arena. Giardello, a 9-5 favorite, weighed 158½ to Cartier's 160.

This was a bruising battle all the way and just about even through the first six rounds. Then Giardello's combination punches proved too much for the left-hooking Cartier.

Scoring touchdowns in the first, third and fourth periods, Coach Joe Pellerzi's unbeaten Fort Hill High School junior varsity gridders added Keyser High's Jayvees to their growing list of victims by trimming the Mineral Countians to the tune of 18-7 yesterday at Fort Hill.

The triumph was the fifth of the season for the Little Sentinels and extended their two-year winning streak to eleven games.

Johnny Kessler, left halfback, gave Fort Hill a 6-0 lead in the opening period when he broke away and scored on a 50-yard run.

Keyser, however, forged to the front at 7-6 early in the third period when "Butch" Zacot intercepted a pass and covered 43 yards for a touchdown. Taylor kicked the extra point.

Donnie Hammersmith plunged over from the one later in the period to decide the issue. Donnie also ran up the middle for 10 yards to account for the Little Sentinels' final six-pointer in the last quarter.

Hammersmith was Fort Hill's backfield standout while Ronnie Shaffer excelled at a wing position.

Lineups:

Comets Top Terps In Overtime Battle, Win 5th Straight

The Comets eked out a 13-12 decision over the Terps in an overtime battle Sunday at Penn Avenue Field to keep their record unblemished in the Men's Division of the City Recreation Touch Football League.

Gaining more yardage than the opposition in four downs enabled the Comets to bag their fifth straight decision after the regulation game ended 12-all.

The Clowns defeated the Red Raiders, 48-12, and the Blue Devils split in a pair of games, beating Luke's Boys, 24-6 and losing to the B. & O. Bulldogs, 18-12.

West Virginia Moves To Fifth Place In AP Weekly Grid Poll

Notre Dame Retains Lead; Maryland 2nd, Followed By Baylor

By WILL GRIMSLEY

NEW YORK, Oct. 26 (AP)—Notre Dame's victory over Georgia Tech brought a new wave of popularity today for the Fighting Irish, who tightened their grip on the No. 1 spot in the Associated Press' weekly football poll.

Georgia Tech, its unbeaten string snapped at 31 games, and Michigan State, upset by Purdue after a winning string of 28, managed to hold positions in the top ten but had to be content with lower rungs. State fell from second to sixth and Tech from fourth to eighth.

Maryland's high - riding Terrapins, meanwhile, moved into second place on an imposing record of six straight victories while undefeated Baylor and once-tied Illinois followed in that order.

Spartans, Navy Tumble

Two victims of last week's uprising of the underdogs, Michigan and Navy, tumbled clear out of the select bracket, their vacancies taken over by a couple of Pacific Coast powerhouses—Southern California and UCLA.

Michigan, swamped by Minnesota 22-0 in the Little Brown Jug game, fell from fifth to 16th, a drop of 11 notches, while Navy, downed by Pennsylvania 9-6 on a last minute field goal, dropped from tenth to 20th.

Southern Cal took over seventh place on the strength of its 32-20 thumping of California. UCLA moved into tenth after humbling Washington State, 44-7.

Mountaineers Are Fifth

Unconquered West Virginia made one of the week's better gains, moving up from eighth to fifth after thumping VMI, 52-20. Besides Notre Dame, only Oklahoma stayed still. The Sooners, recovering from an early season loss and tie, kept a firm hold on ninth place.

The Irish received 82 of the 120 first place votes cast by sports writers and broadcasters, and nobody else was close. Maryland was considered the nation's best team by 18 of the voters and West Virginia given the nod by 15. No other team had more than two.

The Fighting Irish haven't been out of first place since the writers and broadcasters picked them as the most likely national champion in the pre-season poll.

The Top Ten Teams

	Points
1. Notre Dame (82) (4-0)	1122
2. Maryland (18) (6-0)	1016
3. Baylor (2) (5-0)	748
4. Illinois (4-0-1)	691
5. West Virginia (15) (5-0)	452
6. Michigan State (4-1)	451
7. zsouthern Cal. (5-0-1)	½?⅝
8. George Tech (4-1-1)	376
9. Oklahoma (1) (3-1-1)	354
10. UCLA (1) (5-1)	235

The second ten: 11. Southern Methodist 119; 12. Rice 98; 13. Duke 88; 14. Minnesota 58; 15. Army 57; 16. Michigan (1) 50; 17. Stanford 44; 18. Mississippi 43; 19. Kentucky 42; 20. Navy 41.

Others receiving more than ten votes were: Kansas State 28, Louisiana State 23, Utah 22, Mississippi Southern 15, Ohio State 14.

PVC Grid Officials Chosen For Friday

Petersburg at Romney—John Shelton, Hubert Feeney and Larry Geiger.

Valley High Boosters Face Bruce Today

Play In Westernport Beall At Mt. Savage

WMI SOCCER LEAGUE
STANDING OF THE TEAMS

School	W	L	T	Pts.	OP.
Flintstone	4	1	0	19	9
Valley	4	1	0	15	6
Bruce	2	2	0	10	11
Mt. Savage	1	4	0	6	17
Beall	1	4	0	4	11

Valley High School of Lonaconing tests the Bruce High Bulldogs at Westernport and Beall does battle with Mt. Savage at the latter place in W.M.I. Soccer League games scheduled today.

Coach Meyers' Black Knights, now tied with Flintstone High for the lead, can take over possession of first place temporarily by winning today's game but Bruce can be expected to make a great fight of it.

Both teams have won their last two games and Bruce can't afford to lose any more contests if it expects to remain in the running for the title it won last year.

Valley won the opener of the series by the score of 2-0.

Eddie Shuck will officiate.

Beall and Mt. Savage are now tied for the anchor position in the league and both teams will be battling to pull out of the cellar. The Frostburg team's only win in five starts was at the expense of Mt. Savage. The score was 2-0.

Henry Stafford will handle this contest.

Randall Brown is now leading the scoring race with eight points to his credit. The Valley High center forward is trailed by Thornton Robinette, of Flintstone, with six points while Jim Fletcher, Flintstone, occupies third place with five tallies.

The leading scorers:

Player	FG	PG	Total
Brown, Valley	5	3	8
Robinette, Flintstone	2	4	6
Fletcher, Flintstone	5	0	5
Mongold, Valley	4	0	4

West Virginia Cagers Lists 21 Contests

Mountaineers Play 13 Games At Home

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Oct. 26 —Such teams as New York U., Columbia, Duke, Maryland, Richmond, William and Mary, Pitt and Penn State are listed as home attractions on a 21-game West Virginia University basketball schedule announced today by Director of Atheletics Roy M. Hawley.

It's perhaps the finest home schedule the Mountaineers have ever had.

There are 13 games listed for Morgantown, others besides the above-named being Carnegie Tech in the opener Dec. 2, Virginia Tech, Waynesburg, VMI and Washington and Lee. Eight games will be played away from home.

Southern West Virginia will get to see three of the games booked by the opposition. Fayetteville will have the Washington and Lee game Dec. 12 and the Virginia Tech game Feb. 20, while VMI has scheduled its home game for Williamson on Feb. 24.

Home fans also will be treated to the Southern Conference tournament March 4-5-6. Eight of the ten schools in the Conference will participate on the basis of season's standings.

Ten of West Virginia's 21 games are in the Conference, including home-and-home games with Washington and Lee, Richmond, Virginia Tech and VMI plus single contests with George Washington away and William and Mary at home.

Home-and-home games also are scheduled with Pitt and Penn State as usual.

Newcomers are Carnegie Tech, Columbia and St. John's.

Three New York City schools will be played during the season for the first time in West Virginia basketball annals — Columbia and New York U. in Morgantown, St. John's in Madison Square Garden.

The complete West Virginia schedule for 1953-54 follows:

Dec. 2, Carnegie Tech, home; 8, George Washington, away; 12, Washington and Lee, Fayetteville; 14, Maryland, home; 19, Duke, home; 22, Richmond, home; 30, Columbia, home.

Jan. 5, St. John's, away; 9, William and Mary, home; 13, Penn State, home; 16, Pitt, home; 23, Virginia Tech, home.

Feb. 1, Richmond, away; 4, New York U., home; 6, Penn State, away; 10, Waynesburg, home; 13, VMI, home; 16, Pitt, away; 20, Virginia Tech., Fayetteville; 24, VMI, Williamson; 27, Washington and Lee, home.

March 4-5-6, Southern Conference tournament, Morgantown.

Wilwyn, Harwin, Will Fly To U. S.

LONDON, Oct. 26 (AP) — Wilwyn and Harwin, Britain's entries in the Laurel, Md., international horse race Nov. 7, leave England by air Sunday for the United States.

Wilwyn will run a tuneup race tomorrow at Newmarket in the Limekiln Stakes.

Mantle May Undergo Operation On Knee

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Oct. 26 (AP) —Mickey Mantle, star Yankee centerfielder came back to home territory today to have medics look at what is loosely called a "football knee."

He was examined by Drs. Dan Yancey and Dr. C Bartram Meyer, who agreed with earlier diagnoses that the knee should be operated on.

Mantle tore a cartilage in the 1951 World Series and reinjured it in July this year.

The doctors said the operation is necessary to prevent future reinjuries. They said an operation will not hurt Mantle's future as a ball player.

Buxton Stops Powell, Wins British Crown

NOTTINGHAM, England, Oct. 26 (AP)—Alex Buxton won the British light heavyweight championship tonight when the referee stopped his fight with Dennis Powell in the 10th round.

Powell, the defending champion, suffered a severe cut over his left eyebrow. He was outclassed in practically every round. Buxton weighed only 164½ to Powell's 174½.

Despirito Rides Five Winners At Lincoln Downs

LINCOLN, R. I., Oct. 26 (AP) — Tony Despirito made a personal triumph out of Lincoln Downs' opening program of the fall meeting today, riding five consecutive winners and finishing third in another race.

A throng announced as 12,000 saw the Lawrence, Mass., jockey run his victory total for the year to 297. He has missed more than 100 racing days because of suspensions and illnesses.

Two of the eight mounts guided by Despirito, the nation's leading jockey last year, ran out of the money.

In the featured inaugural purse over seven furlongs for $3,500, Despirito guided J. M. Lingle's Valenciano to a length victory over Lou V. Barbieri's My Truly Fair which was three lengths ahead of Reynolds Brothers' Haskell and Mrs. J. M. Branham's Four Night which finished in a dead heat for third.

Valenciano, timed in 1:27, paid $5.40, $3.20 and $2.40. My Truly Fair returned $3.80 and $2.60. Haskell paid $2.60 for show and Four Night $3.00 for show.

Despirito's other winners today were Andros, which paid $4.60, in the fourth; Klimie, $6.20, in the fifth; Can't Please, $7.60 in the sixth; and Tampero for $4.80 in the eighth.

SPORTS GRILL

by Pat Robinson

International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 26 (INS)—We thought we knew almost everybody in the fight racket so well we could tell you more than their dentists about the condition of their back teeth.

But we live and learn. For instance. We've known Jack Solomons, England's leading fight promoter, for year. We knew, of course, that he was — and still is — the biggest fish merchant in the British Isles, and that he made his first big bundle peddling smelt, cod and mackerel.

But, among the things we didn't know until he informed us before he left for home Saturday was that he runs a football pool, which handles at least $100,000 a day, a book on racing and other sports, owns a big night club and restaurant, and is often a big backer of state plays.

We thought Jack made a bundle out of his fight promotions but this, he assured us, is a mistaken idea.

"I gross better than a million dollars a year from my fight promotions," said Jack, "but the fighters and the government get all the money. I get the headaches and the "honor."

"I have to pay 50 percent for rental of the arena. Then the government takes a third of my profits. And on top of that I have to pay 19 shillings, six pence on every pound of my personal income. Sometimes I wind up owing myself money."

Jack's bookmaking is so extensive he doesn't know just how big it is.

"We accept whatever the boys want to bet," he assured us with a smile that indicated the boys are usually wrong. "We'll accept any amount they want to bet on a football game or anything else — anything from two shillings up. On any Saturday we'll handle at least $100,000 on the football pools.

"We have a regular set of odds for all contingencies. For instance, we lay 5 to 2 you can't pick one tie game. We lay 12 to 1 you can't pick two tie games and 50 to 1 you can't pick three. Looks easy doesn't it? But try to pick one tie game among your own football games and see how you make out."

Jack grudgingly admitted that the race horses he owns "could do better." "But," he admitted, "they do better at that than some of the stage turkeys I've backed. Some were what you yanks call stinkeroos and others just flopped like a dead duck."

Strange to say, all fight promoters seem to have a finger in many pies. The late Mike Jacobs had a hand in everything from bombs to beef and, like Solomons, he often would help underwrite a Broadway show.

And that reminds us that one of the biggest Broadway "Angels" as Broadway calls the birds who back shows, is Bob Christenberry, leading hotel man and chairman of the New York Boxing Commission.

Bob must be a better judge of a prospective hit than either Jacobs or Solomons because most of the shows he has backed were big money makers.

Some interesting characters in the fight racket at that, aren't there?

Langlois' Second Given Suspension

NEW YORK, Oct. 26 (AP)—George Kanter, a second, was suspended indefinitely by the New York State Athletic Commission today for having said that Pierre Langlois, the French middleweight, was ill with flu during his losing fight against Garth Panter of Salt Lake City at Madison Square Garden last Friday night.

Langlois, whom Kanter seconded in the fight, denied at today's hearing that he had told Kanter or anyone else he had flu. The Frenchman's purse had been held up pending the outcome of the hearing. It now will be released.

Kanter was out of town today, but will be ordered to attend another hearing soon at which the commission will decide whether his second's license should be revoked. Kanter made the controversial statement to reporters in the dressing room after the bout.

Barnes Cops Title

SYDNEY, Australia, Oct. 26 (AP) —George Barnes, 143, became Australian welterweight champion tonight when he outpointed Pran Mikus, 146, at Sydney Stadium. The title had been vacant for some time.

Jamaica's $1,969 Double Is Biggest Of Gotham Season

JAMAICA, N. Y., Oct. 26 (AP)— The biggest daily double of the New York racing season, $1,969.50, was chalked up today at Jamaica when Mrs. Wallace Gilroy's Silly Sara (26.10) won the first race and George W. Christian's Blast O'Roses (165.40) took the second race.

Nick Wall rode Silly Sara and Augie Capalano rode Blast O'Roses.

The winning combination was numbers 10 and 3 and there were 57 $2.00 tickets. Two $10 tickets also were sold on the winning pair.

West Virginia Cagers Lists 21 Contests

Mountaineers Play 13 Games At Home

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Oct. 26—Such teams as New York U., Columbia, Duke, Maryland, Richmond, William and Mary, Pitt and Penn State are listed as home attractions on a 21-game West Virginia University basketball schedule announced today by Director of Atheletics Roy M. Hawley.

It's perhaps the finest home schedule the Mountaineers have ever had.

There are 13 games listed for Morgantown, others besides the above-named being Carnegie Tech in the opener Dec. 2, Virginia Tech, Waynesburg, VMI and Washington and Lee. Eight games will be played away from home.

Southern West Virginia will get to see three of the games booked by the opposition. Fayetteville will have the Washington and Lee game Dec. 12 and the Virginia Tech game Feb. 20, while VMI has scheduled its home game for Williamson on Feb. 24.

Home fans also will be treated to the Southern Conference tournament March 4-5-6. Eight of the ten schools in the Conference will participate on the basis of season's standings.

Ten of West Virginia's 21 games are in the Conference, including home-and-home games with Washington and Lee, Richmond, Virginia Tech and VMI plus single contests with George Washington away and William and Mary at home.

Home-and-home games also are scheduled with Pitt and Penn State as usual.

Newcomers are Carnegie Tech, Columbia and St. John's.

Three New York City schools will be played during the season for the first time in West Virginia basketball annals — Columbia and New York U. in Morgantown, St. John's in Madison Square Garden.

The complete West Virginia schedule for 1953-54 follows:

Dec. 2, Carnegie Tech, home; 8, George Washington, away; 12, Washington and Lee, Fayetteville; 14, Maryland, home; 19, Duke, home; 22, Richmond, home; 30, Columbia, home.

Jan. 5, St. John's, away; 9, William and Mary, home; 13, Penn State, home; 16, Pitt, home; 23, Virginia Tech, home.

Feb. 1, Richmond, away; 4, New York U., home; 6, Penn State, away; 10, Waynesburg, home; 13, VMI, home; 16, Pitt, away; 20, Virginia Tech., Fayetteville; 24, VMI, Williamson; 27, Washington and Lee, home.

March 4-5-6, Southern Conference tournament, Morgantown.

Wilwyn, Harwin, Will Fly To U. S.

LONDON, Oct. 26 (AP) — Wilwyn and Harwin, Britain's entries in the Laurel, Md., international horse race Nov. 7, leave England by air Sunday for the United States.

Wilwyn will run a tuneup race tomorrow at Newmarket in the Limekiln Stakes.

Mantle May Undergo Operation On Knee

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Oct. 26 (AP)—Mickey Mantle, star Yankee centerfielder came back to home territory today to have medics look at what is loosely called a "football knee."

He was examined by Drs. Dan Yancey and Dr. C Bartram Meyer, who agreed with earlier diagnoses that the knee should be operated on.

Mantle tore a cartilage in the 1951 World Series and reinjured it in July this year.

The doctors said the operation is necessary to prevent future reinjuries. They said an operation will not hurt Mantle's future as a ball player.

Buxton Stops Powell, Wins British Crown

NOTTINGHAM, England, Oct. 26 (AP)—Alex Buxton won the British light heavyweight championship tonight when the referee stopped his fight with Dennis Powell in the 10th round.

Powell, the defending champion, suffered a severe cut over his left eyebrow. He was outclassed in practically every round. Buxton weighed only 164½ to Powell's 174½.

Despirito Rides Five Winners At Lincoln Downs

LINCOLN, R. I., Oct. 26 (AP) — Tony Despirito made a personal triumph out of Lincoln Downs' opening program of the fall meeting today, riding five consecutive winners and finishing third in another race.

A throng announced as 12,000 saw the Lawrence, Mass., jockey run his victory total for the year to 297. He has missed more than 100 racing days because of suspensions and illnesses.

Two of the eight mounts guided by Despirito, the nation's leading jockey last year, ran out of the money.

In the featured inaugural purse over seven furlongs for $3,500, Despirito guided J. M. Lingle's Valenciano to a length victory over Lou V. Barbieri's My Truly Fair which was three lengths ahead of Reynolds Brothers' Haskell and Mrs. J. M. Branham's Four Night which finished in a dead heat for third.

Valenciano, timed in 1:27, paid $5.40, $3.20 and $2.40. My Truly Fair returned $3.80 and $2.60. Haskell paid $2.60 for show and Four Night $3.00 for show.

Despirito's other winners today were Andros, which paid $4.60, in the fourth; Klimie, $6.20, in the fifth; Can't Please, $7.60 in the sixth; and Tampero for $4.80 in the eighth.

International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 26 (INS)—We thought we knew almost everybody in the fight racket so well we could tell you more than their dentists about the condition of their back teeth.

But we live and learn. For instance. We've known Jack Solomons, England's leading fight promoter, for year. We knew, of course, that he was — and still is — the biggest fish merchant in the British Isles, and that he made his first big bundle peddling smelt, cod and mackerel.

But, among the things we didn't know until he informed us before he left for home Saturday was that he runs a football pool, which handles at least $100,000 a day, a book on racing and other sports, owns a big night club and restaurant, and is often a big backer of state plays.

We thought Jack made a bundle out of his fight promotions but this, he assured us, is a mistaken idea.

"I gross better than a million dollars a year from my fight promotions," said Jack, "but the fighters and the government get all the money. I get the headaches and the "honor."

"I have to pay 50 percent for rental of the arena. Then the government takes a third of my profits. And on top of that I have to pay 19 shillings, six pence on every pound of my personal income. Sometimes I wind up owing myself money."

Jack's bookmaking is so extensive he doesn't know just how big it is.

"We accept whatever the boys want to bet," he assured us with a smile that indicated the boys are usually wrong. "We'll accept any amount they want to bet on a football game or anything else — anything from two shillings up. On any Saturday we'll handle at least $100,000 on the football pools.

"We have a regular set of odds for all contingencies. For instance, we lay 5 to 2 you can't pick one tie game. We lay 12 to 1 you can't pick two tie games and 50 to 1 you can't pick three. Looks easy doesn't it? But try to pick one tie game among your own football games and see how you make out."

Jack grudgingly admitted that the race horses he owns "could do better." "But," he admitted, "they do better at that than some of the stage turkeys I've backed. Some were what you yanks call stinkeroos and others just flopped like a dead duck."

Strange to say, all fight promoters seem to have a finger in many pies. The late Mike Jacobs had a hand in everything from bombs to beef and, like Solomons, he often would help underwrite a Broadway show.

And that reminds us that one of the biggest Broadway "Angels" as Broadway calls the birds who back shows, is Bob Christenberry, leading hotel man and chairman of the New York Boxing Commission.

Bob must be a better judge of a prospective hit than either Jacobs or Solomons because most of the shows he has backed were big money makers.

Some interesting characters in the fight racket at that, aren't there?

Langlois' Second Given Suspension

NEW YORK, Oct. 26 (AP)—George Kanter, a second, was suspended indefinitely by the New York State Athletic Commission today for having said that Pierre Langlois, the French middleweight, was ill with flu during his losing fight against Garth Panter of Salt Lake City at Madison Square Garden last Friday night.

Langlois, whom Kanter seconded in the fight, denied at today's hearing that he had told Kanter or anyone else he had flu. The Frenchman's purse had been held up pending the outcome of the hearing. It now will be released.

Kanter was out of town today, but will be ordered to attend another hearing soon at which the commission will decide whether his second's license should be revoked. Kanter made the controversial statement to reporters in the dressing room after the bout.

Barnes Cops Title

Potomac State Plays Concord Saturday In Homecoming Contest

Concord College's Mountain Lions will play Potomac State in the Catamounts' homecoming game Saturday at 2 p. m. at Stayman Field, Keyser.

The visitors own a 3-2 record in the West Virginia Intercollegiate Conference after losing a 14-13 thriller to West Liberty on Saturday. Potomac State dropped the opener to West Liberty, 34-0. These results should be enough to install the Lions as favorites in Saturday's game.

Potomac State's chances of finishing in the .500 column this year are not so good as the Cats, now owning a 2-4 record, must cop three in a row from Concord, Wesleyan and the West Virginia U. Freshmen. If State fails to make a sweep it will mark the first time since 1948 that the Keyserites failed to win more than 50 per cent of their games. In 1951 Concord's 14-12 win was the only loss for Potomac in eight games. Last year the teams battled to a 13-13 tie.

State's WVIC record is now 2-3. tanding of the WVIC teams:

School	W.	L.	Pct.
Morris Harvey	4	0	1.000
Bethany	1	0	1.000
West Liberty	4	1	.800
Concord	3	2	.600
Fairmont	3	2	.600

Potomac State	2	3	.400
Glenville	2	3	.400
West Va. Tech	1	2	.333
Wesleyan	1	2	.333
Salem	0	6	.000

Jamaica's $1,969 Double Is Biggest Of Gotham Season

JAMAICA, N. Y., Oct. 26 (AP)—The biggest daily double of the New York racing season, $1,969.50, was chalked up today at Jamaica when Mrs. Wallace Gilroy's Silly Sara (26.10) won the first race and George W. Christian's Blast O'Roses (165.40) took the second race.

Nick Wall rode Silly Sara and Augie Capalano rode Blast O'Roses.

The winning combination was numbers 10 and 3 and there were 57 $2.00 tickets. Two $10 tickets also were sold on the winning pair.

Frostburg GOC Visits Center In Pittsburgh

FROSTBURG — A group of ground observers from Frostburg's Outpost 24-B visited the Air Defense filter center at Pittsburgh last Thursday.

Wilbur L. Ross, chief observer, accompanied the following observers on this tour: Marie E. Blubaugh, Vivian Bone, Elizabeth Cobey, Eleanor Cooper, Ellen Dennison, Viola Drew, Aldyth Hager, Virginia Harvey, C. Walter Hayes, Goldie Huston, Mary E. Layman, Doris Stewart, Kathleen Todd, Della Wade, and Mrs. Melvin Ward.

The group was met at the Hotel Sheraton by Sgt. Frederick Seelman of the U. S. Air Force. There they boarded an Air Force bus and were taken to a nearby air base as guests of the Air Force. After lunch in the mess hall the group was met by Captain Pat Fallon, jet hero, who conducted them on a tour of the air base. They were shown the famous F-86 Sabre Jet and other types of planes, and were given the opportunity of seeing them fly. After a talk by Captain Fallon, who expressed his gratitude for the work the group has been doing they returned to the Pittsburgh filter center.

There, volunteers working at the filter center, and members of the Air Force explained the role played by civilian volunteers working in the filter centers. The visitors were shown how calls from various outposts reporting to Pittsburgh were taken and plotted on the filter center board. They were given the opportunity of listening in on calls being made from GOC posts in Allegany County by their friends and neighbors in nearby communities.

Citizens wishing to volunteer for this important role in the defense of their country are urged to contact Ross at 421-W or Vincent C. Bollino, supervisor of Frostburg outpost, at 63-W. Women interested in volunteering to serve in the GOC are asked to contact Mrs. Olive Tennant at 1084-J.

A general membership meeting for all members of the Frostburg outpost will be held Thursday evening, November 5th, at 7:30 o'clock at the Frostburg Fire Hall. All members are urged to attend and bring along their friends and neighbors. Charles G. Smith, county GOC chief, and some of his staff will be present to address the membership. The meeting wil be open to the public and persons wishing to learn more about GOC activities are invited to attend the meeting.

Beall Elementary School To Hold Carnival Tonight

ROY SCHINAGLE, 19, stares blankly ahead as he is sentenced in an Upper Sandusky, O., court to life in the Ohio penitentiary for the campus slaying of his sweetheart, Cynthia Pfeil. The former ministry student entered a surprise plea of guilty to second-degree murder.

FROSTBURG—The annual circus of Beall Elementary School will be held this evening at 7:15 in the auditorium and in several class rooms.

Feature attractions will include country store, freaks, house of horrors, sideshows, games and fish pond. Traditional circus food will be on sale and several prizes will be awarded.

The auditorium and rooms in which the various events will be held have been decorated in keeping with the Halloween season.

The committee in charge consists of Roy Pepper, Miss Estelle Williams, Mrs. Charles Hoffman, and Miss Lois Mackay.

The second Halloween event of the week will be a parade of masked grade school pupils, scheduled to leave the school at 1:15 p. m. Friday and march out Broadway to Main to Water and disband at the school where each grade will have its individual Halloween party in its home class room.

Principal Earl Brain stated that the program has been arranged to supervise the celebration of Halloween with a view of preventing pranks that are usually an annoyance to residents of the community.

Square Circle To Observe Anniversary

FROSTBURG — The Eckhart Square Circle Sportsmen's Association will observe its 17th anniversary Thursday at 7 p. m. with a turkey dinner served at the clubhouse by the Ladies Auxiliary.

The event will be the kickoff of the annual membership drive. Speakers will include Charles Nathan, Grantsville, a member of the State Game and Inland Fish Commission; Dale Arner, wildlife technician, and Joseph Minke, regional game warden.

Louis Crowe and Harold Holsinger will be in charge of the membership drive, and William Filsinger and Joseph Huber will be in charge of prizes. George Walters is the banquet chairman.

Officers of the club, which is one of the outstanding sportsmen's groups in Allegany County, are:

Mummers To Parade In Tri-Towns

WESTERNPORT — The annual Halloween parade on Friday, will form at 7 p. m. near the Piedmont High School according to Stuart Kuhnle, chairman.

The mummers will march up Ashfield Street, Piedmont, across the Interstate bridge to Westernport, up Main Street to Jake's Place and return to the Acme Parking lot, where the prizes will be presented.

Frostburg GOC Visits Center In Pittsburgh

FROSTBURG — A group of ground observers from Frostburg's Outpost 24-B visited the Air Defense filter center at Pittsburgh last Thursday.

Wilbur L. Ross, chief observer, accompanied the following observers on this tour: Marie E. Blubaugh, Vivian Bone, Elizabeth Cobey, Eleanor Cooper, Ellen Dennison, Viola Drew, Aldyth Hager, Virginia Harvey, C. Walter Hayes, Goldie Huston, Mary E. Layman, Doris Stewart, Kathleen Todd, Della Wade, and Mrs. Melvin Ward.

The group was met at the Hotel Sheraton by Sgt. Frederick Seelman of the U. S. Air Force. There they boarded an Air Force bus and were taken to a nearby air base as guests of the Air Force. After lunch in the mess hall the group was met by Captain Pat Fallon, jet hero, who conducted them on a tour of the air base. They were shown the famous F-86 Sabre Jet and other types of planes, and were given the opportunity of seeing them fly. After a talk by Captain Fallon, who expressed his gratitude for the work the group has been doing they returned to the Pittsburgh filter center.

There, volunteers working at the filter center, and members of the Air Force explained the role played by civilian volunteers working in the filter centers. The visitors were shown how calls from various outposts reporting to Pittsburgh were taken and plotted on the filter center board. They were given the opportunity of listening in on calls being made from GOC posts in Allegany County by their friends and neighbors in nearby communities.

Citizens wishing to volunteer for this important role in the defense of their country are urged to contact Ross at 421-W or Vincent C. Bollino, supervisor of Frostburg outpost, at 63-W. Women interested in volunteering to serve in the GOC are asked to contact Mrs. Olive Tennant at 1084-J.

A general membership meeting for all members of the Frostburg outpost will be held Thursday evening, November 5th, at 7:30 o'clock at the Frostburg Fire Hall. All members are urged to attend and bring along their friends and neighbors. Charles G. Smith, county GOC chief, and some of his staff will be present to address the membership. The meeting wil be open to the public and persons wishing to learn more about GOC activities are invited to attend the meeting.

Awards Listed In Halloween Parade By VFW

LONACONING—Cash awards for prize-winning masquerade costumes in the Veterans of Foreign Wars Halloween masquerade party to be held Friday were announced by the post commander, Calvin James.

Prizes offered are $5 to the best-dressed couple; $2.50 to the most original costume; $2.50 to the funniest costume; $2.50 to the best dressed man; $2.50 to the best dressed woman; and $2.50 for the most unusual masquerade.

The Halloween social will begin at 8:30 p. m. and judges will be selected for the grand march at 10 p. m. with the awarding of prizes climaxing the evening. A dance will be held with music by Pete Harper's Quartet.

The Auxiliary of Alvin C. Neat Post will have an array of homemade foods for a harvest sale beginning Friday afternoon

A VFW post membership meeting was held Thursday night, attended by 20 members. It was decided to install television at the VFW home.

Donations were made to the Central Elementary School Parent-Teachers Association Halloween fund, $5; to the Community Street Decorating fund, $10 and to the VFW Christmas Cheer fund to send gifts to hospitalized veterans, $5.

At the stag party Friday night at the post home, the VFW state commander, Joseph Leiter, of Baltimore City, attended. There were over 200 members and guests present.

Mrs. Speer Wed To Florida Man

LONACONING — Mr. and Mrs. Walter Green, Arlington, Va., former residents of Lonaconing and frequent visitors here, announce the marriage of their daughter, Mrs. Dorothy Green Speer, to J. C. Hartley of Jacksonville, Fla.

The wedding took place in Washington. The bride was attired in a white wool dress, with brown accessories and an orchid corsage.

Mr. and Mrs. Hartley will reside at Arlington, Va. The bride, formerly employed as a receptionist in Dr. G. E. Getty's dentist office at Lonaconing, is a graduate of Central High school, Lonaconing. Mr. Hartley operates a service station in Arlington.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 26 (INS) — William Wyler, A.W.O.L. in Europe for over a year, heads for home and dear old Paramount the middle of November. He'll discuss a French stage play he bought, "La Cuisine Des Anges" which translated means "Angel's Cooking," with Don Hartman.

Humphrey Bogart is the first choice for the top "Angel Cooking."

It should warm Willie's heart that the charming picture he directed in Italy, "Roman Holiday," is picking up at the box-office after getting off to a slow start.

Fact is, it's doing so well, Paramount is thinking of a sequel.

Many events in Wyler's personal life happened during his European stay, the birth of a baby son and his happiness over the improved health of his wife who had been very ill abroad.

The hopes that Brynie Foy had that General William Dean would appear in the foreground of his untitled prisoner of war picture were dashed to the ground by the general himself.

The U. S. Army gave permission, but it was General Dean, himself, who declined this publicity, according to an Army officer.

For some reason he feels embarrassed at having been taken prisoner, and does not consider himself a hero. Well, that's a matter of opinion. For my money he is a great soldier and one who will go down in history.

It'll be funny if Van Johnson, who did mostly musicals and light romances at MGM, turns into a two-gun westerner now he's freelancing.

Rudy Mate, who directed Van in "Gatling Gun" for Leonard Goldstein, thinks so highly of his shoot-'em-up talents that he's suggesting him for their next western, "Fort Savage."

The new story is by Irving Wallace and—if Van does it—he'll play a dirty, bearded renegade white man aligned against his own race with a band of looting Indians.

Dorothy Kirsten is considering an offer from MGM for one of the important roles in "The Romberg Story" which goes on the screen in February, with Roger Eden directing.

She's cancelled all her opera dates and she's done nothing about talking business since her husband has been so critically ill.

It is said that Dr. Gene Chapman has passed the crisis and will live, which is wonderful news for his many friends as well as his wife's. No one has been able to talk to Dorothy since his illness she's been so worried.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Evelyn Keyes has been in town quietly for several days and has rented the Malibu house of Anatole Litvak. Mike Todd is still head man in her life.

A deal for the sale of the Del Mar Hotel is very much on. Joe Norman expects it will be closed very soon. And, it's his son, Hank, who is wooing Lois Andrews, not Joe.

Looks like Johnny Desmond is very much on his way with the fan magazines asking for stories about him before he even does "The Russ Columbo Story." His appearance at Ciro's did this.

At Charley Foy's, Jill Winkler, wid w of Otto Winkler, with Ted Rath, wealthy widower.

Rosemary Clooney joins Jose Ferrer in New York five minutes after she finishes "White Christma..."

Ruben Calderon, the same producer who made Rita Hayworth and Dick Haymes that fabulous offer, has signed Ricardo Montalban for a picture.

Stewart Granger attended a preview of Elizabeth Taylor's picture, "Rhapsody," so he can give Liz and Michael Wilding a report of the audience reaction.

That's all today. See you tomorrow

Rumor and bored.

About time the Washington wishes stopped distributing phelonious information in the large economical guesses.

We pupils are going to get a lot of double-jointed lessons when teacher uses a weather vane for a blackboard pointer.

So bad that Ike registered an official beef against the delphic oracles of the Potomac. Top drawer secrets are leaking thirteen to the dozen.

Most of this talk is at the chin level with no more foundation than a mud hut.

But us citizens can still get sideswiped both ways like a man fishing off a trestle bridge.

Some officials think we should keep as agitated as the elbows in the Philharmonic Orchestra. Others butter us with a pabulum of soft-boiled malarkey.

It's like clipping a pup's tail. Too little is as bad as too much.

Ike has asked the bell-mouthed criers to button up their traps. Even the ignorant are liable to hit the nail on the thumb.

The people who actually know the insides from the out never crack. They don't talk. And they smile like they were hanging to a trapeze by their teeth.

Does shooting off your mouth have bad results? Well, even a blank can hurt you if you're walloped by the wad.

Most of the jabberwocky is fringe chatter mixed with the whites of eyes and served at rumor temperature.

And you cannot go through life living from mouth-to-ear.

The Steaked Plains

Secretary Benson wishes Bill Cody hadn't eliminated so much meat in the old Buffalo tournaments.

He told the western cattle stuffers there was a beef-on-the-on-hoof bottle-neck about the middle of the jug.

But he said the American public will eat their way out of the sirloin crisis. We are offering our body up to science and research.

If Abou Ben Adhem's name tops us on that menu it's because he didn't stop to shave.

Secretary Benson's clarion chirp means the Phoenix filet mignon will rise from its own charcoal. And we pay up our back dues in the minute steak boys of 1776.

The grass-rooters and haystackers of the last frontiers have our support. We not only will eat for the just cause but we will also take care of any bottle-neck in the middle of the jug.

Here's the Powers' Model stance that will help you wear fashions with super smartness and grace!

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

The practice of giving fashion shows in small communities is growing rapidly throughout this country. It is a practice which I heartily endorse. It brings interesting styles within the reach of many for reasons of responsibilities or distance would otherwise be unable to see what is new.

Usually local women are asked to participate in the show as models. And that's one of the best ways to get any woman to check up on her poise, posture, walk and stance!

Just in case you may be the next one invited to play such a part, let me give you the secrets of the beautiful Powers model stance. Even though you may not be faced with such a test of your graceful ways, your everyday attractiveness will be tremendously enhanced if you practice the following:

1. Stand with your feet together, arms at your sides. Fit the right instep around the left heel so that the right toe points outward at a forty-five degree angle. Distribute your weight evenly on the balls of your feet.

2. Flex (bend) your knees slightly, keeping them together. 3. Pull your abdomen in and up-tilt your pelvis by drawing your buttocks under your body. 4. Pull your waist up hard out of your hips.

5. Raise your chest to its full elevation. 6. Relax your shoulders. 7. Hold your chin parallel to the floor.

Hand Position

8. Place your left hand slightly behind your body and rest the back of it against your hip in the position that allows a goodly separation to occur between your elbow and your waistline.

9. Rest your right hand diagonally along your right hip bone turning the thumb outward, curving the waist upward and keeping the elbow well extended to the side.

Now look at yourself! That's dynamic charm in action! Furthermore it's a stance that guards against developing unwanted curves. It lessens fatigue in standing long hours. It shows off your clothes as their designer intended.

Whenever you enter a room, rise from a chair or come to a halt, make sure that's the way you always look!

YOUR POSTURE

To achieve grace of the highest degree — to make yours the posture ideal — to improve stance, figure, health and the appearance of your clothes as well, read the informative, easy-to-follow booklet "YOUR POSTURE". For a copy write to Secrets of Charm in care of this paper, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope and 10c in coin to help cover cost.

by John Robert Powers

The practice of giving fashion shows in small communities is growing rapidly throughout this country. It is a practice which I heartily endorse. It brings interesting styles within the reach of many for reasons of responsibilities or distance would otherwise be unable to see what is new.

Usually local women are asked to participate in the show as models. And that's one of the best ways to get any woman to check up on her poise, posture, walk and stance!

Just in case you may be the next one invited to play such a part, let me give you the secrets of the beautiful Powers model stance. Even though you may not be faced with such a test of your graceful ways, your everyday attractiveness will be tremendously enhanced if you practice the following:

1. Stand with your feet together, arms at your sides. Fit the right instep around the left heel so that the right toe points outward at a forty-five degree angle. Distribute your weight evenly on the balls of your feet.

2. Flex (bend) your knees slightly, keeping them together. 3. Pull your abdomen in and up-tilt your pelvis by drawing your buttocks under your body. 4. Pull your waist up hard out of your hips.

5. Raise your chest to its full elevation. 6. Relax your shoulders. 7. Hold your chin parallel to the floor.

Hand Position

8. Place your left hand slightly behind your body and rest the back of it against your hip in the position that allows a goodly separation to occur between your elbow and your waistline.

9. Rest your right hand diagonally along your right hip bone turning the thumb outward, curving the waist upward and keeping the elbow well extended to the side.

Now look at yourself! That's dynamic charm in action! Furthermore it's a stance that guards against developing unwanted curves. It lessens fatigue in standing long hours. It shows off your clothes as their designer intended.

Whenever you enter a room, rise from a chair or come to a halt, make sure that's the way you always look!

YOUR POSTURE

To achieve grace of the highest degree — to make yours the posture ideal — to improve stance, figure, health and the appearance of your clothes as well, read the informative, easy-to-follow booklet "YOUR POSTURE". For a copy write to Secrets of Charm in care of this paper, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope and 10c in coin to help cover cost.

Radio And Television

By JOHN CROSBY

Color Confusion

If you want to get real confused some time, try dropping around the networks and asking them about color television. Color TV is very definitely in your future but when, where, how much and so forth are shrouded in controversy.

John Crosby

For example Richard Salant, vice president of CBS, will tell you that there isn't a single color television set that you and I could operate in the home with any degree of reliability. Pat Weaver, vice chairman of NBC, retorts that, of course, there is a color set ready for the home. (An RCA set, naturally.) The evidence seems to support Mr. Salant. I've never seen any color TV demonstrations yet without clouds of technicians hanging around to adjust the sets and even the technicians have lots of trouble.

An NBC vice president, one of the few people on earth who has a color television set in his home, was showing it off to a young lady one day. The picture came in solid green. "Well, anyhow, I've seen green television," said the young lady cheerfully. "How many other people can make that statement?"

Color TV under laboratory conditions — which is to say with platoons of engineers on hand — is pretty wonderful. NBC recently put on a daily 15 minute show from the Colonial Theater in New York to the Center Theater where the advertiser could see how luscious his products looked in color. If you'd dropped in, you'd have seen a close-up of steaming Campbell's pork and beans in an earthenware bowl — all its rich wonderful lacked-in goodness in four colors. Or you might have seen a cute trick named Marie McNamara showing off her Drene shampooed hair which looked mighty pretty, too.

Miss McNamara is a sort of guinea pig over at NBC. For two and a half years, she has sat under the blinding (though not hot) lights while makeup men tried every known makeup on her. Sometimes they'd divide her face down the middle, doing one side one way, one another. ("I thought they were going to use me for 'before' and 'after' ads," she said.) Sometimes, her arms were covered with patches of various colors.

All over town, from CBS to Dumont, makeup people are happily splashing makeup on the human epidermis and arriving at wildly conflicting conclusions. Salant will tell you that color TV needs less makeup than black and white. Street makeup looks fine. Stage makeup looks awful, he says. But Bill Baird, the puppeteer who has been doing a puppet show in color for weeks, says he tried eight different kinds of makeup, finally arrived at a heavy makeup of greasepaint with pancake over it which would certainly look strange on the street.

And at the NBC demonstrations, Ed Herlihy and Nelson Case who narrated the show, were discovered wandering around, their faces splashed with what Mr. Herlihy described as "corpse gray," an apt description. It would certainly cause a flutter on the street. The trouble isn't that color TV is not true — actually, it's truer than Technicolor—but that it's too true. People's faces and especially their ears, are a lot redder than we think and the color cameras bring out something we tend not to notice in real life.

For years to come, color TV broadcasters are going to have to argue with people not because of what they see but what they think they see. Weaver wearily predicts that the ad agency man of tomorrow will make a career of saying: "The red wasn't quite right last

Barclay On Bridge

HOW WOULD YOU FEEL?

SUPPOSE you held the ace and king of the opponents' trump suit, and didn't take even one trick with them? How would you feel? And suppose the reason was not something you did, but something done by your partner? Could you conceive adequate thoughts to describe your attitude of the moment toward him? In fact, right now, can you imagine anything he might do, which would prevent you from taking any trick with those cards?

	♠ 10 9 8 7 6 ♥ 7 ♦ None ♣ A K J 9 4 3 2
♠ 3 ♥ K Q 9 8 ♦ K Q 10 6 4 3 ♣ 10 6	N W E S	♠ A K 4 ♥ A 10 5 2 ♦ A J 9 7 ♣ 8 5
	♠ Q J 5 2 ♥ J 6 4 3 ♦ 8 5 2 ♣ Q 7

(Dealer: West. Neither side vulnerable.)

West	North	East	South
1 ♦	Dbl.	Pass	1 ♠
Pass	4 ♠	Dbl.	Pass
Pass	Rdbl.

Such freakish bidding usually comes only late at night, when there has been a tough session of rubber bridge, with refreshments served as the game proceeded. Take a look at that bidding and you will notice that in the first round the only player who passed was the one with the strongest hand of the deal, East. By the time his next turn came, his opponents had reached a 4-Spade contract, and he decided it would be better to double than bid the easily-made 5-Diamonds.

With the existing freakish distribution, there was no chance at all to defeat the spade game, as nothing could possibly be taken by the defenders except two tricks in trumps and one in hearts. But how in the world could the declarer get all thirteen tricks?

West led the diamond K, which was ruffed in the dummy. A spade was brought forth, East putting on the K and then laying down the A. You would think he would then have two tricks. But he didn't. West, with his mind—or what stands in lieu thereof—not on his business, had his spade 3 mixed in with his two clubs and didn't see it at first. He therefore discarded a diamond on the first trump trick. Then, when the A was laid down by his partner, he had discovered the spade 3 and played it. That established the revoke, making the cost of it two tricks—the one on which the diamond was discarded and the next one. Now East, totally upset, led his spade 4 instead of making the obvious return of a heart. Consequently South, by running clubs and aided by the revoke, got all thirteen tricks.

The reason we want to keep our Installation Price reduced to $100.00, (only $25.00 down) is that even the most modest home can afford it. Your living room can be made into a "Millionaire's Palace" by having Full Coverage Television.

You will never know how much good television will mean to you and your family until you have it in your home.

Come in or call for a five day free trial of Cable T. V., a T. V. Dealer will gladly demonstrate a T. V. Set to you.

Radio And Television

By JOHN CROSBY

Color Confusion

If you want to get real confused some time, try dropping around the networks and asking them about color television. Color TV is very definitely in your future but when, where, how much and so forth are shrouded in controversy.

John Crosby

For example Richard Salant, vice president of CBS, will tell you that there isn't a single color television set that you and I could operate in the home with any degree of reliability. Pat Weaver, vice chairman of NBC, retorts that, of course, there is a color set ready for the home. (An RCA set, naturally.) The evidence seems to support Mr. Salant. I've never seen any color TV demonstrations yet without clouds of technicians hanging around to adjust the sets and even the technicians have lots of trouble.

An NBC vice president, one of the few people on earth who has a color television set in his home, was showing it off to a young lady one day. The picture came in solid green. "Well, anyhow, I've seen green television," said the young lady cheerfully. "How many other people can make that statement?"

Color TV under laboratory conditions — which is to say with platoons of engineers on hand — is pretty wonderful. NBC recently put on a daily 15 minute show from the Colonial Theater in New York to the Center Theater where the advertiser could see how luscious his products looked in color. If you'd dropped in, you'd have seen a close-up of steaming Campbell's pork and beans in an earthenware bowl — all its rich wonderful locked-in goodness in four colors. Or you might have seen a cute trick named Marie McNamara showing off her Drene shampooed hair which looked mighty pretty, too.

Miss McNamara is a sort of guinea pig over at NBC. For two and a half years, she has sat under the blinding (though not hot) lights while makeup men tried every known makeup on her. Sometimes they'd divide her face down the middle, doing one side one way, one another. ("I thought they were going to use me for 'before' and 'after' ads," she said.) Sometimes, her arms were covered with patches of various colors.

All over town, from CBS to Dumont, makeup people are happily splashing makeup on the human epidermis and arriving at wildly conflicting conclusions. Salant will tell you that color TV needs less makeup than black and white. Street makeup looks awful, he says. But Bill Baird, the puppeteer who has been doing a puppet show in color for weeks, says he tried eight different kinds of makeup, finally arrived at a heavy makeup of greasepaint with pancake over it which would certainly look strange on the street.

And at the NBC demonstrations, Ed Herlihy and Nelson Case who narrated the show, were discovered wandering around, their faces splashed with what Mr. Herlihy described as "corpse gray," an apt description. It would certainly cause a flutter on the street. The trouble isn't that color TV is not true — actually, it's truer than Technicolor—but that it's too true. People's faces and especially their ears, are a lot redder than we think and the color cameras bring out something we tend not to notice in real life.

For years to come, color TV broadcasters are going to have to argue with people not because of what they see but what they think they see. Weaver wearily predicts that the ad agency man of tomorrow will make a career of saying: "The red wasn't quite right last

HOW WOULD YOU FEEL?

SUPPOSE you held the ace and king of the opponents' trump suit, and didn't take even one trick with them? How would you feel? And suppose the reason was not something you did, but something done by your partner? Could you conceive adequate thoughts to describe your attitude of the moment toward him? In fact, right now, can you imagine anything he might do, which would prevent you from taking any trick with those cards?

	♠ 10 9 8 7 6 ♥ 7 ♦ None ♣ A K J 9 4 3 2
♠ 3 ♥ K Q 9 8 ♦ K Q 10 6 4 3 ♣ 10 6	N W E S	♠ A K 4 ♥ A 10 5 2 ♦ A J 9 7 ♣ 8 5

(Dealer: West. Neither side vulnerable.)

West	North	East	South
1 ♦	Dbl.	Pass	1 ♠
Pass	4 ♠	Dbl.	Pass
Pass	Rdbl.

Such freakish bidding usually comes only late at night, when there has been a tough session of rubber bridge, with refreshments served as the game proceeded. Take a look at that bidding and you will notice that in the first round the only player who passed was the one with the strongest hand of the deal, East. By the time his next turn came, his opponents had reached a 4-Spade contract, and he decided it would be better to double than bid the easily-made 5-Diamonds.

With the existing freakish distribution, there was no chance at all to defeat the spade game, as nothing could possibly be taken by the defenders except two tricks in trumps and one in hearts. But how in the world could the declarer get all thirteen tricks?

West led the diamond K, which was ruffed in the dummy. A spade was brought forth, East putting on the K and then laying down the A. You would think he would then have two tricks. But he didn't. West, with his mind—or what stands in lieu thereof—not on his business, had his spade 3 mixed in with his two clubs and didn't see it at first. He therefore discarded a diamond on the first trump trick. Then, when the A was laid down by his partner, he had discovered the spade 3 and played it. That established the revoke, making the cost of it two tricks—the one on which the diamond was discarded and the next one. Now East, totally upset, led his spade 4 instead of making the obvious return of a heart. Consequently South, by running clubs and aided by the revoke, got all thirteen tricks.

night." And color TV may make some radical adjustments in the kind of girls we'll get to look at. Some bleached blondes look awful in it.

Much of what finally comes out on the screen is the result of what the technicians adjusting the set do to it — and ultimately you'll be your own technician and have to fiddle with your own knobs. You can wreak a lot of havoc. A couple of years ago NBC was running a series of color tests in Washington, showing among other things a bowl of fruit. One day, just for the hell of it, those on the transmitting end threw a bunch of green bananas in the bowl.

Technicians on the monitoring sets labored for half a day to get the bananas to turn the right color. Finally, the set technicians called up and announced triumphantly: "Well, I got your yellow bananas—but your apples are blue."

MORTGAGE SALE OF VALUABLE REAL ESTATE SITUATE IN LONACONING, MARYLAND

Under and by virtue of the power of sale contained in a certain mortgage executed by Emerson Hanlin and Stella Hanlin, his wife, dated April 1, 1949, and recorded in Liber No. 223, folio 358, one of the Mortgage Records of Allegany County, Maryland, and an order of the Orphans Court for Allegany County, Maryland, default having occurred under the terms and provisions of said mortgage, we the undersigned Executors of the Last Will and Testament of John H. Miller, late of Allegany County, Maryland, deceased, do hereby give notice that on

at the hour of 11:00 A. M.,

in front of the Lonaconing Branch of The Liberty Trust Company, in Lonaconing, Maryland, we will offer for sale at public auction, all those certain lots or parcels of land situate and lying in said Town of Lonaconing, in Allegany County, Maryland, designated on a plat filed with the papers and proceedings in No. 4290 Equity, in the Circuit Court for Allegany County, as Lots Nos. 4 and 5 and according to a certificate of courses and distances thereof made by James C. Schriver, surveyor, and recorded in Liber J.W.Y. No. 101, folio 36, one of the Land Records of Allegany County, Maryland, more particularly described as follows, to-wit:

Lot No. 4: All of that certain lot or parcel of ground beginning at a stone marked "A" and "E" standing on the West side of the Back Road, leading to Koontz Mine, it being the beginning of the first mentioned lot or parcel of land conveyed by the Georges Creek Coal and Iron Company to George T. Long, et al, by deed dated October 4, 1893, and recorded in Liber No. 74, folio 598, one of the Land Records of Allegany County; and running thence reversing the fifth line thereof as corrected for magnetic variations, South 27° 20' East, 65½ feet to an alley four feet wide; and with it, South 54¾° West, 60 feet; then North 35¼° West, 6 feet; then following the northerly side of an alley, South 54¾° West, 32½ feet to an alley eight feet wide; and with it North 38° 52' West, 53¼ feet to the division fence at or near the second line of that lot or parcel of land which was conveyed by John Perry and wife to Salem Koontz, by deed dated August 20, 1874, and recorded in Deeds Liber No. 43, folio 95, one of the Land Records, and with it North 51° 08' East, 106.3 feet to the beginning.

Lot No. 5: Also all that certain piece or parcel of land described in a deed from the Georges Creek Coal and Iron Company, to George T. Long and others, dated October 4, 1893, and recorded in Liber No. 74, folio 598, and beginning for the same at a stake standing North 56° East, 33 feet from the planted stone "A" and "E", the beginning of the first lot, and running thence North 45° West, 60¼ feet; then North 45° East, 20 feet; then South 40° East, 65 1-/3 feet; then South 19° East, 52 feet; North 35° West, 55 feet to the beginning.

The above lots are the same which were conveyed unto the said Emerson Hanlin and Stella M. Hanlin, his wife, by deed from James A. Beeman, et ux, dated June 24, 1948, and recorded in Liber No. 221, folio 103, one of the Land Records of Allegany County, Maryland.

Said lots are located on Beechwood Street in said Town of Lonaconing and are improved by a two-story frame apartment building containing twenty rooms and three baths, the first floor having one apartment of six rooms and a private bath and two three-room apartments with connecting bath, and the second floor having two four-room apartments with connecting bath. Possession will be given upon payment of the purchase price and the ratification of the sale by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland.

TERMS OF SALE: Cash.

All taxes and public charges will be pro-rated as of day of sale.

E. RAY JONES,
LEWIS R. JONES,
Oakland, Maryland.
Executors.

Prospective purchasers desiring to inspect the property may contact the Executors or Mr. James Park, Lonaconing, Md.

Late Selling After Buoyant Start Sends Market Down

NEW YORK, Oct. 26 (AP) — An early buoyant start in the stock market today gave way under late selling that led to a lower close.

The decline was not very great nor were losses wide spread. Some rather firm spots were maintained to the finish.

Prominent among these were the steels and motors. They were responsible for the early forward push.

Good earnings reports so far, given by steel companies have built up on optimistic atmosphere for the meeting tomorrow of U. S. Steel, first of the big companies to take dividend action and report on third quarter operations.

U. S. Steel gained ¼ at 38 today, and Bethleham Steel, which reports Thursday, gained ½ at 51.

The automobile section was enlivened by Chrysler and Briggs. Over the weekend Chrysler announced plans to buy Briggs Mfg. Co., maker of auto bodies and 677/8, hit a high of 683/8, and closed at 671/4 up 1/8. Briggs staged a delayed opening on a block of 6,500 shares up 63/8 at its high of 37½, and it closed at 34 up 2⅞.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks declined 40 cents at $106.40 with the industrial component off 10 cents. The railroads off 70 cents, and the utilities off 30 cents.

Baering Down ON THE NEWS

BY ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

A RIPPLE OF REFORM

We've had another of those lapel-to-lapel plebiscites where the round robin lays another egg.

Manhattan held its five-borough primaries to the Ides of November. The result of the New York mayoralty platoon will take Maine's place as a prospectus of national politics.

The Kefauver committee came through a couple of investigations ago and stirred things up like the dye vat in a hat factory.

It dropped off a passenger named Halley who is running for mayor on the reform wave. He didn't know that's the only tackle we have here.

New York has political surf bathing only. You're swept into office by one reform wave. And out by the next.

It's what we call rotation in office. Four years in a revolving door.

Regret to state that Chief Justice Warren's capers at the Penn-California game were not impartial.

He should have sat on the 50-yard line. And cheered 'em going both ways.

In addition his hair should have been parted exactly in the middle. It's the last time he will see a decision that unanimous.

Chief Justice is not a bad job after you get used to walking around in a bag.

There are nine on the equitable squad of law, order and sustained objections. Their decisions are as final as the stitch through the ancient mariner's nose.

It's going to be tough at the start for Justice Warren. He will have to decide on the current labor-capital dispute without mentioning California's climate.

After he gets over that events will proceed swimmingly in all possible directions. Here in New York we expected our own governor to land the job of orchestra leader for the nine musical chairs.

MORTGAGE SALE OF VALUABLE REAL ESTATE
SITUATE IN LONACONING, MARYLAND

Under and by virtue of the power of sale contained in a certain mortgage executed by Emerson Hanlin and Stella Hanlin, his wife, dated April 1, 1949, and recorded in Liber No. 223, folio 358, one of the Mortgage Records of Allegany County, Maryland, and an order of the Orphans Court for Allegany County, Maryland, default having occurred under the terms and provisions of said mortgage, we the undersigned Executors of the Last Will and Testament of John H. Miller, late of Allegany County, Maryland, deceased, do hereby give notice that on SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 14, 1953
at the hour of 11:00 A. M.,
in front of the Lonaconing Branch of The Liberty Trust Company, in Lonaconing, Maryland, we will offer for sale at public auction, all those certain lots or parcels of land situate and lying in said Town of Lonaconing, in Allegany County, Maryland, designated on a plat filed with the papers and proceedings in No. 4290 Equity, in the Circuit Court for Allegany County, as Lots Nos. 4 and 5 and according to a certificate of courses and distances thereof made by James C. Schriver, surveyor, and recorded in Liber J.W.Y. No. 101, folio 36, one of the Land Records of Allegany County, Maryland, more particularly described as follows, to-wit:
Lot No. 4: All of that certain lot or parcel of ground beginning at a stone marked "A" and "E" standing on the West side of the Back Road, leading to Koontz Mine, it being the beginning of the first mentioned lot or parcel of land conveyed by the Georges Creek Coal and Iron Company to George T. Long, et al, by deed dated October 4, 1893, and recorded in Liber No. 74, folio 598, one of the Land Records of Allegany County; and running thence reversing the fifth line thereof as corrected for magnetic variations, South 27° 20' East, 65½ feet to an alley four feet wide; and with it, South 54¾° West, 60 feet; then North 35¼° West, 6 feet; then following the northerly side of an alley, South 54¾° West, 32½ feet to an alley eight feet wide; and with it North 38° 52' West, 53¼ feet to the division fence at or near the second line of that lot or parcel of land which was conveyed by John Perry and wife to Salem Koontz, by deed dated August 20, 1874, and recorded in Deeds Liber No. 43, folio 95, one of the Land Records, and with it North 51° 08' East, 106.3 feet to the beginning.
Lot No. 5: Also all that certain piece or parcel of land described in a deed from the Georges Creek Coal and Iron Company, to George T. Long and others, dated October 4, 1893, and recorded in Liber No. 74, folio 598, and beginning for the same at a stake standing North 50° East, 33 feet from the planted stone "A" and "E", the beginning of the first lot, and running thence North 45° West, 60¾ feet; then North 45° East, 20 feet; then South 40° East, 65-1/3 feet; then South 19° East, 52 feet; North 35° West, 55 feet to the beginning.
The above lots are the same which were conveyed unto the said Emerson Hanlin and Stella M. Hanlin, his wife, by deed from James A. Beeman, et ux, dated June 24, 1948, and recorded in Liber No. 221, folio 103, one of the Land Records of Allegany County, Maryland.
Said lots are located on Beechwood Street in said Town of Lonaconing and are improved by a two-story frame apartment building containing twenty rooms and three baths, the first floor having one apartment of six rooms and a private bath and two three-room apartments with connecting bath, and the second floor having two four-room apartments with connecting bath. Possession will be given upon payment of the purchase price and the ratification of the sale by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland.
TERMS OF SALE: Cash.
All taxes and public charges will be pro-rated as of day of sale.

Radio And Television

night." And color TV may make some radical adjustments in the kind of girls we'll get to look at. Some bleached blondes look awful in it.

Much of what finally comes out on the screen is the result of what the technicians adjusting the set do to it — and ultimately you'll be your own technician and have to fiddle with your own knobs. You can wreak a lot of havoc. A couple of years ago NBC was running a series of color tests in Washington, showing among other things a bowl of fruit. One day, just for the hell of it, those on the transmitting end threw a bunch of green bananas in the bowl.

Technicians on the monitoring sets labored for half a day to get the bananas to turn the right color. Finally, the set technicians called up and announced triumphantly: "Well, I got your yellow bananas—but your apples are blue."

Late Selling After Buoyant Start Sends Market Down

NEW YORK, Oct. 26 (AP) — An early buoyant start in the stock market today gave way under late selling that led to a lower close.

The decline was not very great nor were losses wide spread. Some rather firm spots were maintained to the finish.

Prominent among these were the steels and motors. They were responsible for the early forward push.

Good earnings reports so far, given by steel companies have built up on optimistic atmosphere for the meeting tomorrow of U. S. Steel, first of the big companies to take dividend action and report on third quarter operations.

U. S. Steel gained ¼ at 38 today, and Bethleham Steel, which reports Thursday, gained ½ at 51.

The automobile section was enlivened by Chrysler and Briggs. Over the weekend Chrysler announced plans to buy Briggs Mfg. Co., maker of auto bodies and 67⅞, hit a high of 68⅛, and closed at 67¼ up ⅛. Briggs staged a delayed opening on a block of 6,500 shares up 6⅜ at its high of 37½, and it closed at 34 up 2⅞.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks declined 40 cents at $106.40 with the industrial component off 10 cents. The railroads off 70 cents, and the utilities off 30 cents.

Baering Down ON THE NEWS

BY ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

A RIPPLE OF REFORM

We've had another of those lapel-to-lapel plebiscites where the round robin lays another egg.

Manhattan held its five-borough primaries to the Ides of November. The result of the New York mayoralty platoon will take Maine's place as a prospectus of national politics.

The Kefauver committee came through a couple of investigations ago and stirred things up like the dye vat in a hat factory.

It dropped off a passenger named Halley who is running for mayor on the reform wave. He didn't know that's the only tackle we have here.

New York has political surf bathing only. You're swept into office by one reform wave. And out by the next.

It's what we call rotation in office. Four years in a revolving door.

He should have sat on the 50-yard line. And cheered 'em going both ways.

In addition his hair should have been parted exactly in the middle. It's the last time he will see a decision that unanimous.

Chief Justice is not a bad job after you get used to walking around in a bag.

There are nine on the equitable squad of law, order and sustained objections. Their decisions are as final as the stitch through the ancient mariner's nose.

It's going to be tough at the start for Justice Warren. He will have to decide on the current labor-capital dispute without mentioning California's climate.

After he gets over that events will proceed swimmingly in all possible directions. Here in New York we expected our own governor to land the job of orchestra leader for the nine musical chairs.

Fire Threatens Cottage Along Deep Creek Lake

Kifer Home Also Is Endangered

A Deep Creek Lake cottage and a home at Kifer were endangered by fire yesterday but District Forester William H. Johnson said that these and several other forest fires were extinguished in Western Maryland with comparatively little damage.

The cottage fire, on Harvey's Peninsula, was attributed to hot ashes which had been left smoldering after the weekend visitors left. The ashes ignited dry leaves, set a tool house afire and also extended to the cottage itself.

Pumper Helps

Forest Guards Floyd Custer and Richard Bond, equipped with a portable pumper which provided water from the lake, stopped the fire before it could damage the cottage. The blaze also burned about one-tenth acre of woodland. The cottage belongs to a Dr. Mehl of Edgewood, Pa.

At Kifer, in the eastern end of Allegany County, the home of William Jamison was threatened by a fire which burned about one acre of woods. Forest Supervisor Brook Bodkin and Forest Guard William Slider extinguished that one.

Two other small fires were reported in Johnson's four-county district. One burned about one-quarter acre near Knoxville in Frederick County and another a small fraction of an acre in Mutton Hollow, southeast of Swanton, in Garrett County.

Meanwhile West Virginia District Forester Tilden Norris at Romney last night refuted an earlier report that a weekend forest fire which had burned some 350 acres near Elk Garden in Mineral County got out of control again yesterday.

Set Backfire

Norris said that foresters who were watching the blaze to see that it did not spread set a backfire yesterday morning to clear out one unburned portion of the area. This burning, although momentarily fierce, was entirely confined within the fire line around the big blaze, the worst in the area this fall.

Over 50 men, including many Western Maryland Railway employes, battled the fire a mile and a half north of Elk Garden. It started Saturday morning along the railway right-of-way and was brought under control about 7 p. m. Sunday.

One new fire was reported yesterday in Norris' eight-county district. That was near Tabler Church in Morgan County and burned only about half an acre.

Police Deplore Beer Sales To Youths In W. Va.

Deploring the sale of intoxicants to teen-agers in Ridgeley taverns, Cumberland police yesterday said they would contact the prosecuting attorney in Mineral county about steps to curb the practice, following the arrest of six suspects in the theft of gasoline from an automobile.

Detective Lt. James E. Van said last night he will write to Vernon E. Rankin, Mineral County prosecutor, of the problem facing local authorities. A hearing yesterday was held for two of the suspects in Trial Magistrate Court here.

Taken into custody early yesterday morning were a 21-year-old discharged Army veteran and a 17-year-old companion along with four other youths ranging in years from 16 to 18. They admitted buying beer in the West Virginia community where the legal age for purchase of beer is 18.

Richard R. Davis, 317 Grand Avenue, and the 17-year-old boy were given suspended terms of six months in the Maryland House of Correction and paroles for three years on petty larceny charges after both pleaded guilty yesterday before Magistrate Donald W. Mason.

The pair was accused of taking gas valued at $1.25 from a car parked near the B&O westbound hump. Their companions were not prosecuted.

Two of the youths said they came to Cumberland from Baltimore Friday, picked up the other boys and went to Ridgeley where they bought the beer. Returning to Cumberland they decided to steal gasoline. A siphoning hose and two cans were found at the theft scene.

Lt. Van, commenting on the incident, said almost all cases where teen-agers are apprehended for being drunk in Cumberland or for petty crimes resulting from drinking, the teen-agers state they bought beer in Ridgeley.

Captain Resigns

Pictured here just after he returned from an alarm last night, Fire Captain Robert Leo Reichert of East Side Company has submitted his resignation from the Cumberland Fire Department, effective November 19, 1953. Reichert intends to move his family to Orlando, Fla., ending an 11-year career as a local fireman. He completes his duties prior to vacation October 31.

R. L. Reichert, City Fireman, Resigning From Department

BY JOHN B. KNOWLTON

Robert Leo Reichert, captain at East Side Fire Station, has submitted his resignation from the Cumberland Fire Department, effective November 19, 1953.

Reichert, in a letter to Commissioner John J. Long and Fire Chief Virgil A. Parker, resigned his post to seek employment in Florida. He will finish his duties with the local Fire Department October 31 when he will take his vacation leave.

The 33-year-old fire captain has been in charge at East Side Fire Station since September of 1951 and has been a member of the Cumberland Fire Department since October of 1942.

Began As Pipeman

He began his career as a pipeman at East Side Company after being certified as a firemen through civil service examinations in May of 1942. Following duty at East Side he became a chauffeur at East Side, later was transferred to West Side Station and finally to Central.

Following Civil Service examinations for promotions in 1951 Reichert was promoted to captain July 1, 1951 by Commissioner Long, along with V. H. Wegman and Alvey Poole. Wegman took charge of Engine Company No. 1 at Central, Poole was assigned to West Side and Reichert was put in charge at South End. Two months later Reichert was placed in charge at East Side where he since remained.

In his 11-year career as a city fireman the slender, dark-haired graduate of Fort Hill High School has attended many of the city's largest conflagrations, including the Union Street county building, Bennett Storage Company, Potomac Edison Company and others.

He has been injured at numerous times in the performance of his duties but the most serious was an ankle break when he was forced to jump from the roof of a building while fighting the Bennett Storage Company blaze in August of 1949.

High School Athlete

Reichert was a star athlete while attending Fort Hill, hurling for the baseball team, running the dashes in track and playing halfback for the football squad. He was graduated in 1939.

Married to the former Margaret Jane Callahan, he lives at 421 Franklin Street, but plans to move to Orlando, Fla., on November 15 where he will join his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leo C. Reichert, to help his father run a 10-acre orange grove at Mount Dora, about 25 miles from Orlando.

He is the father of three children, John, Robert and Linda.

Active in many civic affairs Reichert is a member of Tonkaway Tribe No. 120, Improved Order of Red Men, Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, American Legion, Cumberland Outdoor Club and other organizations.

He held the post of chief of records and secretary with the Red Men and was instrumental in aiding the Easter Lily sale sponsored by that group in 1950. He was a member of the American Legion committee which sponsored the annual Boys' Camp near Flintstone several years ago. In 1939 Reichert was employed as a life guard at Constitution Park.

While attending his father's orange grove the local fireman explained he probably will aid in volunteer fire work in Florida but will not join any of the large city companies.

See Gives Talk At Lions Meeting

Charles M. See, member of the Allegany County delegation to the General Assembly, last night spoke before the Oakland Lions Club in the William James Hotel in that community.

See gave a talk on the activities of the Maryland Workshop for the Blind and also showed a film strip. He commented on the organization of the workshop, its management and other activities. See is a field representative for the workshop.

Flood Job Blast Sets Off Fire Alarm At Brewery

A dynamite blast set off by workmen on the Wills Creek flood control job shook houses along North Mechanic Street late yesterday afternoon and threw stones into the street, but no one was hurt.

A spokesman for the E. J. Albrecht Company, contractor for the job, said no one had reported any damage as a result of the blast, which was fired at 5:30 p. m.

A fire alarm box at the nearby Cumberland Brewing Company rang in, sending Central Fire Company's pumper and aerial ladder truck to the scene. Brewery workers said no one had pulled the alarm, but firemen were unable to say whether the force of the blast may have set it off.

The contracting company said the charge of dynamite was a deep, 20-pound shot, the normal load for such a job. The heavy vibration, the company said, probably was due to the depth at which the charge was fired, and to rock formations.

Blasting is expected to be completed in about a week.

$500 Damage Suit Filed In Court

A $500 damage suit resulting from an accident on Greene Street was filed yesterday in Allegany County Circuit Court.

Stanley William Stewart, for his own use and the use of Motors Insurance Corporation, filed the suit against Irene Clara Galford and Harry Galford, both of Trenton, N. J. The declaration, filed by the firm of Cobey, Carscaden and Gilchrist, contends that the Galford woman was driving a car owned by Galford to the left of the center of Greene Street July 3, which resulted in a collision with a truck owned and operated by Stewart.

The declaration further states that the equitable plaintiff has paid Stewart $186.76 for damages to his truck.

Ridgeley Legion Board Will Meet

The executive board of Knobley Mountain Post 136, American Legion, will meet tonight at 8 o'clock at the post home in Ridgeley.

K. Albert Wolfe, post commander, will report on a meeting of northern West Virginia beer retailers which he attended recently in Keyser.

Sen. Beall Makes Munich Broadcast

Sen. J. Glenn Beall broadcast to Iron Curtain countries from Munich, Germany through facilities of the Voice of America recently while on a tour of the European continent. The Western Maryland senator firmly supports the VOA broadcasts to Red-dominated countries and told the inhabitants the present "Soviet occupation will prove temporary."

File Equity Suits

Two equity suits have been filed in Allegany County Circuit Court. The bills of complaint were titled Mildred Marie Didawick vs. Homer Daniel Didawick and Carol J. Biller vs. Joan V. Biller.

Ejectment Case Enters Second Day In Court

Town Creek Area Land In Dispute

The first civil trial in the October term of Allegany County Circuit Court is proving a long one as Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris excused the jury late yesterday afternoon until this morning after having heard from only two defense witnesses.

This dispute is an ejectment suit in which Charles H. Smith seeks to regain possession of some seven or eight acres along Town Creek east of Oldtown. Defendants in the $5,000 case are John W. Ridenbaugh and Hazel M. Ridenbaugh, his wife; Charles A. Keech and Vivian C. Keech, his wife, and Carl F. Decker.

Adverse Possession

Smith, who is represented by Attorneys Thomas N. Berry and Clarence Lippel, contends that he owns the land known as the Horse-pasture tract between Town Creek and Pack Horse Road by adverse possession for over 20 years. Portions of the land in question were sold by the Ridenbaughs to Mr. and Mrs. Keech and Decker for camp sites, witnesses said.

Attorneys for the defendants are Thomas Lohr Richards and Harold E. Naughton.

Both sides in the dispute are relying heavily on somewhat contradictory maps prepared by surveyors hired by them. Samuel T Walker surveyed for Smith, and Phillip Hartig for the Ridenbaughs.

Seven or eight other persons who had fished or hunted from leased campsites or who owned adjacent land were called upon to testify.

Hartig, first defense witness, recalled how difficult it is for a surveyor to get the correct beginning point for a survey. In his work he resurveyed the area which first was surveyed in 1783.

The surveyor said that the pine tree pointed out to him by Smith as the starting point for the area in dispute could not have been the tree referred to in the 1783 survey, 170 years ago. He submitted as evidence a boring he made on the tree which indicated the tree was not quite 80 years old.

When Hartig's qualifications as a tree expert were questioned, the defense attorneys called in District Forester William H. Johnson. Checking the growth rings on the boring, the forester said there were 80 including two false ones caused by two growing seasons in those particular years. He judged the pine tree was 78 years old.

Apparently, the case has aroused considerable interest in the Town Creek area because about 50 persons were in the court room to hear the testimony.

Labor Heads Plan Active Part In Coming Elections

Top officials of Allegany County labor organizations say they "are ready" to swing into action in the coming elections.

Tentative plans for joint political action were made at a recent meeting in Rubber Workers Hall, attended by some 60 leaders of major AFL, CIO, railroad and independent unions of this area.

Officials said machinery is being set up to call the group together quickly when the time for action comes.

Present plans call for the political activities to be directed by an Allegany County Labor Executive Committee, composed largely of the leaders who met recently to pledge labor's cooperation in the area's drive for new industry.

4-H Boys' Federation Will Meet Thursday

Joseph Brown, president of the Allegany County 4-H Boys' Federation, has called a federation meeting for 8 p. m. Thursday at the Court House.

Further plans for the annual 4-H Club Banquet, to be held November 13, will be formulated, according to Assistant County Agent Joseph M. Steger.

Teapots, Rugs And Dolls Displayed At Hobby Show

Teapots and other china, hooked rugs, crocheted dolls, ceramics and paintings are included among the wide assortment of exhibits being featured at the Cumberland and Professional Women's Club's first annual Hobby Show at the Cumberland Free Public Library.

Some 32 different Cumberland area men and women are exhibiting their hobbies in the library auditorium. The show started yesterday and will end Wednesday night. It is open from 2 until 6 p. m. and again from 7 until 9 p. m. each day.

Teapot From Saipan

Irby S. Rutherford is exhibiting about 30 of the 220 teapots from all over the world which he has collected in the past 15 years. He called special attention to one old teapot which a soldier friend had dug out of the mud on Saipan during World War II.

Among other exhibitors and their displays are a group of women from First Presbyterian Church, aprons; Louis Young, Cumberland made glass; Mrs. Gerald Everstine, needlepoint pictures; Louis Zihlman, china; Mary A. Nicht and Theresa Nicht, hooked rugs; Theodore A. Foote, ceramics; E. J. Hopkins; Mrs. P. Gallen, rugs; Mrs. Fay Stillwagon, chairs.

Other exhibitors are Lois McCullough, insect collection; Mrs. Willis Smith, 133 salt and pepper sets; Mrs. Frank Werner, nature prints; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Smith, figurines; Mrs. Sylvia R. Schwab, baby set and shawl; Mrs. Betty Chaney, ceramics; Miss Lillian Compton, needlepoint; Mrs. Albert Rogers, stole; Mrs. Ellen McKenzie, coral displays; Mrs. Roy W. Eves, aprons; Mrs. Karl G. Perry, quilt and letter opener collection from all over the world; Mrs. Iva Nicely, crocheted dolls; Victor Fier, paintings, and Mrs. Mae Minghini, doll collection

Pewter Ware

Also, Miss Millie Gottlieb, 18th century pewter ware; Mrs. G. Tucker, Andes goat rug; Mrs. Frank Heiskell, afghan, bed spread and tablecloth; Miss M. G. Brown, afghan; Mrs. Lewis C. Millholland, hooked rugs, and Mrs. Aden Everstine, Haviland china.

Prizes will be awarded Wednesday night to the three most popular choices as selected by the patrons.

Pier Construction In Center Of Potomac River Underway

Flood control workmen yesterday pumped water out of a spot in the middle of the Potomac River so they can begin building the center support of a new interstate bridge between Cumberland and Ridgeley.

Pumping operations took place inside the second-stage coffer dam for the project, which was completed Saturday. The coffer dam is a circular arrangement to hold the river water out while the pier is being built.

Yesterday's work laid bare the river bottom so excavation can start late this week. Workmen first will have to remove some two feet of silt from the river bed. Then they will have to dig through four to six feet of mixed rock and gravel, and as much as eight feet of solid rock before they can begin pouring concrete.

The pier will form the center support of the new bridge, and will be a part of the industrial dam which is being constructed by the E. J. Albrecht Company of Chicago in the current phase of the flood control project.

Paving of the bottom and sides of Wills Creek phase is about two-thirds complete, and workmen dug their way into the last 1,300 feet of the job this week.

The paving job, also under contract to Albrecht, will provide the once-choked creek with a bottom as smooth as a new concrete highway, speeding up the flow of water into the Potomac and thereby lessening the danger of sudden overflows along the creek after heavy rains.

It is scheduled for completion next April, and the industrial dam project is to be finished a year from now.

McKeldin Gives "Accounting" Of Stewardship

BALTIMORE, Oct. 26 (AP) — Gov. McKeldin gave an "accounting" of his stewardship to a convention of Republican women here today and opened his remarks with an accounting of his own time spent in and out of the state.

"I average one day a week out of the state," McKeldin told the 33rd annual convention of the Maryland Federation of Republican Women, "and I work harder on Saturdays and Sundays than on any other days of the week."

He said he has spent the last three Sundays attending various religious gatherings and estimated he worked about 15½ hours on one of those Sundays.

On the basis of this record, the governor said, he allowed himself "one day off a week," mentioning a speech in Cleveland last week and an address in New York the week before.

He added that he has accepted an invitation to speak on the battlefield at Gettysburg, Nov. 19, the anniversary of Lincoln's Gettysburg address.

The Governor also spoke on his general record as one of the "Republican governors elected in Maryland every 25 years."

He listed tax cuts, budget reforms, the long-range highway construction program, changes in the parole setup and teachers' pay revisions and said Republicans in the state can be proud of the record.

Airline Pilot Gets Company's First Award

Captain Rintoul, the first pilot employed by the company, joined Allegheny in October 1938 and flew most of the experimental runs during the development of an aircraft attachment designed to deliver and pick-up cargo while in flight.

In May 1939 Rintoul flew the first scheduled air pick-up flight for Allegheny when the company inaugurated airmail services to 55 cities and towns in the Middle Atlantic Area.

When the air pick-up device was adapted to military uses such as the launching of gliders and personnel rescue, Captain Rintoul was commissioned as Captain in the United States Army Air Force and assisted in the experiments later employed in the famous glider pick-up rescue of a crew marooned during a forced landing in the inaccessable mountains of North Borneo, and the pick-up glider evacuation of wounded from the Remagen Beachhead.

Most dramatic of his exploits was the pick-up of a human being by an airplane in full flight first accomplished September 5, 1943 at Wright Field, Dayton, Ohio.

Captain Rintoul has flown 14,000 hours with Allegheny Airlines for a total of over 2,000,000 miles.

At the time of the Rintoul presentation, a 15-year pin was also presented to Victor Yesulaites of the Maintenance Department whose anniversary with the company is in December. Yesulaites assisted in the launching of first non-stop New York-Lithvania flight of Darius and Girenas in 1933 and, with Rintoul, played an important part in the development of air pick-up devices.

Leslie O. Barnes, president of Allegheny, made the presentations.

Pat Creegan Finds It's A Small World

It is certainly a small world.

Recently Pfc. Patrick A. Creegan, well-known local baseball pitcher, now with the U. S. Army in Korea, was about to attend church services near Pusan. The chaplain, Rev. Michael Rusnok, of Baltimore, asked for a volunteer to serve Mass.

Creegan, who had served on the altar at St. Patrick's Catholic Church, while attending the parish school, volunteered. After Mass Father Rusnok struck up a conversation with Creegan and asked him where his hometown was located.

He remarked that he was from Cumberland, Md. The chaplain asked him if he knew Rev. John U. Lyness and Creegan said he did. Father Rusnok added he had been a classmate of Father Lyness, who is assistant pastor at St. Patrick's. They graduated from St. Charles College, Catonsville and were ordained at the Cathedral in Baltimore.

Creegan, who is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick J. Creegan, 521 Patterson Avenue, is a member of the 17th Infantry Regiment of the 7th Infantry Division and saw action prior to the cease-fire in Korea. He graduated from LaSalle High School in 1948 and from West Virginia University in 1952 where he pitched on the college baseball team. Before going to the Army he had pitched with Frostburg in the Bi-State League.

Pat's father said the left hander is keeping in shape and pitched for the "Bayonets," a regimental baseball team this past season.

Gurley Garage Plans Added Parking Space

New parking facilities in downtown Cumberland will be available by the middle of November when space in the Gurley Garage on South Liberty Street is ready.

Woody Gurley, owner of the garage, has decided to abandon the ten bowling alleys on the second floor of his establishment and use the area for parking cars.

The 60 by 150 foot space available after equipment is removed from the building will accommodate about 150 cars, Gurley said.

Ridgeley Lions Fete District Governor

Lion President Lawrence J. Maxson welcomed the guests who included Deputy District Governor Lester Keyes and Norman Barrick, International Counselor, of Martinsburg, W. Va. Governor Moffett spoke on "The Gratitude of Lions 'and told briefly of the Youth Center being built near Beckley, W. Va., where the Lions Clubs of West Virginia are donating a cottage. The evening concluded with dancing.

Vandal Rips Out Telephone Cable

The telephone service of a local resident was cut off last night by someone who apparently got into some pre-Halloween mischief.

Police said that Harry Naugle, of 701 Frederick Street, reported the entrance cable of his telephone was ripped from his home. He also said several flower boxes were taken from his front porch and carried up the street. An investigation is underway by city police.

Red Cross Needs Blood Donors Here

The Red Cross Bloodmobile Unit from the regional headquarters in Johnstown, Pa. will be in Cumberland Monday and Tuesday next week.

Mrs. Charles Helmrich, recruiting chairman of Allegany County Chapter Red Cross, yesterday said the unit would be at the Eagles Home, North Mechanic Street from noon to 6 p. m.

Quota for each day is 150 pints of productive blood. About 250 persons are usually scheduled each day to meet the quota, Mrs. Helmrich. Persons wishing to give a pint of their blood who have not already been scheduled are asked to contact the local Red Cross office in the Post Office building or phone 3556.

Blood is urgently needed for the thousands of wounded in military hospitals and to replenish the supply in local hospitals. In addition to these needs there must be blood plasma "in the bank" as an insurance against a national emergency, Mrs. Helmrich pointed out. "Walk-ins" are welcome on the days of the units visit here.

Guard To Get Training To Fight Fires

May Use West Va. Units In Forests

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Oct. 26 (AP) — An arrangement for possible use of National Guard units in the state's dogged fight against forest fires was worked out here today.

Starting tonight, conservation Department firefighting specialists were assigned to provide officers and non-commissioned officers in the guard with training in combating the woodland blazes.

The training was to be worked into regular drill periods for the units, Conservation Director Carl J. Johnson and Adj. Gen. Charles R. Fox said.

The plan for the training and possible use of guard personnel was set up at a conference attended by Gov. William Maland, Johnson, Fox, State Forester Hays Helmick and Asst. State Forester Lester McClung.

The conference was arranged as weather observers said that rising winds might add to the firefighting problem tonight and tomorrow. Between 8 a.m. and 3 p.m. today, 12 new fires were reported to Conservation Department headquarters.

As of 8 a.m., however, 89 fires still were burning in the West Virginia woodlands. In a 12-hour period ended at 8 a.m., an estimated 664 acres of forest were destroyed by fire.

Man Shot While Hunting Rats

Webster Bruce Long was admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital shortly after 5:30 p. m. with a woung from a .22 caliber bullet in one leg just above the kneecap.

Long told hospital attaches he and a neighbor, William Norris, were looking for a rat in Long's basement when the accident happened. Long said Norris fired, but the bullet strayed or ricocheted, striking him in the leg.

State Police Troopers Robert D. Wolford and J. F. Lewis took Long to the hospital in the State Police ambulance.

News In Brief

Ray Gene Shue, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Hollandsworth, 801 Braddock Road, is attending Duke University, Durham, N. C.

Rev. David C. Clark, former rector of Emmanuel Episcopal Church here, has accepted charge of St. James Church in Macon, Mo.

The Women of the Moose chapter will sponsor a public covered dish supper from 5 to 7 p. m. today at the Moose Home, Beall street. A games party was held last night at the home by the chapter.

The Ellerslie Volunteer Fire Company auxiliary will meet today at 8 p. m. at the Fire Hall.

Gwendoline Hillary, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Derrick S. Hillary, city, has earned scholastic honors at Wheaton College in Illinois with an average of 2.2 per semester hour.

Death of a brother caused the absence of Mrs. Lucile W. Roeder, commissioner of streets and public property, at yesterday's Mayor and City Council meeting. Services for Emerson Wilcox were held yesterday in Philadelphia.

Dunn Improves

David Dunn of Lonaconing, who sustained a skull fracture in a football accident Thursday at State Teachers College, was "much improved" last night at Miners Hospital, Frostburg, where he was admitted after the accident.

Dunn fell and struck his head on a concrete post while taking part in a physical education class at the college.

Most Taxpayers Pay Bills Before Interest Date

77½ Per Cent Of Levy Is Collected

City taxpayers took advantage of a day of grace yesterday and pushed collections of 1953 taxes to the 77½ per cent mark.

Saturday was the last day listed on tax statements for paying taxes without interest, but the deadline was extended until yesterday at midnight since the office is not open on Saturdays.

By 3:30 p. m. yesterday, collections had jumped $112,000 over the same hour on Friday, and George E. Davis, city collector, said he expected another $15,000 to come in by midnight.

If the additional payments materialize, $763,287, or 77½ per cent of the record tax levy of $984,900, will be on hand when the mail is opened this morning.

The total is slightly less on a percentage basis than at the interest deadline last year, when 85 per cent of all taxes had been collected.

City finance officials said the percentage of individual taxes is above 85 per cent already, and that the collections did not reach expectations since a number of corporation tax bills have not been sent out.

Tax bills to corporations are mailed throughout the year as amounts are certified by the State Tax Commissioner, according to Finance Commissioner William V. Keegan.

One per cent interest will be charged on all city tax bills paid between now and November 24, and one-half per cent a month after that date.

CD Officials Explain Road Network Plan

Col. Arthur L. Shreve (U. S. Army, Ret.) deputy director of the Maryland Civil Defense Agency, said today that there was some confusion on the part of the public regarding the signs now appearing on many highways in the state.

"If we have to take over some of these highways in the event of a disaster," he said, "the public will be compelled to use roads not designated as Civil Defense highways."

The signs were erected to educate the public as to what roads, "may" be closed to all but military and Civil Defense vehicles.

Civil Defense officials expect to utilize these highways to move rescue, fire, medical and other services into any devastated area.

The by-pass routes around Baltimore and Washington are expected to keep traffic (which would normally go through these cities) on the move. These by-passes are primarily for trucks carrying essential produce according to Col. Shreve.

"However, we don't plan to deny these by-pass routes to anyone," he said.

About 30 per cent of Maryland's highways have been designated as Civil Defense routes in case of an emergency.

"We want the public to learn what routes they may not be allowed to use," Col. Shreve said.

He said it cost the State about $4,000 to purchase and erect the signs.

Morals Charges Lodged Against Two Local Men

A middle-aged Mapleside man is scheduled to be questioned in the State's Attorney's office this morning in connection with a morals charge involving an 11-year-old neighborhood girl.

Officer John Henry Stitcher arrested the man Saturday afternoon after the girl's father said the man had taken his daughter for a ride to Fisher's Woods and had made improper advances.

The man was released under $500 bond pending a Juvenile Court hearing on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

In another case, a young South End man was lodged in City Jail last night after police said he had admitted to morals charges involving four young South End girls.

Detective Lt. James E. Van, who arrested the man, charged him with contributing to the delinquency of a minor. He is scheduled for a hearing today in Juvenile Court.

The Weather

Temperatures began to drop rather quickly last night following a bright, sunny day that had just a little nip in the air. The thermometer registered a high of 70 degrees and a low of 35 while at 8 p. m. last night the mercury stood at 59 degrees, according to official observers at Constitution Park. Humidity at 6 p. m. was 47 per cent. Increasing cloudiness followed by rain is predicted for today.

UNOFFICIAL DOWNTOWN TEMPERATURES

Deploring the sale of intoxicants to teen-agers in Ridgeley taverns, Cumberland police yesterday said they would contact the prosecuting attorney in Mineral county about steps to curb the practice, following the arrest of six suspects in the theft of gasoline from an automobile.

Detective Lt. James E. Van said last night he will write to Vernon E. Rankin, Mineral County prosecutor, of the problem facing local authorities. A hearing yesterday was held for two of the suspects in Trial Magistrate Court here.

Taken into custody early yesterday morning were a 21-year-old discharged Army veteran and a 17-year-old companion along with four other youths ranging in years from 16 to 18. They admitted buying beer in the West Virginia community where the legal age for purchase of beer is 18.

Richard R. Davis, 317 Grand Avenue, and the 17-year-old boy were given suspended terms of six months in the Maryland House of Correction and paroles for three years on petty larceny charges after both pleaded guilty yesterday before Magistrate Donald W. Mason.

The pair was accused of taking gas valued at $1.25 from a car parked near the B&O westbound hump. Their companions were not prosecuted.

Two of the youths said they came to Cumberland from Baltimore Friday, picked up the other boys and went to Ridgeley where they bought the beer. Returning to Cumberland they decided to steal gasoline. A siphoning hose and two cans were found at the theft scene.

Lt. Van, commenting on the incident, said almost all cases where teen-agers are apprehended for being drunk in Cumberland or for petty crimes resulting from drinking, the teen-agers state they bought beer in Ridgeley.

Captain Resigns

Pictured here just after he returned from an alarm last night, Fire Captain Robert Leo Reichert of East Side Company has submitted his resignation from the Cumberland Fire Department, effective November 19, 1953. Reichert intends to move his family to Orlando, Fla., ending an 11-year career as a local fireman. He completes his duties prior to vacation October 31.

R. L. Reichert, City Fireman, Resigning From Department

BY JOHN B. KNOWLTON

Robert Leo Reichert, captain at East Side Fire Station, has submitted his resignation from the Cumberland Fire Department, effective November 19, 1953.

Reichert, in a letter to Commissioner John J. Long and Fire Chief Virgil A. Parker, resigned his post to seek employment in Florida. He will finish his duties with the local Fire Department October 31 when he will take his vacation leave.

The 33-year-old fire captain has been in charge at East Side Fire Station since September of 1951 and has been a member of the Cumberland Fire Department since October of 1942.

Began As Pipeman

He began his career as a pipeman at East Side Company after being certified as a firemen through civil service examinations in May of 1942. Following duty at East Side he became a chauffeur at East Side, later was transferred to West Side Station and finally to Central.

Following Civil Service examinations for promotions in 1951 Reichert was promoted to captain July 1, 1951 by Commissioner Long, along with V. H. Wegman and Alvey Poole. Wegman took charge of Engine Company No. 1 at Central, Poole was assigned to West Side and Reichert was put in charge at South End. Two months later Reichert was placed in charge at East Side where he since remained.

In his 11-year career as a city fireman the slender, dark-haired graduate of Fort Hill High School has attended many of the city's largest conflagrations, including the Union Street county building, Bennett Storage Company, Potomac Edison Company and others.

He has been injured at numerous times in the performance of his duties but the most serious was an ankle break when he was forced to jump from the roof of a building while fighting the Bennett Storage Company blaze in August of 1949.

High School Athlete

Reichert was a star athlete while attending Fort Hill, hurling for the baseball team, running the dashes in track and playing halfback for the football squad. He was graduated in 1939.

Married to the former Margaret Jane Callahan, he lives at 421 Franklin Street, but plans to move to Orlando, Fla., on November 15 where he will join his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leo C. Reichert, to help his father run a 10-acre orange grove at Mount Dora, about 25 miles from Orlando.

He is the father of three children, John, Robert and Linda.

Active in many civic affairs Reichert is a member of Tonkaway Tribe No. 120, Improved Order of Red Men, Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, American Legion, Cumberland Outdoor Club and other organizations.

He held the post of chief of records and secretary with the Red Men and was instrumental in aiding the Easter Lily sale sponsored by that group in 1950. He was a member of the American Legion committee which sponsored the annual Boys' Camp near Flintstone several years ago. In 1939 Reichert was employed as a life guard at Constitution Park.

While attending his father's orange grove the local fireman explained he probably will aid in volunteer fire work in Florida but will not join any of the large city companies.

See Gives Talk At Lions Meeting

Charles M. See, member of the Allegany County delegation to the General Assembly, last night spoke before the Oakland Lions Club in the William James Hotel in that community.

See gave a talk on the activities of the Maryland Workshop for the Blind and also showed a film strip. He commented on the organization of the workshop, its management and other activities. See is a field representative for the workshop.

Flood Job Blast Sets Off Fire Alarm At Brewery

A dynamite blast set off by workmen on the Wills Creek flood control job shook houses along North Mechanic Street late yesterday afternoon and threw stones into the street, but no one was hurt.

A spokesman for the E. J. Albrecht Company, contractor for the job, said no one had reported any damage as a result of the blast, which was fired at 5:30 p. m.

A fire alarm box at the nearby Cumberland Brewing Company rang in, sending Central Fire Company's pumper and aerial ladder truck to the scene. Brewery workers said no one had pulled the alarm, but firemen were unable to say whether the force of the blast may have set it off.

The contracting company said the charge of dynamite was a deep, 20-pound shot, the normal load for such a job. The heavy vibration, the company said, probably was due to the depth at which the charge was fired, and to rock formations.

Blasting is expected to be completed in about a week.

$500 Damage Suit Filed In Court

A $500 damage suit resulting from an accident on Greene Street was filed yesterday in Allegany County Circuit Court.

Stanley William Stewart, for his own use and the use of Motors Insurance Corporation, filed the suit against Irene Clara Galford and Harry Galford, both of Trenton, N. J. The declaration, filed by the firm of Cobey, Carscaden and Gilchrist, contends that the Galford woman was driving a car owned by Galford to the left of the center of Greene Street July 3, which resulted in a collision with a truck owned and operated by Stewart.

The declaration further states that the equitable plaintiff has paid Stewart $186.76 for damages to his truck.

Ridgeley Legion Board Will Meet

The executive board of Knobley Mountain Post 136, American Legion, will meet tonight at 8 o'clock at the post home in Ridgeley.

K. Albert Wolfe, post commander, will report on a meeting of northern West Virginia beer retailers which he attended recently in Keyser.

Sen. Beall Makes Munich Broadcast

Sen. J. Glenn Beall broadcast to Iron Curtain countries from Munich, Germany through facilities of the Voice of America recently while on a tour of the European continent. The Western Maryland senator firmly supports the VOA broadcasts to Red-dominated countries and told the inhabitants the present "Soviet occupation will prove temporary."

File Equity Suits

Two equity suits have been filed in Allegany County Circuit Court. The bills of complaint were titled Mildred Marie Didawick vs. Homer Daniel Didawick and Carol J. Biller vs. Joan V. Biller.

Ejectment Case Enters Second Day In Court

Town Creek Area Land In Dispute

The first civil trial in the October term of Allegany County Circuit Court is proving a long one as Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris excused the jury late yesterday afternoon until this morning after having heard from only two defense witnesses.

This dispute is an ejectment suit in which Charles H. Smith seeks to regain possession of some seven or eight acres along Town Creek east of Oldtown. Defendants in the $5,000 case are John W. Ridenbaugh and Hazel M. Ridenbaugh, his wife; Charles A. Keech and Vivian C. Keech, his wife, and Carl F. Decker.

Adverse Possession

Smith, who is represented by Attorneys Thomas N. Berry and Clarence Lippel, contends that he owns the land known as the Horsepasture tract between Town Creek and Pack Horse Road by adverse possession for over 20 years. Portions of the land in question were sold by the Ridenbaughs to Mr. and Mrs. Keech and Decker for camp sites, witnesses said.

Attorneys for the defendants are Thomas Lohr Richards and Harold E. Naughton.

Both sides in the dispute are relying heavily on somewhat contradictory maps prepared by surveyors hired by them. Samuel T Walker surveyed for Smith, and Phillip Hartig for the Ridenbaughs.

Seven or eight other persons who had fished or hunted from leased campsites or who owned adjacent land were called upon to testify.

Hartig, first defense witness, recalled how difficult it is for a surveyor to get the correct beginning point for a survey. In his work he resurveyed the area which first was surveyed in 1783.

The surveyor said that the pine tree pointed out to him by Smith as the starting point for the area in dispute could not have been the tree referred to in the 1783 survey, 170 years ago. He submitted as evidence a boring he made on the tree which indicated the tree was not quite 80 years old.

When Hartig's qualifications as a tree expert were questioned, the defense attorneys called in District Forester William H. Johnson. Checking the growth rings on the boring, the forester said there were 80 including two false ones caused by two growing seasons in those particular years. He judged the pine tree was 78 years old.

Apparently, the case has aroused considerable interest in the Town Creek area because about 50 persons were in the court room to hear the testimony.

Labor Heads Plan Active Part In Coming Elections

Top officials of Allegany County labor organizations say they "are ready" to swing into action in the coming elections.

Tentative plans for joint political action were made at a recent meeting in Rubber Workers Hall, attended by some 60 leaders of major AFL, CIO, railroad and independent unions of this area.

Officials said machinery is being set up to call the group together quickly when the time for action comes.

Present plans call for the political activities to be directed by an Allegany County Labor Executive Committee, composed largely of the leaders who met recently to pledge labor's cooperation in the area's drive for new industry.

4-H Boys' Federation Will Meet Thursday

Joseph Brown, president of the Allegany County 4-H Boys' Federation, has called a federation meeting for 8 p. m. Thursday at the Court House.

Further plans for the annual 4-H Club Banquet, to be held November 13, will be formulated, according to Assistant County Agent Joseph M. Steger.

Pier Construction In Center Of Potomac River Underway

Flood control workmen yesterday pumped water out of a spot in the middle of the Potomac River so they can begin building the center support of a new interstate bridge between Cumberland and Ridgeley.

Pumping operations took place inside the second-stage coffer dam for the project, which was completed Saturday. The coffer dam is a circular arrangement to hold the river water out while the pier is being built.

Yesterday's work laid bare the river bottom so excavation can start late this week. Workmen first will have to remove some two feet of silt from the river bed. Then they will have to dig through four to six feet of mixed rock and gravel, and as much as eight feet of solid rock before they can begin pouring concrete.

The pier will form the center support of the new bridge, and will be a part of the industrial dam which is being constructed by the E. J. Albrecht Company of Chicago in the current phase of the flood control project.

Paving of the bottom and sides of Wills Creek phase is about two-thirds complete, and workmen dug their way into the last 1,300 feet of the job this week.

The paving job, also under contract to Albrecht, will provide the once-choked creek with a bottom as smooth as a new concrete highway, speeding up the flow of water into the Potomac and thereby lessening the danger of sudden overflows along the creek after heavy rains.

It is scheduled for completion next April, and the industrial dam project is to be finished a year from now.

McKeldin Gives "Accounting" Of Stewardship

BALTIMORE, Oct. 26 (AP) — Gov. McKeldin gave an "accounting" of his stewardship to a convention of Republican women here today and opened his remarks with an accounting of his own time spent in and out of the state.

"I average one day a week out of the state," McKeldin told the 33rd annual convention of the Maryland Federation of Republican Women, "and I work harder on Saturdays and Sundays than on any other days of the week."

He said he has spent the last three Sundays attending various religious gatherings and estimated he worked about 15½ hours on one of those Sundays.

On the basis of this record, the governor said, he allowed himself "one day off a week," mentioning a speech in Cleveland last week and an address in New York the week before.

He added that he has accepted an invitation to speak on the battlefield at Gettysburg, Nov. 19, the anniversary of Lincoln's Gettysburg address.

The Governor also spoke on his general record as one of the "Republican governors elected in Maryland every 25 years."

He listed tax cuts, budget reforms, the long-range highway construction program, changes in the parole setup and teachers' pay revisions and said Republicans in the state can be proud of the record.

Airline Pilot Gets Company's First Award

Allegheny Airlines made its first presentation of the company's 15-year service pin to veteran pilot Captain Norman A. Rintoul during a meeting held in Washington.

Captain Rintoul, the first pilot employed by the company, joined Allegheny in October 1938 and flew most of the experimental runs during the development of an aircraft attachment designed to deliver and pick-up cargo while in flight.

In May 1939 Rintoul flew the first scheduled air pick-up flight for Allegheny when the company inaugurated airmail services to 55 cities and towns in the Middle Atlantic Area.

When the air pick-up device was adapted to military uses such as the launching of gliders and personnel rescue, Captain Rintoul was commissioned as Captain in the United States Army Air Force and assisted in the experiments later employed in the famous glider pick-up rescue of a crew marooned during a forced landing in the inaccessable mountains of North Borneo, and the pick-up glider evacuation of wounded from the Remagen Beachhead.

Most dramatic of his exploits was the pick-up of a human being by an airplane in full flight first accomplished September 5, 1943 at Wright Field, Dayton, Ohio.

Captain Rintoul has flown 14,000 hours with Allegheny Airlines for a total of over 2,000,000 miles.

At the time of the Rintoul presentation, a 15-year pin was also presented to Victor Yesulaites of the Maintenance Department whose anniversary with the company is in December. Yesulaites assisted in the launching of first non-stop New York-Lithvania flight of Darius and Girenas in 1933 and, with Rintoul, played an important part in the development of air pick-up devices.

Leslie O. Barnes, president of Allegheny, made the presentations.

Teapots, Rugs And Dolls Displayed At Hobby Show

Teapots and other china, hooked rugs, crocheted dolls, ceramics and paintings are included among the wide assortment of exhibits being featured at the Cumberland and Professional Women's Club's first annual Hobby Show at the Cumberland Free Public Library.

Some 32 different Cumberland area men and women are exhibiting their hobbies in the library auditorium. The show started yesterday and will end Wednesday night. It is open from 2 until 6 p. m. and again from 7 until 9 p. m. each day.

Teapot From Saipan

Irby S. Rutherford is exhibiting about 30 of the 220 teapots from all over the world which he has collected in the past 15 years. He called special attention to one old teapot which a soldier friend had dug out of the mud on Saipan during World War II.

Among other exhibitors and their displays are a group of women from First Presbyterian Church, aprons; Louis Young, Cumberland made glass; Mrs. Gerald Everstine, needlepoint pictures; Louis Zihlman, china; Mary A. Nicht and Theresa Nicht, hooked rugs; Theodore A. Foote, ceramics; E. J. Hopkins; Mrs. P. Gallen, rugs; Mrs. Fay Stillwagon, chairs.

Other exhibitors are Lois McCullough, insect collection; Mrs. Willis Smith, 133 salt and pepper sets; Mrs. Frank Werner, nature prints; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Smith, figurines; Mrs. Sylvia R. Schwab, baby set and shawl; Mrs. Betty Chaney, ceramics; Miss Lillian Compton, needlepoint; Mrs. Albert Rogers, stole; Mrs. Ellen McKenzie, coral displays; Mrs. Roy W. Eves, aprons; Mrs. Karl G. Perry, quilt and letter opener collection from all over the world; Mrs. Iva Nicely, crocheted dolls; Victor Fier, paintings, and Mrs. Mae Minghini, doll collection

Also, Miss Millie Gottlieb, 18th century pewter ware; Mrs. G. Tucker, Andes goat rug; Mrs. Frank Heiskell, afghan, bed spread and tablecloth; Miss M. G. Brown, afghan; Mrs. Lewis C. Millholland, hooked rugs, and Mrs. Aden Everstine, Haviland china.

Prizes will be awarded Wednesday night to the three most popular choices as selected by the patrons.

Pat Creegan Finds It's A Small World

It is certainly a small world.

Recently Pfc. Patrick A. Creegan, well-known local baseball pitcher, now with the U. S. Army in Korea, was about to attend church services near Pusan. The chaplain, Rev. Michael Rusnok, of Baltimore, asked for a volunteer to serve Mass.

Creegan, who had served on the altar at St. Patrick's Catholic Church, while attending the parish school, volunteered. After Mass Father Rusnok struck up a conversation with Creegan and asked him where his hometown was located.

He remarked that he was from Cumberland, Md. The chaplain asked him if he knew Rev. John U. Lyness and Creegan said he did. Father Rusnok added he had been a classmate of Father Lyness, who is assistant pastor at St. Patrick's. They graduated from St. Charles College, Catonsville and were ordained at the Cathedral in Baltimore.

Creegan, who is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick J. Creegan, 521 Patterson Avenue, is a member of the 17th Infantry Regiment of the 7th Infantry Division and saw action prior to the cease-fire in Korea. He graduated from LaSalle High School in 1948 and from West Virginia University in 1952 where he pitched on the college baseball team. Before going to the Army he had pitched with Frostburg in the Bi-State League.

Pat's father said the left hander is keeping in shape and pitched for the "Bayonets," a regimental baseball team this past season.

Gurley Garage Plans Added Parking Space

New parking facilities in downtown Cumberland will be available by the middle of November when space in the Gurley Garage on South Liberty Street is ready.

Woody Gurley, owner of the garage, has decided to abandon the ten bowling alleys on the second floor of his establishment and use the area for parking cars.

The bowling alleys were placed in operation in 1945 by the former owners of the building and Gurley continued the business.

The 60 by 150 foot space available after equipment is removed from the building will accommodate about 150 cars, Gurley said.

Ridgeley Lions Fete District Governor

Lion President Lawrence J. Maxson welcomed the guests who included Deputy District Governor Lester Keyes and Norman Barrick, International Counselor, of Martinsburg, W. Va. Governor Moffett spoke on "The Gratitude of Lions 'and told briefly of the Youth Center being built near Beckley, W. Va., where the Lions Clubs of West Virginia are donating a cottage. The evening concluded with dancing.

Vandal Rips Out Telephone Cable

The telephone service of a local resident was cut off last night by someone who apparently got into some pre-Halloween mischief.

Police said that Harry Naugle, of 701 Frederick Street, reported the entrance cable of his telephone was ripped from his home. He also said several flower boxes were taken from his front porch and carried up the street. An investigation is underway by city police.

Red Cross Needs Blood Donors Here

The Red Cross Bloodmobile Unit from the regional headquarters in Johnstown, Pa. will be in Cumberland Monday and Tuesday next week.

Mrs. Charles Helmrich, recruiting chairman of Allegany County Chapter Red Cross, yesterday said the unit would be at the Eagles Home, North Mechanic Street from noon to 6 p. m.

Quota for each day is 150 pints of productive blood. About 250 persons are usually scheduled each day to meet the quota, Mrs. Helmrich. Persons wishing to give a pint of their blood who have not already been scheduled are asked to contact the local Red Cross office in the Post Office building or phone 3556.

Blood is urgently needed for the thousands of wounded in military hospitals and to replenish the supply in local hospitals. In addition to these needs there must be blood plasma "in the bank" as an insurance against a national emergency, Mrs. Helmrich pointed out. "Walk-ins" are welcome on the days of the units visit here.

Guard To Get Training To Fight Fires

May Use West Va. Units In Forests

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Oct. 26 (AP) — An arrangement for possible use of National Guard units in the state's dogged fight against forest fires was worked out here today.

Starting tonight, conservation Department firefighting specialists were assigned to provide officers and non-commissioned officers in the guard with training in combating the woodland blazes.

The training was to be worked into regular drill periods for the units, Conservation Director Carl J. Johnson and Adj. Gen. Charles R. Fox said.

The plan for the training and possible use of guard personnel was set up at a conference attended by Gov. William Maland, Johnson, Fox, State Forester Hays Helmick and Asst. State Forester Lester McClung.

The conference was arranged as weather observers said that rising winds might add to the firefighting problem tonight and tomorrow. Between 8 a.m. and 3 p.m. today, 12 new fires were reported to Conservation Department headquarters.

As of 8 a.m., however, 89 fires still were burning in the West Virginia woodlands. In a 12-hour period ended at 8 a.m., an estimated 664 acres of forest were destroyed by fire.

Man Shot While Hunting Rats

A 29-year-old Braddock Farms man was accidentally shot in the leg yesterday afternoon while hunting rats in his basement.

Webster Bruce Long was admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital shortly after 5:30 p. m. with a woung from a .22 caliber bullet in one leg just above the kneecap.

Long told hospital attaches he and a neighbor, William Norris, were looking for a rat in Long's basement when the accident happened. Long said Norris fired, but the bullet strayed or ricocheted, striking him in the leg.

State Police Troopers Robert D. Wolford and J. F. Lewis took Long to the hospital in the State Police ambulance.

News In Brief

Ray Gene Shue, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Hollandsworth, 801 Braddock Road, is attending Duke University, Durham, N. C.

Rev. David C. Clark, former rector of Emmanuel Episcopal Church here, has accepted charge of St. James Church in Macon, Mo.

The Women of the Moose chapter will sponsor a public covered dish supper from 5 to 7 p. m. today at the Moose Home, Beall street. A games party was held last night at the home by the chapter.

The Ellerslie Volunteer Fire Company auxiliary will meet today at 8 p. m. at the Fire Hall.

Gwendoline Hillary, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Derrick S. Hillary, city, has earned scholastic honors at Wheaton College in Illinois with an average of 2.2 per semester hour.

Death of a brother caused the absence of Mrs. Lucile W. Roeder, commissioner of streets and public property, at yesterday's Mayor and City Council meeting. Services for Emerson Wilcox were held yesterday in Philadelphia.

Dunn Improves

David Dunn of Lonaconing, who sustained a skull fracture in a football accident Thursday at State Teachers College, was "much improved" last night at Miners Hospital, Frostburg, where he was admitted after the accident.

Dunn fell and struck his head on a concrete post while taking part in a physical education class at the college.

Most Taxpayers Pay Bills Before Interest Date

77½ Per Cent Of Levy Is Collected

City taxpayers took advantage of a day of grace yesterday and pushed collections of 1953 taxes to the 77½ per cent mark.

Saturday was the last day listed on tax statements for paying taxes without interest, but the deadline was extended until yesterday at midnight since the office is not open on Saturdays.

By 3:30 p. m. yesterday, collections had jumped $112,000 over the same hour on Friday, and George E. Davis, city collector, said he expected another $15,000 to come in by midnight.

If the additional payments materialize, $763,287, or 77½ per cent of the record tax levy of $984,900, will be on hand when the mail is opened this morning.

The total is slightly less on a percentage basis than at the interest deadline last year, when 85 per cent of all taxes had been collected.

City finance officials said the percentage of individual taxes is above 85 per cent already, and that the collections did not reach expectations since a number of corporation tax bills have not been sent out.

Tax bills to corporations are mailed throughout the year as amounts are certified by the State Tax Commissioner, according to Finance Commissioner William V. Keegan.

One per cent interest will be charged on all city tax bills paid between now and November 24, and one-half per cent a month after that date.

CD Officials Explain Road Network Plan

Col. Arthur L. Shreve (U. S. Army, Ret.) deputy director of the Maryland Civil Defense Agency, said today that there was some confusion on the part of the public regarding the signs now appearing on many highways in the state.

"If we have to take over some of these highways in the event of a disaster," he said, "the public will be compelled to use roads not designated as Civil Defense highways."

The signs were erected to educate the public as to what roads, "may" be closed to all but military and Civil Defense vehicles.

Civil Defense officials expect to utilize these highways to move rescue, fire, medical and other services into any devastated area.

The by-pass routes around Baltimore and Washington are expected to keep traffic (which would normally go through these cities) on the move. These by-passes are primarily for trucks carrying essential produce according to Col. Shreve.

"However, we don't plan to deny these by-pass routes to anyone," he said.

About 30 per cent of Maryland's highways have been designated as Civil Defense routes in case of an emergency.

"We want the public to learn what routes they may not be allowed to use," Col. Shreve said.

He said it cost the State about $4,000 to purchase and erect the signs.

Morals Charges Lodged Against Two Local Men

A middle-aged Mapleside man is scheduled to be questioned in the State's Attorney's office this morning in connection with a morals charge involving an 11-year-old neighborhood girl.

Officer John Henry Stitcher arrested the man Saturday afternoon after the girl's father said the man had taken his daughter for a ride to Fisher's Woods and had made improper advances.

The man was released under $500 bond pending a Juvenile Court hearing on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

In another case, a young South End man was lodged in City Jail last night after police said he had admitted to morals charges involving four young South End girls.

Detective Lt. James E. Van, who arrested the man, charged him with contributing to the delinquency of a minor. He is scheduled for a hearing today in Juvenile Court.

The Weather

Temperatures began to drop rather quickly last night following a bright, sunny day that had just a little nip in the air. The thermometer registered a high of 70 degrees and a low of 35 while at 8 p. m. last night the mercury stood at 59 degrees, according to official observers at Constitution Park. Humidity at 6 p. m. was 47 per cent. Increasing cloudiness followed by rain is predicted for today.
